CHAMBER TALK URGES FOREIGN MARKET STUDY

Knowledge of Economic Needs of Europe Is Held Essential.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS OFFICIAL IS SPEAKER

18th Annual Meeting of U. S. Commerce Body Is Opened.

ENGLAND IS CALLED NEW BUFFER STATE

World Bank Is Defended by Speaker Who Tells of Its Functions.

What American business men need, above all, if this country is to continue to prosper, is a better understanding of Eurdpean economic conditions, Lucius R. Eastman, American member of the economic committee of the League of Nations, declared last night at the tenth annual dinner of the American committee of the International Chamber of Commerce at the Mayflower Hotel. The dinner was the high light of the opening day's program of the eighteenth annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"I am very glad the United States is not i nthe League of Nations," Md. Eastman asid, while explaining that when the league was first formed he was a strong advocate of America's entry. And then he added: "If the United States had joined, the league would not stil lbe in existence; we would have wrecked it with our American habit of demanding quick results."

Mr. Eastman was the first speaker at the dinen r.He was folowed by Melvin A. Traylor, Chicago banker, who is the American member of the organization committee for the Bank for International Settlements under the Young plan. Owen D. Young introduced Mr. Traynor, while Silas H. Strawn, distinguished lawyer and vice president of the International Chamber of Commerce, who acted as toastmaster, introduced Mr. Eastman and Mr. Young.

"England is going to be the buffer between the United States and Europe in future economic clashes," Mr. Eastman declared after explaining some of the workings of the league's economic acommittee. "She must, of course, keep on good terms with Europe and she's sure to remain friendly to the nited States."

The difference in business methods, percentages and points of view in this country and continental and British nations was dwelt on by Mr. Eastman. America is more flexible, he said, and is accustomed to much higher profits and an abundance of resources.

Contrary to popular belief, Europeans are "less critical of our national character than we are ourselves," he stated.

World Bank Is Praised.

A staunch defense of the international bank was put forward by Mr. Traylor, following a lengthy eulogy of his character and public service by Mr. Young.

The bank is "not a financial octopus," he said, but rather "a relatively small bank created to perform a specific function"—the correction for creditor governments of German reparations payments.

"Except for the problems involved in the collection and distribution of reparation," he explained, "there would not be at this time an international bank. It is in no sense a reflection of the desire of international bankers or political intrigues to involve the world, and especially the United States, in some kind of a mysterious financial oligarchy."

Replying to critics of the bank who, he said, have "alleged that

Moon's Shadow Falls Over Portion of U. S.

Phenomenon Witnessed By Many Thousands in Northwest.

San Francisco, April 28 (A.P.).—The rare phenomenon of a total eclipse of the sun was witnessed over a narrow path across the Northwestern United States today and in addition to being a spectacle of much interest may have brought to astronomers new information regarding our chief source of heat, light and energy.

As a spectacle the eclipse brought many thousands of persons in northern California, Nevada, Idaho and Montana out into the open with smoked glasses to witness the sun's occlusion by the moon. The path of totality was both narrow and relatively short. Starting at a point in the Pacific Ocean west of San Francisco about 9:36 a. m. (P. S. T.), the moon's shadow moved northeastward at a rate of 1,200 miles an hour, entering Nevada at Honey Lake, Calif., and passing onward into Idaho and Montana, where it left the earth.

The path of totality was about 3,000 feet wide. Each direction from that path the percentage of totality diminished until 300 or 400 miles away there was little to see. The darkness occasioned by the eclipse was of an eerie sort, like that in a graveyard at twilight. Not only darkness but a coolness resulted that brought the mercury down perceptibly.

There was also a hush that may have been partly imaginary. In San Francisco, the largest city near the center of totality, where the sun was 99 per cent obscured, lights were necessary indoors.

As to the scientific aspects of the eclipse, reports from Camptonville and

WASHINGTON FAMILY GRAVES ARE OPENED

Wakefield Association Puts 30 Bodies in Rebuilt Tomb on Estate.

VAULT SEALED AT ONCE

Close by the spot on which George Washington was born, on the Wakefield estate along the lower Potomac River, the remains of more than 30 members of the Washington fa were reinterred yesterday in a reconstructed vault in impressive services by the Wakefield National Memorial Association.

With the removal from the graves of these venerated dead, belonging to four generations antedating the First President, another major step was taken in the restoration of this historic spot, now taken over by the Federal Government, looking to its preservation as a National monument or park.

The reinterment was conducted with services conducted by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal Bishop of Washington, assisted by the Rev. Floyd Cartwright, of St. Paul's Church, King George, Va.

The bodies were removed from several scattered burial plots and from the old family cemetery, which recently was incorporated in the prop-

DENTAL THIEVES GET $3,000 IN GOLD HAUL

14 Offices in Northwest Section Are Plundered Over Week-End.

FORCED ENTRY IS GAINED

Thieves made off with more than $3,000 worth of dental gold after a raid on offices of fourteen dentists in the northwest section sometime between Saturday and yesterday.

Thieves gained entrance to the apartment house at 1835 I street northwest and stole dental gold from the following offices: Dr. Lester M. Lucas, Dr. William M. Sweet, Dr. Carl L. Mess, Dr. Charles D. Cole, Dr. Steven C. Hopkins, Dr. Charles W. Rodium, Dr. Lacey M. Payfair, Dr. Arthur L. Harvin and Dr. Otto Wendt.

The other offices were located in the Kresge Building. The offices looted were conducted by Dr. Frank C. Brightwell and Dr. Percy M. Merton.

The thieves also raided apartments at 1129 Vermont avenue. The apartments were conducted by Dr. J. H. Rielly, Dr. C. W. Camalier, and Dr. C. A. Baker.

Detectives Sergeants Curtis Trommel and James E. Kane who investigated the robberies discovered that entrance had been made by jimmying doors.

Papers May Be Denied War Nurse, Loath to Bear Arms

Federal Judge Reserves Decision on Citizenship Request After Minister's Daughter Persists in Refusal to Take Oath to Defend America.

New York, April 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Her conviction that war is wrong, a conviction which took root in the nine months she acted as war nurse in France and has been growing in the years since then, may prevent Miss Marie Averill Bland, Canadian-born daughter of an English clergyman, from becoming an American citizen.

The case of Miss Bland, which had been reported unfavorably by naturalization examiners because she told them she would not take the oath to bear arms in defense of the United States, came up before Federal Judge Bondy today, and the unassuming former war nurse reiterated in court her refusal to bear arms.

She is 47, and has lived in New York since 1914 except for the nine months she was a nurse at Brest, caring for shell-shocked soldiers, Americans among these. Her father is the Rev. Edward Bland, of Lincolnshire, England.

"Is there any circumstance under which you would take up arms for your country" Judge Bondy asked her.

"None," she replied.

"If some one threatened to kill you, would you let him"

"Certainly."

A remark by Judge Bondy that this "parallels the Rosika Schwimmer case" was denied by Emily Marx, attorney for Miss Bland. Miss Marx

SCIENCE ASKED TO LEND AID IN BAKER MURDER

Effects of Slain Girl and Other Articles to Go Under Microscope.

CHEMISTS WILL SCAN MAN'S SCARF, GLOVES

Police Hope Some Stain or Dust Particle May Be Clew to Killer.

SEVERAL SUSPECTS CLEARED IN INQUIRY

Mysterious Guest at Hotel in Alexandria Still Is Chief Hope.

Science, which is usually frowned upon by the practical detective, has been summoned to assist in the capture of the murderer of Mary Baker. Today Washington police will transmit to chemists for microscopic examination the personal effects of the slain girl and other articles found with them in a sewer near the crime scene.

In the hope that the microscope will lead the searchers to the killer, a man's scarf and a pair of men's gloves discovered with the Baker girl's clothes will undergo the painstaking scrutiny of chemists.

There is a faint hope in the minds of detectives that some particle of dust may divine the occupation of the owner of the scarf or gloves. Or perhaps, they point out, some organism or fungus growth on the articles may tell how long the clothes were in the catch basin on the experimental farm of the Department of Agriculture.

Another Suspect Cleared.

Officer Ray Cobean, of the Arlington County Police, who left early yesterday for Bowling Green, Va., to question a suspect, reported last night to Sheriff Howard B. Fields that the man had no connection with the Baker murder. The suspect was arrested there on April 11 by a Virginia State police officer and was being held for questioning by Arlington authorities.

In addition to the scarf and gloves a handkerchief found in the culvert and a suitcase of clothes left in an Alexandria hotel on April 11, will also be examined with the microscope.

The handkerchief is a man's and bears the initial of a suspect previously questioned and released. It was found in a culvert near Arlington Cemetery, 10 feet from the spot where the Navy Department Clerk's body was placed by the murderer.

Arlington County authorities were unsuccessful until a late hour last night in their attempt to trace the owner of the luggage left in an Alex-

BANDITS SLAY 1,000 CHINESE AND RAZE CITY

Residents Who Escape Machine Gun Fire Are Kidnaped.

TWO PRIESTS TAKEN FROM U. S. MISSION

Canton Receives Plea for Aid From Kanchow, Red-Besieged.

COMMUNISM GRIPS AREA IN SOUTH CHINA

Nationalist Adherent Boiled in Oil in Village Street as Crowd Watches.

Shanghai, April 29 (Tuesday) (A.P.).—Chinese press advices received here today said that the two Catholic priests, kidnaped yesterday by bandits who raided and looted Sientanchen, Hupeh Province, had been shot by their captors.

The priests, from the Saint Columbans, Nebraska mission, were believed to have been Father Patrick Lassan and Father Francis Murray.

Shanghai, April 28 (A.P.).—Bandits, armed with machine guns, massacred 1,000 residents of Kingsuchen, northern Kiangsu province, Saturday, it was learned today. One thousand captives were carried off with loot of the city, which was burned.

This latest massacre by outlaws, who recently have slain thousands in other sections of China, took place within 100 miles of Nanking, seat of the Nationalist government. The countryside about Kingsuchen was ravaged and peasants were tortured. Mounted upon horses, the bandits dashed into the town, posted machine guns and mowed down the helpless inhabitants, afterward looting their homes before setting fire to them.

Two priests were kidnaped by brigands who sacked the city of Sientaochen, 50 miles northwest of Hankow. The priests were attached to the mission established by the Chinese Mission Society of St. Columbans, Nebr. Most of the personnel are Irish born priests. Other priests and sisters of the mission were believed safe, while four American sisters were reported to have fled to Hanyang.

City Defenders Ask Aid.

Hope was felt that 25 foreigners immured in the bandit-besieged city of Kanchow were still safe. A telegram received by provincial authorities at Canton from the commander of the Chinese defending troops, asked that additional forces be sent to assist in clearing out the Reds who have surrounded the city for seven weeks. Officials in Canton believed the message indicated that defenders

Women Held in Death By Hit-and-Run Auto

Man Is Dragged 50 Feet By Car and Flung Into Canal.

While riding a bicycle along Canal road about two blocks west of Key Bridge, Fillmore Ray, colored, 21 years old, of 1018 Twenty-ninth street northwest, was killed by a hit-and-run automobile. The machine crushed him against the stone wall along the roadway at that point and dragged him 50 feet. He was finally, in same manner, flung over the wall into the old Chesapeake & Ohio Canal.

The accident occurred at 7:15 o'clock last night.

Two women were held by Seventh Precinct Police in connection with the death. They gave their names as Miss Martha Russell, 24 years old, of D street near Second street northwest, and Mrs. Lillian Walsh, 20 years old, of Fifteenth street near M street northwest. They are held for an inquest scheduled for today.

Crashing into the wheel, the machine, a yellow roadster, proceeding in the same direction as the cyclist, toward Washington, dragged the man, entangled in the bicycle, close against the low wall before it swerved, tossing Ray into the waters below. The machine then turned and sped in the opposite direction toward nearby Maryland.

Motorcycle Policeman Frank Scoville, of the Traffic Bureau, and Dempsey Schwartz, 18 years old, of Twenty-fifth street near I street northwest, on reaching the scene dived several times in an effort to retrieve the body before arrival of the Fire Rescue Squad and volunteers. After a half hour's dragging, the body was recovered by W. T. Reynolds and W. A. Findley, of the Reynolds Boathouse nearby.

Furnished by several witnesses with the number of the car, police launched a wide search which resulted in arrest of the two women about an hour later by Second Precinct Policeman R. P. Goode when they returned the machine to an automobile rental agency on Fourth street between I and K streets northwest.

Taken to the Seventh Precinct Station, Miss Russell admitted that she was driving the machine along Conduit road at the time of the accident, but that she did not remember striking a bicycle.

Punch at Bridge Game Paralyzes Nine Women

Wichita, Kans., April 28 (A.P.). The Beacon said today that nine women, members of a bridge club in the fashionable College Hill district here, are under the care of physicians following a bridge luncheon at the home of one of the members where punch "spiked" with alcohol was served.

Three of the women were reported completely paralyzed, three others confined to their beds, having lost the use of their legs, and the others were able to get about only on crutches. Two of the women told their physicians they had but one drink of the punch and that they had partaken of no other alcoholic beverages for weeks.

Dr. M. H. Hostetler, county physician, today reported 25 new liquor paralysis cases outside the city in Sedgwick County. Twenty-eight men and one woman now are being cared for at an emergency dormitory at the county poor farm.

PARKER DEFENSE HIT AS BORAH LAUNCHES FIERY SENATE FIGHT

Text of Hoover Message Urging Crime Bills Action

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday strongly urged Congress to act on his twice-transmitted recommendations for more effective criminal law enforcement before the present session adjourns. The text of the President's message follows:

"In my messages of June 6 and December 3, 1929, I placed before Congress the urgency of certain improvements necessary to effective criminal law enforcement.

"Substantial progress has been made upon some of the measures proposed, yet we are nearing the end of the present session, and I can not too strongly urge the necessity of action upon all these recommendations before adjournment.

"The most important recommendations made by me were five in number.

"1. There should be a transfer of the functions of detection and prosecution of prohibition cases from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice and thus an ending of divided responsibility and effort.

"An act providing for this transfer was passed by the House of Representatives and has now been reported to the Senate by its judiciary committee.

"2. There must be relief afforded from congestion in the courts. While this congestion is evidenced by the dockets in many courts, its full implications are not shown by them.

"The so-called bargain days, when light fines are imposed as the result of pleas of guilty, clear the docket but the result distinctly undermines respect for law.

"No conclusion appears to have been reached as to the method of accomplishing this either by the judiciary committee of the Senate or by the judiciary committee of the House of Representatives.

"3. There must be extension of Federal prisons with more adequate parole system and other modern treatment of prisoners. We have already 11,985 prisoners in Federal establishments built for 6,946.

"The number of Federal prisoners in Federal and State institutions in-

MUTINOUS CONVICTS PURSUED IN TUNNEL

"Shoot to Kill" Orders Warden as Soldiers Seek to Quell New Disorders.

TROOPS FIX BAYONETS

Columbus, Ohio, April 28 (A.P.).—Thirty-one national guardsmen with loaded rifles and tear gas bombs were sent into Ohio Penitentiary tonight to quell disorders among prisoners in a tunnel leading from a cell block to the prison power house.

Seven of the soldiers went into the prison court while 24 men stationed themselves in the guard room with fixed bayonets. A "shoot to kill" order was issued by Warden Thomas.

Col. Robert Haubrich, commander of the national guardsmen stationed outside the prison since last Monday's fire in which 320 convicts died, preceded the soldiers into the court. Upon reaching the court, the soldiers entered the tunnel. The convicts apparently had planned to shut off the power and throw the prison into darkness.

They cut off the power supplying lights in the White City idle house. When the cell blocks became black soldiers cut two holes in the roof and trained searchlights into them. Later tear bimbs were dropped into the holes. It was learned that the mutineers had cut through a concrete wall in order to reach the tunnel.

Soldiers were kept on the cell block roofs and a company of guardsmen were stationed across the street from the main entrance to the prison.

Indications were that tonight's activities would bring about a showdown in Warden Thomas' determination to end the passive resistance movement against his rule.

It previously had been thought the mutiny had been broken up this afternoon when leaders in the movement were transferred to the London (Ohio) prison farm. The convicts, however, apparently found new leaders.

Still seething in a spirit of unrest that followed the disastrous fire a week ago in which 320 lives were lost the prisoners rose up in revolt again after a comparatively quiet week-

HOOVER ASKS SPEED IN CRIME MEASURES

Senate and House Urged by President to Expedite Legislation.

FIVE POINTS STRESSED

(Associated Press.)

Adopting the unusual course of writing to Congress urging completion of his legislative law enforcement program, President Hoover yesterday found a Senate so busy with other matters that it even waived the formality of having the Executive message read. It was referred to the judiciary committee without a word of discussion.

Most of the measures cited by the President are caught behind the tariff and the controversy over the Parker nomination in the Senate, but both Houses are progressing with the legislation, and Republican leaders believe ample time is left at this session for action at least on the high points of the administration program.

Calling attention to the approaching adjournment of the legislature, Mr. Hoover asserted "substantial progress" had been made on some of the relief measures he proposed, but he added that early adoption of the complete five-point program was necessary "if I am to perform the high duty which falls upon the Executive of enforcement of the Federal laws."

The five points stressed were transfer of prohibition enforcement functions from the Treasury to the Justice Department, methods to relieve congested court dockets, extension of Federal prison facilities, consolidation of border patrol agencies more effectively to prevent illegal entry of aliens and goods, and an "adequate" dry enforcement law for the National Capital.

The prohibition transfer bill has passed the House. The Senate judiciary committee was prepared to report it to the Senate, but only yesterday referred it back to a subcommittee for modification of a proviso transferring employes of the dry unit to the Justice Department.

The committee previously had voted against transfer of the Treas-

District Provider of Guns For Use in New York Crime

Capital, Allowing Unlimited Sale of Pistols, Is Important Source From Which Manhattan Thugs Draw Supply for Nefarious Pursuits.

New York, April 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The law of the pistol runs the length and breadth of New York City, where the writs of the law never reach. New York curls its hands gently around the butts of more "rods" than almost any city in the world in spite of its rigid Sullivan law.

Out of 357 homicides committed in this city last year, 182 involved use of a gun. Out of 2,490 felonious assault cases, pistols or similar weapons were responsible for 333. Out of 1,172 cases of assault and robbery, firearms were used in 975. These statistics were compiled at the instigation of Police Commissioner Whalen.

But this city never has taken to the submachine gun with the zest that has characterized its adoption by such cities as Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Philadelphia. Since the skull of Frankie Yale was blasted away by bullets from one of these "choppers," as the underworld terms them, there has been no proved machine gun murder here.

Police here say that most of the pistols carried by unauthorized persons in this State are bought in adjoining States or are shipped in from one of the hundreds of mail order houses that specialize in this kind of traffic.

Twenty-five stores in this city were visited without finding one where a pistol could be bought without a permit. Nor would any of the salesmen in these places volunteer to send a pistol to an address in some other State, although this is not a violation

Idaho Senator Takes Up Cudgels of Labor in His Attack.

RED JACKET CASE DECISION IS CITED

Supreme Court Nominee Was Not Bound by Precedent, Claim.

SEES NOMINATION AS THREAT TO RIGHTS

Overman, of North Carolina, Defends Jurist as Man of Ability.

By CARLISLE BARGEON.

Senate consideration of the case of Judge John J. Parker, recently nominated for the Supreme Court, began yesterday with the venerable Senator Overman defending a fellow North Carolinian and Senator Borah voicing the opposition of organized labor.

Senator Overman's was a defense of the homefolks "who know Judge Parker best," a defense of his character, ability and courage.

With none of these did Senator Borah have any quarrel. His was another step in the battle of "human versus property rights," which the senator declared had not been definitely settled, regardless of Supreme Court decisions, but which was still a living, moving issue yet to be determined.

Strikes Parker's Main Defense.

He launched his attack on Judge Parker's main defense in the labor phase of the fight against him, and the main defense made in his behalf by Attorney General Mitchell, the defense that in acting in the celebrated Red Jacket case originating from the West Virginia coal mining fields, he followed the Supreme Court. Not admitting that had he followed the Supreme Court his position would be justified, the Idaho senator declared that he did not follow it.

Indeed, the senator contended that in so far as he could ascertain, the principle enunciated by Judge Parker in the Red Jacket case was the first time it had ever been laid down; that Judge Parker went further than the Supreme Court had ever gone.

"It seems to me," he declared, "that the judges of the Circuit Court of Appeals (the Fourth, over which Judge Parker presides) were anxious to find some way to sustain and maintain that contract."

The contract referred to was that which 316 coal operators of West Virginia made the miners sign, under which the miners agreed they would not join the union or discuss with each other any means looking to an improvement of their working conditions or an increase in wages.

The union come into the West Virginia field in 1917 with the avowed intention of unionizing that field.

Borah Reviews Issues.

The operators got an injunction restraining the union, and the latter appealed to the circuit court of appeals, which upheld the order.

"We are not contending here that labor organizations can employ force or violence," Senator Borah said. "There were ample facts to justify the injunction. This is not a controversy between employer and employes. It involves for greater principles.

"Transcending all interests in importance is the interest of the public, of the State and of the Government. Is not the public, is not the State and is not the National Government interested in striking down all those overreaching contracts which rob those who work of the liberty to conduct themselves properly?"

Senator Borah described the contracts forced upon the miners as relics of the medieval days, as having no place in twentieth century civilization, as against public policy because they are a form of slavery. They prevent free intercourse among workers, he declared, reading the terms of some of the contracts.

Glass Makes Comment.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, interrupted:

"And we have sat here all the time since then and permitted that to remain law."

"No," replied Senator Borah, "we have tried twice to remedy it but the Supreme Court has declared our efforts null and void. The Supreme Court has the last word and that is why it is so important that we shall have the last word here on those who shall sit on that court."

It has been contended by Judge Parker's friends that his upholding of the injunction when it was appealed to his court does not imply a sympathy for the so-called "yellow dog" contract, but that he was bound by the Supreme Court in the celebrated Hitchman case.

Senator Borah agreed that the court by a divided opinion upheld the validity of the contract.

But the validity of the contract was not the issue before Judge Parker, Senator Borah contended, and this is a new and important angle of the controversy. The sole contention made by the union before Judge Parker's court, Senator Borah said, was that the injunction be modified so as to permit of "peaceful persuasion"—that is, peaceful persuasion of the miners to join the union.

Withdrawal of Order Not Sought.

Withdrawal of the injunction was not sought, he said.

"The naked question of peaceable persuasion was presented to the Circuit Court of Appeals and the court held that labor should be restrained from peaceable discussion of contracts," he declared.

"This is the only contract that I know of in the history of the world too sacred for discussion," he exclaimed.

The senator admitted then that the Supreme Court in the Hitchman case had also upheld an injunction against "peaceful persuasion." But—and here is where Senator Borah contends Judge Parker and his Department of Justice defense have laid themselves wide open—the Supreme Court in that case enjoined peaceful persuasion because it involved "deceit and misrepresentation." In other words in that case the union wanted to "peacefully persuade" employes to enter into contracts not to join the union, but to join on the sly and then when the union became strong enough it would call a strike.

Cites Subsequent Decision.

That this was the position of the court was made very clear, Senator Borah contended, in the Tri-City case four or five years later, December 5, 1921.

"And this was the case Judge Parker should have followed," Senator Borah observed.

In this case the right of peaceful persuasion was specifically upheld when there is an absence of "deceit or misrepresentation," Senator Borah declared. It was the failure to take this case into consideration that influences the senator to the belief that Judge Parker and his associates were looking mostly for means of sustaining the injunction.

He was asked if the failure of the union's attorney to bring this latter decision to the attention of the Circuit Court of Appeals may not have had something to do with its decision. The senator intimated that he was not impressed with the ability of the attorney, at that.

Attorney Spoke for Parker.

This attorney, incidentally, has since become a public official of West Virginia and he appeared before the judiciary committee in Parker's defense.

Borah, who was in finer trim than he has been in many moons, had not concluded his attack when recess was taken until today. The chamber was well filled, while the senators turned in their seats and faced him intently.

There was another note, which may have a considerable bearing on the case, interjected when Senator Black, of Alabama, called Senator Overman's attention to the published charge of Ralph Hayes, secretary to former Secretary of War Baker, and now a New York banker, that Judge Parker, while prosecuting the so-called war fraud cases, prosecuted one man when he had indisputable evidence of the man's innocence in his pocket.

Overman Remains Confident.

"Unless that is disproven," said Senator Black, "I don't believe a man on this floor will vote for confirmation."

Senator Overman said he was confident that it could be disproved, although he did not know anything about it. He had talked with Judge Baker, one of the judges in the war fraud cases, he said, and he had warmly commended Judge Parker's work.

Senator Overman, explaining significantly that it was not for him to lead the fight for Judge Parker's confirmation; that that was a matter for the administration forces, said that when the vacancy on the Supreme Court occurred he went to President Hoover and urged the appointment of a Democrat, Chief Justice Stacy, of his State, but in the knowledge that North Carolina Republicans were pushing Judge Parker, Senator Overman said he told the President that if the appointment must be a Republican one, he could not do better than name him.

He urged a North Carolinian and a judge from the Fourth Circuit by all means, he said, because it had not had representation on the court for 70 years. He said he had letters indorsing Judge Parker from all the circuit judges in North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland, and many letters from the lawyers of these States who "know him as a lawyer."

Man of Great Ability, He Says.

"He is a man of courage, man of character, a man of great ability," the senator said feelingly.

Recalling the judge's gubernatorial race as the Republican candidate in 1920, which now comes back to haunt him, Senator Overman said he received 60,000 more votes than any other Republican candidate had ever received for the office.

"Colored people voted for him," he said. "He could not have received such a vote if many of them had not voted for him."

Referring to the statement in the campaign which the Negroes are now using against the judge, Senator Overman said:

"A man ought not to be held responsible for what he says in a campaign."

The senator had read letters from colored organizations and from members of union labor beseeching Parker's confirmation. Similarly, friends of the judge circulated a letter from Alfred E. Cohen, who as counsel for a Negro complainant in the Richmond segregation case, overturned the ordinance before Judge Parker Parker's decision in this case in favor of the Negroes has been frequently cited as showing his lack of bias against the Negro race. Cohen's letter was addressed to Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation, taking him to task for an editorial attack upon the judge.

Galleries Were Packed.

At 3 o'clock when the Parker case was called up in the Senate the galleries were packed and everybody was listening intently. With ears strained to catch every word, Senator Overman arose in his seat.

"Mr. President," he said, "I send to the desk a letter and ask that it be read."

"The clerk will read the letter."

The sonorous voice of the reading clerk began:

"My Dear Senator Overman:

"We hold your mortgage——"

"That's not the letter," the senator shouted hastily as he fumbled through his pockets for the right one and the galleries and senators roared.

RUM BUY CASES GO TO SUPREME COURT

Counsel for Bostonian Says Congress Never Intended to Cite Purchaser.

BANKER IS DEFENDANT

(Associated Press.)

The question whether the purchaser of liquor for beverage purposes is guilty of violating the national prohibition law was argued yesterday before the Supreme Court in two cases.

Attorney General Mitchell, pursuing a policy to clarify some of the prohibition enforcement problems, through Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, submitted a case from Boston, where James E. Farrar had been indicted on the charge of unlawfully purchasing liquor from a bootlegger. Youngquist frankly explained that much could be said on both sides.

Facing numerous court decisions and congressional action adverse to its contentions, the Government argued that the prohibition law should be construed to mean that lawful purchases of intoxicating liquor required permits and that as a permit could not be issued for the purchase of liquor for beverage purposes such purchases were illegal.

Lays Buck Passing to U. S.

William H. Lewis, as counsel for Farrar, attacked the indictment as defective because it had not charged that the purchase had been made without a permit, but waiving all technicalities he insisted that Congress never intended that a purchaser should be punished, asserting that the Government was "passing the buck." He urged the court not to make a man a criminal unless the language of the law was clear, and "beyond guesswork." The failure of the Government up to this time to claim that the purchaser was guilty should be persuasive that it was not the intention of Congress to penalize him, he added, pointing out that a propoaition in the Senate to amend the constitutional amendment by making the purchase an offense had been defeated, 60 to 4. He also stated that Senator Sheppard, of Texas, one of the authors of the constitutional amendment, now had pending a bill to make the purchaser equally guilty with the seller.

Material defects in the case against Alfred E. Norris may prevent a decision by the highest court on the question whether a purchaser who orders of a bootlegger knowing that transportation is involved is guilty of conspiring to violate the prohibition law.

Conspiracy Is Charged.

The court quickly developed during the argument of the case by Assistant Attorney General Youngquist that Norris, a New York banker, had pleaded nolo contendere when charged with conspiracy in ordering liquor from a Philadelphia bootlegger. Members of the court pointed out that such a plea subjected Norris to conviction as though he had pleaded substantially all rights he might have had to challenge the indictment.

Frederick L. Ballard, counsel for Norris, said that in making the plea it had been his intention to reserve all his client's rights to test the validity of the indictment. He argued that Congress had failed to make the purchaser guilty and that although unlawful transportation might be involved, the Government had failed to show that Farrar was responsible.

Assistant Attorney General Youngquist took the position that Norris, when he ordered the liquor, knew it must be unlawfully transported, and that he had conspired with the bootlegger to violate the law.

Doomed Man Is Given New Reprieve by Court

Justice Peyton Gordon in District Supreme Court yesterday again postponed execution of James Elmer Crawford, Negro, who was convicted several months ago of first-degree murder in connection with the slaying of Philbert ("Jack") Bitner, filling station manager, in November, 1928.

Crawford was under sentence to die in the electric chair on Friday, but Justice Gordon stayed the execution until November 14. This action was taken due to the fact that the Court of Appeals is considering an appeal on behalf of the man. Attorney John H. Wilson appears for Crawford.

THREE RULINGS GIVE BY SUPREME COURT

Justice Holmes, 89, Gives Two Opinions and JJustice Hughes One.

21 REVIEWS ARE REFUSED

(Associated Press.)

Justice Holmes, who was 89 years old last March, maintained in the Supreme Court yesterday his high record by delivering two of the three opinions handed down. Chief Justice Hughes rendered the other.

The court sustained the Louisiana statute appropriating money for the purchase of free school books, held valid the section of the revenue act of 1924 under which a revocable trust created by Charles A. Corliss, of New York, was taxed, and refused to permit the alien property custodian to charge administrative expenses against property illegally seized. The latter decision came in a case brought by the stockholders of the Locomotive Superheater Co., of Delaware.

The tribunal announced that the appeal of railroads in the Southwestern territory, challenging an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission prescribing a new division of rates with railroads in Western trunk line territory under which they claimed they would lose $3,000 annually, would be reviewed on its merits.

The Government failed in its effort to expedite a final decision on the validity of the law of July, 1926, under which Harry M. Blackmer, a witness wanted in oil cases, was held for contempt when he refused to return from Paris and testify. The Government wanted to bring the case to the highest court without waiting for a decision in the court of appeals here.

Reviews were granted in three cases, while the court decided in 21 other cases the controversies presented did not come within its jurisdiction and must be denied.

Woman Foiled in Effort To Jump Seven Stories

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Attempts of Mrs. Marguarite Lawler, of Buffalo, N. Y., to jump from the seventh floor of the District Attorney's Building were frustrated today by employes of the office.

The attempts were made while Mrs. Lawler was waiting to be questioned by Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings about accusations that she was on the pay roll of the probation bureau of the court of general sessions, under her brother Edwin J. Cooley, suspended chief, while employed as a school teacher in Buffalo.

SENATE PASSES TWO BILLS TO AID JOBLES

Pair of Wagner Measures Approved; Third Is Fought by Administration.

CONSIDERATION DUE SOO

(Associated Press.)

Two Wagner unemployment measures—to set up a federal program for emergency construction, and to provide for collection of complete employment statistics—were passed yesterday by the Senate without a record vote.

A little later, over outspoken objection by administration leaders, the Senate voted, 37 to 32, to consider the third point of the Wagner unemployment program immediately after discussion of the nomination of Judge John J. Parker for the Supreme Court is completed.

The third bill by Senator (Democrat), New York, would provide a Federal system of employment, to cooperate with State agencies. Mr. Wagner asserted confidence after the vote that the Senate also would agree to the third measure.

The first of the two measures passed today would require the Department of Labor to publish monthly figures on the volume and change in employment, covering not only numbers of workers, but hours worked for the Federal Government and for various industries.

The other would create a Federal employment stabilization board composed of the Secretaries of the Treasury, of Commerce, Agriculture and Labor. The measure also would request theh President to direct the Secretaries of War, Agriculture and the Treasury to accelerate construction within their control during periods of depression.

The bill would authorize appropriation of any amounts "necessary for expenditure on public works to prevent unemployment" not in excess of $150,000,000 in a fiscal year.

Banquet Will Be Held By Columbian Women

The twenty-second annual banquet of the Columbian Women of George Washington University will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at the Chevy Chase Club. Approximately 300 women associated with the university as alumnae, students, faculty members, and wives of faculty members will gather for the celebration which marks the thirty-sixth anniversary of the founding of the organization.

Miss Sophia Speiker, president of the Women's Flying Club of Maryland, and Miss Alice Hutchins Drake, lecturer, will speak. Guests of honor will include Senora de Tellez, wife of the Mexican Ambassador; Mme. Veverka, wife of the Minister of Czechoslovakia; Mrs. James J. Davis, wife of the Secretary of Labor; and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, wife of the president of the university.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 12 noon and recessed at 5:00 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Passed two Wagner employment measures, setting up a $150,000,000 public works planning program and providing for more accurate labor statistics, and voted to make the third Wagner bill establishing employment agencies, the order of business.

Returned to the judiciary committee for reconsideration of the provision transferring employes in the day unit in the House bill transferring prohibition enforcement from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice.

Chairman Couzens, of the interstate commerce committee, said he would call for a vote in the committee meeting today on his revised resolution to make illegal any railroad consolidation restraining or lessening competition not already authorized or approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Senator Vandenberg (Republican) Michigan, announced, in a statement, that he did not believe the Senate would pass the $111,000,000 omnibus rivers and harbors bill in the form it was passed by the House.

Senator Kean (Republican), New Jersey, said he thought it would be a mistake for Dwight W. Morrow to enter the Senate from New Jersey during consideration of the London Naval Treaty.

Began consideration of the Parker nomination to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court with Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, denying that Judge Parker was prejudiced against the Negroes.

Confirmed the nomination of Frederick Huff Payne, of Massachusetts, to be Assistant Secretary of War.

HOUSE.

Met at 12 noon and adjourned at 5:05 p. m. to 12 noon today.

Military committee granted a subcommittee one additional day in which to complete a new bill for disposal of Muscle Shoals.

Decided to take no action on criticism by Senator George (Democrat), Georgia, on veterans' legislation.

Representative Cramton (Republican), Michigan, introduced a resolution asking the creation of a special House committee to investigate campaign expenditures in the forthcoming elections.

Judiciary subcommittee approved the Gibson bill authorizing the appointment of two additional judges to the District of Columbia Supreme Court and the Langley bill to create a southern Federal district court in Kentucky.

Representatives of organized drainage districts appeared before the irrigation committee and urged approval of the Smith bill to authorize an appropriation of $95,000,000 to be used as loans to drainage districts.

Chairman Haugen, of the agriculture committee, announced that a conference of packers and livestock dealers and shippers would be held in Chicago, May 2, to discuss his bill proposing standards for livestock and livestock products.

Representative Ramey (Republican), Illinois, introduced a bill authorizing the appointment of an additional Federal judge for the southern district of Illinois.

$12,000,000 URGED AS U. S. DISTRICT AID

Senate Gets Report on Bill From Committee on Appropriations.

HOUSE FIGURES CHANGED

In reporting out the District of Columbia appropriation bill yesterday the Senate appropriations committee added $3,000,000 to the sum to be contributed toward upkeep of the city by the Federal Government.

As passed by the House, the bill provided for a Federal contribution of $9,000,000. As reported to the Senate yesterday the bill calls for a Federal contribution of $12,000,000.

This is a move in the direction of legality. The statutory law provides that the District government and the Federal Government shall share the expense of running the city on a 60—40 basis.

In the District appropriation bill of 1925, however, it was provided that the Federal contribution should be $9,000,000, and this sum has been contributed every year since then.

In 1925 $9,000,000 actually represented about 40 per cent of the bill. In the years intervening, however, the cost of running the city has increased steadily, and today $9,000,000 represents only about 21½ per cent of the budget if the gasoline and water revenues are excluded.

The $12,000,0000 contribution provided by the Senate appropriations committee would put the division of cost on about a 70-30 basis.

Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee which handled the bill, explained that in boosting the Federal contribution he and his colleagues realized that a considerable amount of property has been taken off the taxable list as a result of the Federal and municipal building program here.

The Senate subcommittee virtually rewrote the House bill, and when its work was completed the bill was hardly recognizable from the standpoint of those who sponsored it in the House.

As reported by the Senate subcommittee, the bill calls for an appropriation of $43,910,855. This is $1,422,262 less than was provided in the House bill.

The sharpest cut made by the Senate subcommittee was in the appropriation for the municipal center. The House had provided $3,000,000 for the continuation of acquisition of property in the municipal center area. The Senate subcommittee reduced this to $1,000,000.

The Senate subcommittee reversed action of the House subcommittee, and provided approximately $100,000 for salary increases. This money will go to District employes who, by virture of their efficiency records, are entitled to salary step-ups.

The controversial provision affecting kindergarten teachers was eliminated. Under the House bill, part of the kindergarten teachers would have to teach two classes a day and the remainder would be assigned to teach elementary classes up to the fourth grade. The Senate subcommittee killed this provision and reinserted the item of $83,000 for hire, of additional teachers.

Among the changes written into the bill by the Senate subcommittee were these:

Widening of H street from Massachusetts avenue northwest, $133,000.

Elimination of the House item providing for a $135,000 viaduct over Monroe street northeast.

Elimination of the provision requiring the Capital Traction Co. to pay one-fourth of the cost of a new Klingle Valley bridge.

Elimination of the House provision for the paving of New York avenue to Bladensburg road at a cost of $195,000.

House Provision Altered.

Elimination of the House provision requiring the Commissioners to approve of all expenditures for school furniture and equipment. The House subcommittee inserted this provision in the bill because it was convinced that the school authorities have been extravagant.

Among the school items written into the bill by the Senate subcommittee were these:

An appropriation of $140,000 for an eight-room addition to the Douglass-Simons School;

An appropriation of $100,000, half to be used to the Deanwood School and the other half to be used for a combination gymnasium and assembly hall;

An appropriation of $130,000 for combination assembly hall and gymnasium for the Congress Heights School;

An appropriation of $50,000 to begin treatment of grounds for a colored junior high school in northeast Washington;

Eliminated an item of $255,000 for a 12-room addition and gymnasium for the Gorden Junior High School.

Wrote into the bill a provision for the purchase of a site for an eight-room school building on Connecticut Avenue northwest near Jenifer street, and also a provision for the purchase of land adjoining the Harrison School;

Other Changes Made.

Eliminated the provision inserted by the House subcommittee requiring applicants for positions of policemen in the Washington Police Force to have at least the equivalent of an eighth-grade education.

Wrote into the bill an item providing $150,000 for a children's tuberculosis hospital and providing further that $530,000 be the maximum spent on such building.

Eliminated the House legislative provision increasing water rates in the District of Columbia.

Wrote into the bill an item of $8,000 for rent of the House of Detention, thereby killing the House idea of having this section of the Police Department use one of the buildings purchased by the District government in the municipal center.

PINCHOT MAN BARES DATA ON CONTRACTS

Gives Senate Inquiry Board Information on Elections in Pennsylvania.

BILL SEEKS HOUSE QUIZ

Philadelphia, April 28 (A.P.).—S. Davis Wilson, deputy city controller, disclosed tonight that he had handed over to investigators of the senatorial primary campaign committee, headed by United States Senator Nye, of North Dakota, information on "certain contracts that have a distinct bearing on the campaign and dealing with the relation between political organizations, political leaders and public utilities corporation."

Wilson is Philadelphia campaign manager for Gifford Pinchot, principal opponent of Francis Shunk Brown, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The ticket headed by Brown and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, candidate for the United States Senate, is backed by the Philadelphia Republican organization.

Secretary Davis and Joseph R. Grundy, candidate to succeed himself in the Senate, are expected to be among the first to appear before the Nye committee.

(Associated Press.)

Investigation by a special House committee of the campaign expenditures of members of the House, all of whom are up for reelection this November, was asked in a resolution yesterday by Representative Cramton (Republican), Michigan.

He said it was important that a committee be created to inquire into charges of improper use of funds while the campaign is in progress rather than to await until after the elections to start this work.

In introducing the resolution Mr. Cramton issued a statement saying a "certain association" recently had indicated it proposed to spend a million dollars in connection with the forthcoming congressional election.

Testimony of Man Fails to Jail Wife

Woman Freed on Charge of Larceny in Taking Teacher's $9,000.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Mrs. Jessie E. Viginis was acquitted by a general sessions court jury today of a grand larceny charge despite the testimony of her husband who said he had spent mostly on her the $9,000 he got from a New Jersey woman.

The husband, whose testimony over the violent objections of his wife's lawyer set a precedent in general sessions, was Dr. Rene Augustus Viginis, who pleaded guilty April 17 to unlawfully spending $9,000 intrusted to him by Eva Kimball, a Newark, N. J., teacher.

Miss Kimball gave the money to Dr. Viginis early last year to invest in a sanitarium he was talking of building. He spent the money, he said, on clothes for himself and his wife, an automobile for her and in equipping his office on Park avenue. She counseled him in this course, he said. Dr. Viginis is awaiting sentence on the charge.

Vanderbilt Yacht Damaged by Blast

Bellevue Hospital Shaken as Gas Explosion Rocks $1,000,000 Craft.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—An explosion in the after end of Gen. Cornelius Vanderbilt's $1,000,000 yacht, Winchester, off the New York Yacht Club, today did $50,000 damage to the vessel and shook the East River water front for several blocks.

Gen. Vanderbilt was not aboard, and none of his crew of 22 was injured. The blast, in a 90-gallon gasoline tank just astern of the engine room, tore out the deck just aft of the second smokestack and caused a fire which burned out the crew's quarters, part of the wooden deck and sun sails, or awnings, above the main deck. The cause of the explosion was not known.

Bellevue Hospital, which faces the East River from Twenty-seventh street to Twenty-ninth, was shaken by the explosion, and nurses had some trouble quieting the patients.

Honeymoon of Couple Cut Short by Tragedy

Trenton, N. J., April 28 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—When John W. Thompson, jr., and his bride, the former Miss Suzanne Blackwell, arrived in Bermuda this morning on their honeymoon on the liner Bermuda, the liner Western World was delaying its sailing in order to pick them up for the return trip. For tragedy haunts their marriage.

Friday night the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich Dahlgren, following the newly married couple in an automobile, hit a train. Dahlgren was killed and his wife was seriously injured. By insistence of their families, the couple continued their trip to Bermuda. Yesterday they were informed that the shock of the tragedy had killed the bridegroom's mother. Her funeral will be delayed until their return Wednesday.

America is to be flooded with succeeding issues of German obligations in amounts so large as to threaten our credit structure and destroy our economic prosperity," Mr. Taylor declared that robably never before in the history of international agreements had there been written "such an all-inclusive veto power" as is reserved by each participant in the bnak.

As the bank can not issue its own notes or introduce an international currency, it can not inflate or contract world credit, the Chicago banker asserted. It will not be allowed to accept bills of exchange or other credit intruments nor can it make advances to governments or acquire a predominant interest in any business concern.

The bank will begin operations as soon as the seven participating countries have paid in $14,000,000, which is 25 per cent of their subscribed capital of $56,000,000, he declared.

Through its boards and committees, the bank "is a forum for the development of world understanding," he concluded.

Mrs. Post's Rites And Rival's Held

Dozen Attend Funerals of Former Comedy Star and Woman She Slew.

Laguna Beach, Calif., April 28 (A.P.).—Last rites for Adele Ritchie, former musical comedy favorite, and Mrs. Doris Palmer, her intimate friend and social rival, were held today at Forest Lawn Memorial Cemetery, Glendale, Calif. Separate five-minute services, an hour apart, were held for the two victims of the gun with which the actress, in private life Mrs. Guy Bates Post, slew both in a jealous rage last Thursday.

A dozen relatives and friends gathered about the coffins of the two favorites of the Laguna Beach artist colony as the brief services were conducted by the Rev. John C. Donnell, rector of the Laguna Beach Protestant Episcopal Church. Cremation followed with the ashes placed in niches in the cemetery mausoleum.

Disposal of the ashes of the noted actress disclosed that her former husband, the stage actor, prior to their divorce last December had purchased the double niche for the eventual use of himself and his wife.

SOLDIERS PURSUE CONVICTS IN TUNNEL

end. A detail of 150 Columbus policemen was rushed into the prison yard this morning. National guardsmen mounted machine guns on the walls and on the outside, and leaders of the revolt were gathered up and either placed in solitary confinement or transferred to other institutions.

Tear gas bombs and gas masks were taken inside for emergency duty and 44 new men were added to the staff of guards. The prisoners who refused to be orderly went without breakfast and were threatened with no food at all.

It was another hectic day but the forces of law and order were still on top when, late this afternoon some 1,300 convicts, tired and worn out from long hours of noisy disturbance, returned to their cells from the mess hall and either fell into their bunks or sought diversion in card games.

What the future holds depends upon the course the officials adopt. Warden Preston E. Thomas, whose removal the convicts demand, remained firm in his determination that the men must go back to work. They have not done any work since the fire.

Prefer Death to Work.

The convicts said they would go to the shops when ordered but would refuse to work. "They can kill us first," was the word sent out by several of the revolters.

At times during the day the situation appeared especially threatening. Warden Thomas held frequent conferences with Col. R. S. Haubrich, in charge of the National Guard. Col. Haubrich announced he would recommend to State Welfare Director Hal Griswold that the rebellious convicts be removed from the idle house to other institutions or that they be confined behind a stockade somewhere near here while the locks on their cells are repaired.

Since the fire the cell locks have been jammed with paper and tobacco and some have been entirely broken off. When the latest series of disorders started last night cell doors were battered down.

Twice the officials acceded to the demands of the prisoners today on their promise to settle down. Their first demand was for removal of the police details in the yard. They declined to eat until the policemen were taken out.

3,100 Convicts Orderly.

Warden Thomas relented and the bluecoats were withdrawn. But the promised quiet was not forthcoming. The men became more disorderly than ever.

Soon came a demand from the White City, as the idle house is called, that prisoners be served their noonday meal in the cages. Warden Thomas sent back word that they could starve in their cells if they would not obey orders. But Deputy Warden J. C. Woodard appealed to them to be quiet and coaxed them to go to the mess halls.

While the prisoners were eating guards went into the cell blocks and searched for weapons.

erty after its segregation from the Washington plantation. The bones of all were placed in the vault, which was sealed immediately after the services.

In the reconstructed tomb were placed the remains of Col. John Washington, the first of the illustrious family to come to America, who died in 1786; Maj. Lawrence Washington, grandfather of the first President, whose death occurred in 1696, and Augustine Washington, father of the Nation's founder, who died in 1743. In addition, the others in the group also had resided at Wakefield.

Included among those in attendance were many Washingtonians, including Mrs. H. L. Rust, president of the Wakefield National Memorial Association, and descendant of Capt. John Washington; Mrs. John Dickinson Sherman, the association's vice president and a member of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission; Mrs. H. L. Hodgkins, J. Edward Donn, the associatoion's supervising architect; Col. H. S. Kimberly, of the Department of Commerce, and Edgar P. Allen, representing the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

Companions of Slain Men Held in Oklahoma Killings

Pair Who Traveled With Two Connecticut Capitalists Are Taken Into Custody at Muskogee After Having Been Released Previously.

Muskogee, Okla., April 28 (A.P.).—Charges of murder were filed late today against John L. Wike and P. G. Seeley, companions of David and George Smith, Connecticut capitalists, who were slain Saturday night in their hotel room here.

Police had announced previously that Wike and Seeley, who had been questioned for several hours, had been released from custody. After their release, both men told officers they would remain in Muskogee until the mystery of the double slaying had been solved.

The officers declined to discuss what developments had prompted the filing of the murder charges. It was known, however, that the men again were being questioned by police detectives, who indicated statements might be made later regarding the reason for the charges.

The date of the preliminary hearing for Seeley and Wike had not been set late today but court officials said it would probably be held Wednesday.

The Smith brothers were shot to death. The four men, all of whom were from Connecticut, registered at the hotel Saturday. Wike and Seeley occupied a room adjoining that of the Smith brothers.

Wike told officers two men came into the room about 9 o'clock Saturday night and a desperate fight between the Smiths and the assailants started immediately. Wike was bound and gagged and robbed of $8 he told authorities. Seeley was in his room at the time.

Officers today expressed the belief that revenge, and not robbery, was the motive of the double slaying. They said they learned that a small amount of money carried by the Smiths was not taken.

MOB VICTIM'S BODY IS FOUND IN FLORIDA

Suspected Bomber Shot and Strangled After Being Taken From Deputy.

HAD BIG BANK ACCOUNT

Tampa, Fla., April 28 (A.P.).—A coroner's jury today brought in a verdict of death from gunshot wounds and strangulation at the hands of persons unknown in the case of John Hodaz, 40, whose body was found near Antioch today. The man, of Hungarian birth, was taken by a mob last night from a deputy sheriff who had arrested him here in connection with the bombing of one home last week in Plant City and an attempt to bomb another.

Almost simultaneously with the coroner's verdict fingerprint experts of the Tampa police department announced that Hodaz had handled dynamite which failed to explode at the home of H. D. Willaford, in Plant City.

Mrs. J. I. Waller, neighbor of Willaford, suffered injuries which may prove fatal when dynamite wrecked the back porch of her home as she opened the back door last Thursday morning. Soon afterward other dynamite traps were found at her home and at Willaford's nearby.

Willaford accused Hodaz, saying both he and his neighbors had had trouble with him over his trespassing on their lands.

Sheriff R. T. Joughin said Hodaz had confessed placing the dynamite at the Willaford place, but denied placing the charge which injured Mrs. Waller. The sheriff said discovery of the body had not ended the case and indicated he was looking for a possible confederate as well as members of the mob. So far, no relatives of Hodaz have been located. About $12,000 in bonds were found in his room, and he had several thousand dollars in a bank here.

Wilson of Post-War Days Is Described by Colby

Sketches Doughty Fight for Health That Duties Might Not Suffer.

St. Louis, Mo., April 28 (A.P.).—A picture of President Wilson conquering physical ill health and directing governmental policies with unimpaired mental clarity until he retired from office was sketched tonight by Bainbridge Colby, intimate friend and his last Secretary of State, in an address at the Missouri Historical Society's annual dinner.

Mr. Colby credited the war President with supervising the problems of demobilization and initiating foreign policies with regard to Russia, Mexico and the League of Nations mandates which have been followed by succeeding administrations. As to Russia, he said the stand later called "Harding's policy," "the Hughes policy" and "the Coolidge policy" was only a continuation of the attitude enunciated by the Wilson administration.

A note regarding occupation of the northern half of the island of Sakhalin by the Japanese, "foreshadowed" the American position regarding the Russian Soviet regime, Mr. Colby said. This attitude was that the United States would look with disfavor upon any attempt to despoil Russia of its territory during the revolution and civil war. The speaker added that definite attitude regarding recognition of the Soviet rule was taken in August, 1920. Recognition was refused, he said, because of repeated denials and repudiations of the principles and usages which are the foundation of international order and comity," and "in nowise due to disavowal of any particular political or economic system which Russia might see fit to adopt."

The signing of the Versailles Treaty of peace, Mr. Colby said, "marked the crest of Woodrow Wilson's career, or, at least, of his public acclamation and world influence." Of his fight for the ratification of the treaty, which led to the breakdown of his health, he continued:

"With blithe courage and unswerving confidence he bent to the task. How valiantly he waged his single-handed battle for the ratification of the treaty will be told by history, again and again. Others might falter, but not he. Others might proffer compromises—not he. His notions of a signature may seem to a later day a little restricted. He thought of it rather simply, as something to be honored. His idea of a pledge also had a little angularity about it. He regarded it as something to be redeemed—even redeemed without reservations."

BAINBRIDGE COLBY.

Mr. Colby recalled a remark of the former President, about a year after he had left the White House, on the failure of the ratification.

"'The poison of untruth,' he said, 'has gone so deep into the wells of popular thinking, that it will be 30 years, at least, before a rational public opinion as to the true foundations of our security and as to our international duty is restored.'"

"While he only partially recovered his physical energy, after his shattering illness, his mind showed no abatement of its clarity and penetration," said Mr. Colby. "Interviews with him were shortened, if possible, and more guardedly conceded. Every one made an effort to come to the point quickly to save his time and spare his strength. And yet full justice was done to every subject."

"The death of Mr. Wilson was not foreseen nor believed imminent until a brief time before he died," Mr. Colby continued. "He was not old, but the none too robust frame had worn out under the unsparing demands of the ardent and heroic spirit which it housed. The final years of his life, I think, were sweet to him. Love reigned in his home. His devoted helpmeet never left his side. Chosen friends came and went. And one day he passed away—passed into history, which is now the custodian of his deeds and the guardian of his fame."

BISHOP MAY RESIGN IN ROW OVER CLERIC

Head of Lexington Diocese Reported Chagrined at Priest's Acquittal.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

Lexington, April 20 (A.P.).—The Right Rev. H. P. Almon Abbott, Episcopal Bishop of the Lexington Diocese, today refused to confirm or deny a statement made by A. E. Stricklett, Covington, that he was seriously considering resigning because of the verdict in the trial of the Rev. Julius A. Velasco, Dayton, Ky. Mr. Stricklett was chief prosecution counsel at the ecclesiastical trial last week.

Dr. Velasco was found guilty of a charge of using defamatory language to his bishop, with the penalty of a reprimand. He was acquitted of charges of violating a preordination agreement that he would resign his orders if he married a Catholic, and of conduct unbecoming a clergyman.

Statement Laid to Bishop.

Mr. Stricklett was quoted today as saying that the bishop was "much chagrined" at the verdict, and "I do know that he is seriously considering tendering his resignation."

"I have no statement to make," Bishop Abbott said, adding that he had heard nothing of the report.

Dr. Velasco, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Dayton, married Miss Catherine Rogers, Ellicott City, Md., January 24. The ceremony was performed by a Catholic priest. The ecclesiastical trial followed a controversy of many weeks.

The young rector conducted his own defense at the trial, opposing prosecution counsel composed of practicing attorneys.

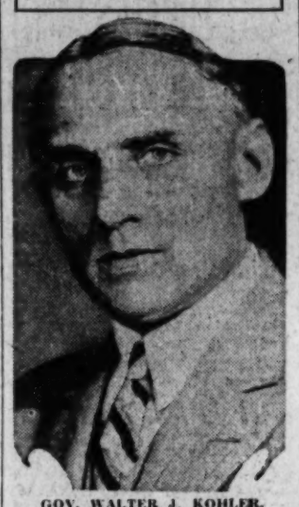
Bishop Native of Canada.

Bishop Abbott, a native of Canada, has not been a prelate a year. He was consecrated at Lexington last May 15. He was formerly dean of Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland; rector of Grace and St. Peter's, Baltimore, and of St. Chrysostem's, at Chicago.

Mr. Stricklett said today: "I talked with him (the bishop) Saturday and he feels the light punishment ordered by the court is a reflection on his character and reputation as a bishop."

Referring to Dr. Velasco's defamatory language, Mr. Stricklett said "to call a bishop 'un-Christian' and accuse him of falsehood is a very grave reflection on him. Dr. Velasco had claimed that the agreement he would not marry a Catholic had been revoked by the diocesan standing committee, which brought the charges at the insistence of the bishop.

FACES OUSTING



GOV. WALTER J. KOHLER.

GOVERNOR SCORES IN OUSTING FIGHT

Wisconsin Judge Refuses to Allow Personal Letters Read as Evidence.

SLUSH FUND IS CHARGED

Sheboygan, Wis., April 28 (A.P.).—The prosecution in the ouster suit against Gov. Walter J. Kohler, accused of excessive campaign expenditures, today received a setback when Circuit Judge Gustave G. Gehrz refused to admit telegrams and letters from Gov. Kohler's personal files as evidence.

Special Prosecutor Harold M. Wilkie said letters and telegrams inviting thousands of voters and dozens of newspaper editors to visit Kohler, Wis., the governor's "model city," had intent of influencing votes. After defense objection Judge Gehrz ruled the memoranda immaterial.

Phil La Follette and other leaders of the progressive faction of the Republican party seek removal of the conservative Republican governor on charges that he violated the corrupt practices act by spending more than $80,000 in his campaign. The law limits expenditures to $4,000. In addition, the complainants accused the governor of accepting campaign funds from the Kohler Corporation, which he heads, and other firms.

"There is no proof of political purpose in these letters," Judge Gehrz said. His ruling was the second blow at the prosecution within a week. Shortly after the trial opened last week, Judge Gehrz ruled "informally" that moneys spent by Kohler's friends, so long as he did not authorize the expenditures, could not be considered illegal.

The prosecutor contended such moneys were spent by his agents and he was responsible for them.

DISTRICT PROVIDES GUNS FOR NEW YORK

of the law.

How does the underworld arm itself? Where does the gunman get his gun? He gets it from one of the out-of-town firms that specialize in shipping firearms, from someone who obtained it through smuggling sources, or he convinces one of the large manufacturers that he is a responsible citizen and buys direct from this firm. The arms companies can not investigate every sale, although none of the larger companies will ship to someone they do not know.

It is impossible to determine the number of pistols smuggled into the Port of New York each year. While there is a stiff duty on foreign-made pistols, and customs inspectors are supposed to take note of domestic-made weapons brought in, the duties of these customs men are made so numerous by the necessity of sniffing for rum that they make no secret of the fact that pistols interest them very little.

The District of Columbia is another source from which gunmen draw much of their arms supply. The National Capital is without a law of any kind to prevent the sale of pistols or any other weapon. Attempts have been made at various times to obtain legislation to free Washington from the indiscriminate sale of arms, but these attempts always have been frustrated by the powerful arms lobby. You may buy pistols at any one of twenty or more stores in Washington and nobody will ask you why you want the pistol or what you are going to do with it.

In former years nearly every one of the scores of magazines specializing in lurid crime fiction carried advertisements of firms willing to ship a pistol anywhere. The more widely circulated of these publications have discontinued this practice, not because they were compelled to do so by law, but because the practice was criticized by certain of their readers or by anticrime organizations. Some of these magazines cover this matter in their so-called "departments," however.

At the close of the World War the United States Government permitted all officers in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps to keep their pistols without registration of any kind, as these weapons were the property of the officers. Thousands of .45-caliber automatics thus were placed in circulation. Many officers sold their pistols or pawned them and did not redeem them. Many murders committed in all parts of the country have been traced to the use of these weapons, which were so deadly that during the war the German government protested against their use through the neutral Swiss government.

Although enlisted men in these wartime service organizations were supposed to turn their weapons in after the war, a large number of them contrived to keep them. Also many officers and enlisted men returned from France with German and Austrian pistols, picked up on battlefields or taken from enemy prisoners.

To the list of weapons thus accounted for may be added the vast number of pistols and submachine guns that have been stolen from legitimate sources or bought through fraud. The raiding of a hardware store or a consignment of pistols waiting shipment from a factory is accounted a feat of no mean size by underworld forces.

CONGRESS ASKED BY HOOVER TO SPEED CRIME MEASURE

ury employes on the ground that the attorney general should have a free hand in selecting his personnel.

Prison extension bills have advanced farther than any embraced in the five point program. They have passed the House and have been reported by the Senate judiciary committee.

"There must be extension of Federal prisons with a more adequate parole system and other modern treatment of prisoners," the President said in this connection, adding:

"The overcrowding of the prisons themselves is inhumane and accentuates criminal tendencies."

Declaring "no conclusion appears to have been reached" by committees of either house on proposed relief from court congestion, the President said the "so-called bargain days, when light fines are imposed as the result of pleas of guilty, clear the docket, but the result distinctly undermines respect for law."

Border patrol consolidation measures are pending in committees, as a measure to tighten enforcement in the District of Columbia.

In the House, the letter was read and referred to the six committees that are considering measures relating to various recommendations.

Speaker Longworth said he had not been informed as to the progress being made by the committees, but that he understood they had been making considerable study.

The speaker declined to speculate on whether the remainder of the President's law enforcement proposals would be acted on at this session.

HOOVER TEXT

creased 6,277 in the nine months from June 30, 1929, to April 1, 1930.

"The Attorney General has stated that we can not hope to enforce the laws unless we can have some point of reception for convicted persons. The overcrowding of the prisons themselves is inhumane and accentuates criminal tendencies.

"Bills providing for this relief were passed by the House and are now, I understand, in course of being reported to the Senate by the judiciary committee.

"4. We are in need of vigorous reorganization of the border patrol in order to consolidate various agencies so as effectually to prevent illegal entry of both aliens and goods. Proposals to bring about such reorganization are before the committees of Congress.

"5. The District of Columbia is without an adequate prohibition enforcement law. A bill for that purpose has been introduced and hearings have been held before the Senate District committee. It should contain the safeguards recommended by the Attorney General.

"We have within the limits of existing legislation improved the personnel and greatly increased the efficiency of the existing Federal machinery in criminal law enforcement during the past year.

Reforms Called Necessary.

"The above reforms are necessary, however, if I am to perform the high duty which falls upon the Executive of enforcement of the Federal laws.

"While a considerable part of this condition arises from the laws relating to intoxicating liquors, yet the laws relating to narcotics, automobile thefts, &c., which have been enacted by the Congress during recent years, also contribute to create the present conditions. This is well indicated by the fact that less than one-third of Federal prisoners are due to prohibition.

"Our obedience to law, our law enforcement and judicial organization, or judicial procedure, our care and methods of handling prisoners, in relation to not only Federal Government but also to that of State and municipal governments are far from the standards that must be secured. These proposals, while they do not comprehend the whole which remains to be done in the Nation, are a step toward lifting the Federal standards which must have a general beneficial influence.

MAN'S INITIALED HANDKERCHIEF SCRUTINIZED IN BAKER SEARCH

andria hotel on the day of the murder by a man who owed no bill at the hostelry. The operatives have narrowed their search to a definite few and hope through the medium of the handkerchief and the contents of the suitcase to isolate the slayer.

Several days after the discovery of the girl's body the handkerchief was found in the culvert. It had been evidently carried by the stream to a point within the pipe which carries the stream under Cemetery road.

Inspector William S. Shelby is striving to learn the purchase place of the handkerchief. It bears no laundry marks and has no indication of its owner except an embroidered initial. One of the men arrested earlier in the case and subsequently released bears the same initial in his surname.

Old Suitor Eliminated.

One of Miss Baker's earlier acquaintances, whose picture was obtained by Officer Hugh Jones on his Saturday visit to the Oak Grove (Va.) home of the girl, has been eliminated from suspicion. Police of the Ohio city where the man is now living made a complete investigation of his movements and his explanation has satisfied local police.

Late yesterday afternoon a man appeared at the District Building and offered to lead the police to the murderer. Lieut. Edward J. Kely, Commonwealth's Attorney W. C. Gloth, District detectives and Department of Justice agents hurried in the direction of Arlington County with the informer.

He brought them to the experimental farm of the Department of Agriculture, in the vicinity of which the crime is presumed to have been committed. There he told the investigators that the killer had been hiding in a sewer for two weeks, then he told them he had been hiding in an office on the farm. Finally he was less sure that the man had been on a houseboat on the Potomac River since the murder. Nothing came of the search, the man admitting that he was not sure whether he did know where the killer now is.

Incident One of Many.

Inspector Shelby exemplified the occurrence as one of the hundreds which have been consuming valuable time of the police.

Park Policeman William J. Hammond, who had been quoted as saying that he could give an accurate description of a man who had been meeting Miss Baker in and about the Navy Department, yesterday denied this assertion. He said he knew Miss Baker only by sight and had not seen any man meeting her.

No success followed the efforts of police to find a likely suspect in Queen City, Va., where it was thought that the man who stole the jewelry found with Miss Baker's clothes might be found.

Information obtained by Officer Jones at Oak Grove was being zealously shielded by police last night. Mr. Gloth does not believe the data to be of any consequence but would rather have it discarded before making it public.

Another Suspect Cleared.

Another man was cleared yesterday. This suspect had been sought since three days after the murder. He had disappeared from his hotel in this city on April 12, the day when Miss Baker's body was found, and had not been seen since that time.

Yesterday Inspector Shelby announced that the man whose blood-stained clothing had been located in Baltimore several days after the killing had offered a perfect alibi. The stains on his clothing were found to have resulted from a hemorrhage of the nose.

This lead had been considered very important by police and Department of Justice agents. For several days an apartment house in Washington was shadowed by Department of Justice men.

Company Honors Veteran Workers

Three Virginians Receive Awards From Bell Telephone System.

In recognition of 52 years' service with the Bell Telephone System, Patrick Henry Sullivan was presented with a diamond emblem at a dinner at the Westmoreland Club in Richmond last night. Three other veteran members of the company were also honored. Mr. Sullivan was the first telephone operator in Virginia.

John C. Coons, vice president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Cos., presented the emblem. Speeches in praise of Mr. Sullivan were made by Mr. Coons and John C. Remon, general manager of the Virginia branch of the company. R. L. Wright, general plant manager of the company, was toastmaster.

Mr. Sullivan is at present right-of-way agent of the system. The other thrhee men who were honored are: J. W. Crews, 47 years' service; Wythe White, 49 years, and H. Oscar Eanes, 48 years. These three men have already received diamond emblems.

Wife, Minor, Files Plea Asking Limited Divorce

Beatrice Androus, a minor, through her sister and next friend, Evelyn Boinis, of Eighteenth street northwest near Columbia, road, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court seeking a limited divorce and maintenence from Arthur T. Androus, of Fourteenth street northwest near Columbia road.

They were married on July 3, 1927, and separated last Thursday. The wife charges that her husband has abused her and forced her to work every day in his confectionary shop. This, she states, she has done in addition to her household duties. Androus is said to own property valued at $50,000 and make a net income of at least $500 per month. Attorneys Hyman M. Goldstein and Charles E. Quigley appear for the wife.

Envoy Autoist Pays $9 As Fairfax County Fine

Alfred Schaublin, of the Switzerland Legation, in Washington, was arrested Sunday evening by Fairfax County Traffic Policeman A. M. Mills, at Groveton, Va., on the Washington-Richmond highway. Mills stated that the car Schaublin was driving was traveling at a high rate of speed and cutting in and out of traffic when he stopped it.

Schaublin was taken before Justice of the Peace George K. Pickett at Groveton and a charge of reckless driving was placed against him.

After hearing the testimony Justice Pickett imposed a fine of $5 and costs, amounting to $4, which was paid by Schaublin without protest, according to Policeman Mills, who also stated that because of the darkness he did not notice the car was a legation car until they arrived at the home of Justice Pickett and the driver's permit was exhibited. The justice asserted that if the man were guilty as charged he ought to be fined the same as any one else.

Youth Held on Murder Charge After Shooting

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., April 28.—Woodrow Adams, 18, was held by a trial justice at Amherst today to answer a charge of murder of Clinton J. Carr, 35, at Woodson, that county, Saturday evening. Carr was shot in the left eye and died at a hospital here at midnight.

Evidence showed the men had an earlier dispute at a store which was renewed at a barber shop Saturday evening. After the quarrel started barbers and spectators ran from the shop and there were no witnesses to the actual shooting. Adams' bond was set at $5,000.

Couple Ask $30,000 Damage in Auto Crash

As the result of an automobile accident April 8, 1929, at Massachusetts avenue and Second street northeast, Cordelia Yaste and her husband, William J. Yaste, both of 214 E street northeast, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $30,000 damages. Leah, Julius and Rebecca Shapiro, of Pennsylvania avenue southeast near Thirteenth street, are named defendants.

Mrs. Yaste seeks $25,000 for alleged permanent injuries while her husband asks for $5,000 for medical expenses and loss of his wife's services as a result of the accident. Allegation is made in both suits that an automobile truck owned by Julius Shapiro and operated by Leah Shapiro in the business of Rebecca Shapiro struck down and injured Mrs. Yaste. Attorneys Dickey and Kirz appear for the two plaintiffs.

Danville Council Asked To Delay Action on Bids

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., April 28.—The city council, which has been called to meet tomorrow night to recommend one of two bids for the purchase of the city-owned electric and gas plants, will be asked to defer action for two weeks in order to permit a firm of electrical engineers to scrutinize the bids of the Trip Utilities Corporation, of New York, and that of the Western Power, Light & Telephone Co., of Missouri, and to draft a report showing which is preferable.

One of the corporations favors the development of a water power station and the other the further development of the city's steam station.

Virginia Debut Is Made By Metropolitan Opera

Richmond, Va., April 28 (A.P.).—The Metropolitan Opera Company of New York made its debut in Virginia tonight, presenting to an audience comprising many visitors from neighbornig States the opera "La Traviata" at the opening event of a three-day musical festival here.

With Lucrezia Bori, Beniamino Gigli and Giuseppe de Luca taking the leading roles, the opera was offered to an enthusiastic audience that practically filled to capacity the Shrine Mosque Auditorium. Another Verdi opera, "Aida," will be presented tomorrow night. On Wednesday the New York company will offer Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman" and Donizetti's "Elixir of Love."

Funeral for Prominent Banker Is Set for Tomorrow.

Funeral services for W. Preston Gibson, prominent Takoma Park banker, who died early yesterday, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at his late home, 6936 Ninth street northwest. Interment will follow in Leesburg Cemetery.

Mr. Gibson, who was 50 years old, died in Emergency Hospital, following a cerebral hemorrhage. He was vice president and cashier of the Takoma Park Bank, and had recently been elected chairman of the newly organized chapter of the Maryland Bankers Association.

He came from Leesburg, Va., to Takoma Park in 1917, when the Takoma Park Bank was organized. Mr. Gibson graduated from William and Mary College and was a member of the Takoma Park Lodge of Masons.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eliza N. Gibson, of Upperville, Va.; a daughter, Miss Betty Wise Gibson, and four sisters, Mrs. William A. Reid, Washington; Mrs. V. B. Gochneur and Mrs. James S. Kincheloe, of Upperville, and Mrs. R. S. Hynson, Manassas, Va.

Directors and assistants of the Takoma Park Bank will serve as honorary pallbearers.

Man Sought in Killing Surrenders to Police

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 28.—William Welch, 29, a Negro, who is said to have shot and killed Mrs. Rosie Robinson, 35, a Negress, at her home here last Thursday, following a quarrel, surrendered to police today after returning to the home of a sister. He is said to have declared he was tired of dodging pursuit by officers.

A murder warrant was served on him and he was taken to jail. Welch said he accidentally shot the woman while scuffling with her.

Merchant Files Bankruptcy Plea.

Louis Mendelsohn, trading as the Capitol Five and Ten Cent Store, yesterday petitioned the District Supreme Court to adjudge him a bankrupt. He lists debts of $1,879.47 and assets of $550. Attorney Israel J. Mendelson appears for the petitioner.

'Ash Lawn' Fete Set for Thursday

Opening of Monroe Home Is Delayed as Children Change Plans.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 28.—Formal opening of Ash Lawn, historic home of James Monroe, set for today, the 172d anniversary of the birth of the fifth President of the United States, has been postponed until Thursday.

The delegation of school children from the Monroe High School, in New York City, was due to reach Charlottesville this morning, but plans for the trip were changed at the last moment and they will not be able to arrive until Thursday. Scores of pilgrims, ignorant of the fact that the celebration had been delayed, visited the landmark today.

Mrs. Rose Governeur Hooes, of Washington, descendant of Monroe, who is visiting Virginia Gardens this week, will reach Ash Lawn tomorrow to be the guest of the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Johns, of Pittsburgh. She will assist in receiving the New York school children on Thursday. Mrs. Johns was joined today by her daughter, Miss Therese Molyneaux, who arrived from abroad last week.

Woman Driver Is Hurt As Auto Crashes Pole

Mrs. Gertrude Hartson, of Capital Heights, Md., was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when the car in which she was riding hurled itself against a telephone pole following a blowout.

Mrs. Hartson was driving along a Maryland road near the District line when the car became uncontrollable. The machine was wrecked and she was found some time later by a motorist who took her to Casualty Hospital, where it was found that she had received serious injuries about the head. Her condition was said to be critical.

LEGISLATIVE MONEY BILL REPORTED OUT

$6,500,000 Increase Over Year's Appropriations Is Recommended.

HIGHER SALARIES ASKED

Recommending an increase over the present year's appropriations of nearly $6,500,000, the House appropriations committee yesterday reported out the legislative appropriation bill. The measure calls for an appropriation of $26,233,841 to be spent on Capitol Hill.

Much of this sum is to be spent for the beautification of the National Capital. Included in the program are the following items:

For continuing the construction of the new House Office Building $1,500,000 is recommended;

For continuing work on the new Supreme Court Building, $1,000,000, which is in addition to the sum of $500,000 previously appropriated;

As introduced yesterday, the bill provides salary increases for virtually all secretaries and clerks on Capitol Hill. It also provides for the continued employment of William A. Smith, congressional record clerk at the Capitol; Laura Bradley, Charles E. Fairman; Charles A. Howard and Henry W. Taylor.

Under the retirement act these four employes would be dropped in August. The action of the House appropriations committee in continuing their services is a recognition of their value to the Government.

BANDITS MASSACRE ENTIRE CHINA TOWN

were gaining strength and hoped with moderate assistance to vanquish the Red besiegers.

Communists who captured the city of Sinfeng, south of Kanchow, April 12, and murdered 200 inhabitants, were reported to have departed toward Anyuan and were believed to be transferring their operations to southern Fukien province.

Members of the Swedish mission at Kienli, Hupeh province, were reported to have fled from the city when it was attacked by 6,000 Communists.

Red Flag Waves in South China.

Amoy, China, April 28 (A.P.).—Communism is spreading in southwestern Fukien Province, South China, and the inhabitants of the region thus far have no inclination to put it down. Reports appearing in the radical vernacular press State that the people like the Communist form of government and hope to keep their own particular part of China that way.

In the northern part of the same province, an effort is being made to establish the same form of government. Aided by gangs of outlaws, the Red leaders have launched their campaign by sweeping over 100 square miles of fertile agricultural land, looting the homes and villages of those who resist and welcoming into the fold all who wish to be Communists.

An official of the Nanking regime is not much at home in this district. To show the hatred of the Nationalists the Communists recently boiled a Nanking adherent in a barrel of oil, using the main street of a village as the scene and inviting the whole countryside into town to see it.

Chu Is Master Red.

Gen. Chu Teh, once an adherent of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, and now a red, is the leader of the southern Fukien Soviet faction. Tutored by foreigners, he has proved a master Communist. Heading an army of some 50,000 Chinese Communists, he has seized a territory in western and southern Fukien almost 300 miles square, transforming it into a hotbed of Communism, with himself playing the role of a Lenin.

For months Amoy has provided a haven or refuge for dozens of American and British missionaries who were forced to flee before the Communists. They report atrocities of the most horrible character and forecast only a gloomy future for what was once one of the most peaceful sections of all China.

Engaged by a revolt in the North and a bandit suppression campaign in western China, Nanking has been unable to accomplish much in the way of suppressing the activities of the south China reds. As a result, Chu and his followers are gaining in power and there is a possibility that he may even succeed in again bringing Communism into Canton. He has dispatched several large bands into Kwangtung Province as feelers.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Throwing the gears into neutral or disengaging the clutch except momentarily when shifting gears is a violation of the Washington traffic regulations.

The law, which is similar to that in many States, recognizes that the engine makes an effective brake upon the motion of the car.

Example: A driver is a half a block from his home. The street is clear. He puts the gears into neutral and coasts up to the curb in front of his house. The whole thing has been perfectly safe. Still the regulation has been violated and rigid enforcement would result in a fine for the offender.

Walter Hampden stepped upon the stage at Poli's last night in the red robes of Cardinal Richelieu, opening a repertoire of plays that will mark the farewell of an ancient cathedral of dramatic art. The other plays to be presented in the final week of this old playhouse are "Caponsacchi" and "Hamlet."

In "Richelieu," Mr. Hampden treats his followers to a revamped version of Bulwer-Lytton's old play—a doctored script from the workshop of Arthur Goodrich, who, with Miss Rose A. Palmer, is also responsible for the dramatization of Browning's "The Ring and the Book," known as "Caponsacchi."

Somberness swung over Poli's last night as "Richelieu" was unfurled. One of the season's smartest audiences greeted the heavily creaking play—groaning and moaning despite the artistry of Walter Hampden and the high polish applied by the modern playwright, Goodrich, batting for Bulwer-Lytton.

In all justice it should be stated, at the very outset, that most of the heavy footedness in the play comes at the start; in the opening acts. After the clumsy beginning, the action moves on apace, Mr. Hampden grows in stature, and all is well with "Richelieu." At the end the proportions are gigantic.

Melodrama is rampant throughout "Richelieu," despite the priestly mein of its principal character and the royal and princely background of its settings. It smacks somewhat of the old ten-twent'-thirt' days of the theater, its machinations making a Roman holiday. And then again it is entertainment de luxe, which proves that melodrama, after all, is meant for the theatergoers.

The high supporting roles are in the hands of capable players, members of the Walter Hampden company. Moffat Johnston playing an amiable villain in Count de Baradas, Ernest Rowan, a very earnest Chevalier de Mauprat, whose heart runs away with his head, and all for the lady Julie de Mortemar, a role graced by Ingeborg Torrup. That old Shakespearean fellow, Cecil Yapp, is the Cardinal's Man Friday, turning up here as Francois, the Mum Sling monk.

There is not much to say about the old vehicle save that the Walter Hampden - Arthur Goodrich - Bulwer Lytton version seems to be an improvement over the original, an attempt to play down the time-worn lines, eliminate much of the cluttering array of asides and introspection of the cardinal, and get on with the work in hand. In this, the offering is really inspirational, and Walter Hampden a godsend to the stage.

NATIONAL

"Jerry," a rousing good comedy, gives the National Players another vehicle to add to their former weeks of successes.

In the three acts of Catherine Chisolm Cushing's story in which Billie Burke starred some years ago, there are many lines of good, sharp-fired talk which surely tickles the funny bone. And with all of this, the continued good team work of the National Players, puts over another show, which can not help but make new friends for the players and bring back the old.

Marion Wells, as the scheming "Jerry" who plays havoc with the love affairs of her cousin, Joan, shines in all her pranks, but climaxes her efforts in the last scene when she brings them all to their knees in apology.

Romaine Callender, as Montague Wade, is fine as the Englishman who was made the target in Jerry's love battle to get her Montague, the 20-year fiance of Joan. Adelaide Hibbard, as the irate Mother Harriet, always good, brings out many laughs. Walter Gilbert is cast as Montague, this long-time fiance, and for the short time he is on stage, gives a creditable performance.

"Jerry" is the story of a wild miss who loves the fiance of her cousin, Joan, whose courtship has run for a score of years. She schemes with Flagg to get Montague for herself and Joan for him, and in her scheming gets everyone in trouble. Jerry is always popping up into some new mischief in this tale of get-her-man. She is the author of the newspaper story of the break and make engagements and in the end scares everyone in the belief she has taken poison—but "Jerry" is victor and so is the audience.

This week's show is well staged, the scenery pleasing to the eye, and "Jerry" stunning in her many changes of gowns.

The popularity of this excellent company seems to be gaining since a capacity house greeted them last night.

Father and Son Made Receivers

Harry S. Welch, Jr., Files Plea for Dissolution of Business.

Justice Alfred A. Wheat, in District Supreme Court yesterday, appointed Harry S. Welch, jr., and his father, Harry S. Welch, as joint receivers of Welch Realtors. The appointment of the receivers was made on a petition by the son for the dissolution of the business. Bond of $1,000 was required of each.

Under the court order the Messrs Welch are directed to report to the court the condition of the business, and, if they find they can not reach an agreement, are empowered to appoint an accountant, who, in turn, is to report to the court. Funds of the firm are subject to the order of each of the receivers.

Coincident with the naming of the receivers Mr. Welch, sr., filed his answer to his son's petition. He denied many of the allegations, but admitted that difficulties had arisen. The father charges that the son has not been giving proper attention to the business. Attorneys Paul B. Cromelin and Bolitha J. Laws represent the father, while Attorney William C. Sullivan appears for the son.

POST LOCATES MANY MISSED BY CENSUS

Hundreds Clip Coupons and Send Them to Official for Counting.

AREAS ARE RECHECKED

Hundreds of persons who have not been enumerated in the census are being located through coupons that have appeared in The Post for the last few days, J. Sterling Moran, supervisor of the census in the District, announced yesterday.

Supervisor Moran described the cooperation of The Post in rounding up those who have missed the census as an invaluable aid. As quickly as the notification blanks reach the Census Bureau, enumerators are being dispatched to get particulars from the noncounted persons.

Supervisor Moran said that there are still a number of persons who are refusing point-blank to be included in the census. Letters are being sent to them reminding them that they are subject to a fine of $100 or 60 days in jail, or both, if they fail to meet the requests of the bureau. United States District Attorney Leo Rover has promised the census officials to push prosecution if these residents continue to be recalcitrant.

Enumerators are busy rechecking territories that were not completed during the prescribed census period of two weeks. Several of these territories were not thoroughly worked because enumerators quit on the job, Supervisor Moran said.

Eighth Victim Dies After Plane Crash

Murder Charge Against Pilot Expected To Be Reduced to Manslaughter.

Fayetteville, Tenn., April 28 (A.P.)—Milton P. Covert, pilot of an airplane that killed eight persons when it fell into a crowd Sunday afternoon appeared here today for a hearing and was released under $3,500 bond pending a preliminary examination May 9.

A murder charge filed against the pilot after the crash will be reduced to manslaughter before his preliminary examination, it was announced by Magistrate John A. Pool, who will hold the hearing.

Clyde Reynolds and Carl Stiles, passengers in the plane when it fell, were the only witnesses to testify today. They said it was their first flight and could assign no cause for the crash. The death list reached eight today when Jasper Hirlston, 40, a farmer, succumbed to injuries. Six were killed instantly and another died a few hours after the crash. Several injured remained in a hospital tonight.

WOMEN HEAR BITTER ASSAULT ON TARIFF

Bill Threatening Peace of World, Dr. Gray Tells Voters' League.

SAYS IT MAY STIR WAR

Louisville, Ky., April 28 (A.P.).—A virulent attack on the pending tariff bill as threatening the peace of the world and a mild recommendation of the London Disarmament Conference results as conducive to world peace occupied tonight's sessions of the League of Women Voters' tenth anniversary convention.

The conference spotlight was on the "peace world" session, at which Chester H. Rowell, of Berkeley, Calif., termed the results of the London Disarmament Conference "a three-power agreement with a string to it, and a five-power agreement that does not cover much."

"The practical thing," Rowell told the women voters, "is to support it as a step forward and to criticize it to educate the American people to the need of the next step."

Simultaneously, Dr. John Henry Gray, of Washington, D. C., was telling women students of living costs that the tariff would increase their board and clothes bills and tend toward another world war.

Time to Halt Madness.

"The most outrageous tariff bill ever proposed in any nation," Dr. Gray termed it. He cited the sugar schedule as the "most objectionable" item, "increasing cost of living for every man, woman and child in America" and as doing "irreparable injury to Cuba."

But such "domestic evils," he added, "sink into insignificance compared to evil effects on international relations and the peace of the world." Reporting that M. Briand this month is sending a questionnaire to 28 nations asking if they are willing to join an alliance to counteract our tariff policy, Dr. Gray declared it an "accepted belief" among them that they can not pay reparations if the American tariff policy is to limit their market for exports.

A "wholesale repudiation," he prophesied, "would probably result in world war and destruction of civilization. It is time for you to set a halt on such madness," he told the women voters.

Chester Rowell kept his disarmament address in lighter tenor with many humorous flashes.

Declaring that the London parley "did accomplish limitation of programs, postponement of replacement of battleships and some actual scrapping," he pronounced Stimson and his colleagues entitled to commendation, President Hoover to support in his effort for Senate ratification.

The Senate state of mind, Mr. Rowell said, "is that this is the world of 1913 and before," a mental attitude which he also attributed to Mussolini, on whose "broad shoulders" he laid "direct failure of this conference to accomplish more."

Novel Dinner Friday.

League leaders have indicated that they expect some disarmament indorsement action at this convention, the organization being strongly in favor of international cooperation to prevent war.

The efficiency in government conference heard Chairman Williamson, of the House expenditures committee, in an address advocating amalgamation of overlapping Government bureaus. Williamson declared one-fourth of the Federal Government's 590,000 employes, by adoption of methods obtaining in "every successful big business," could be lopped off the pay roll "with no detriment whatever to services rendered."

Trunks loaded with costumes of suffrage campaigns and celebrations of by-gone days arrived here today with several delegations preparing to add picturesqueness to the tenth anniversary birthday dinner Friday night.

Death of Californian By Auto Held Accident

A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of death by accident after the investigation into the death of Frank J. Stillwell, of Glendale, Calif., who was struck by a car driven by George Klefsiades, 21 years old, of 1451 S street northwest, Saturday afternoon.

Stillwell was struck as he was crossing the intersection of Connecticut avenue and California street. Klefsiades had been held pending the coroner's investigation. He was represented by Attorney Soterios Nicholson.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THE great pity or fortune, according to whichever side you are on in this fight, is that there is no one in the Senate who will get up, or who is capable of getting up and defending Judge Parker with the skill, eloquence or logic with which Senator Borah attacked him.

And even if any other senator had these attributes the chances are that he would not be as well prepared as is the senator from Idaho.

He is in this fight now which means that he has been sitting up nights instead of gallivanting about, reading every book and authority that he could find on the subject. It is a safe bet that there is no better posted man on the subject matter of Judge Parker in the country today than Senator Borah, and this would likely apply with considerable degree to Judge Parker himself.

* * * *

IN fact, it might not be amiss, when this fight is all over and everybody has gone back to the even tenor of his way, when those who are here in behalf of the judge's confirmation and those who have been here against him have gone back to work—it might not be amiss then for the judge to talk with Senator Borah about himself. Because the senator is a student of the judge now, a man well informed about him and his relation to law.

It is the way the senator does business. He does not wade into a matter unprepared. Even if he stuttered and stammered in speech, which he most certainly does not, it would be very hard to disturb him in the present debate because he has boned up on everything that can be dug up on the case.

The fact that he has done so and that he always does this, coupled with his ability to say clearly what he thinks, is what makes him fascinating in a fight whether you agree with him or not.

* * * *

OF course, the defenders of Judge Parker will not be anything like as well prepared. In the first place, there has been so much concern in the Republican ranks about this business that it has not yet been definitely determined who the defenders will be.

Senator Henry Allen seems to have been nominated as one at the last minute. Even if he were a prodigy, which he is not, he could not hope to be ready for several days, and there is not that much time to be had. And in the absence of this preparation one got a glimpse yesterday of how one-sided the defense will be. His exact words are not recalled, but the chief defense counsel, Mr. Allen, arising in his seat, said something like this:

"Did not Chief Justice Taft once rule that peaceful picketing could be enjoined?"

"He did not," responded Senator Borah. "What Mr. Taft said was that peaceful picketing when engaged in by a large number of men could take the form of intimidation."

And Mr. Borah thereby took Mr. Allen off his feet so quickly that many of those in the galleries who had leaned over the balcony rail to see where that complacent interruption was coming from could see nothing tangible, leaving them to conclude, of course, that the voice had been that of a ghost or something of the kind.

Two American Women Die in Crash in France

Lemans, France, April 28 (A.P.).—Two American women, said to be from Pasadena, Calif., were killed in an automobile accident today on the Bayonne-Paris highway near the village of Cloyes, between Vendome and Chateaudun. Two others were hurt.

Miss Eleanor Lucas, aged 50, and Miss Anna Loring, aged 70, were killed when their machine skidded and was wrecked against a tree. Their bodies were taken to the Chateaudun hospital. Miss Grace Richard and Miss Jane Loring were hurt. The four women, all of whom were said to be from Pasadena, were returning to Paris from a trip to Biarritz, the famous Basque Country resort.

$130,000 Damages Plea Is Filed by Distributor

Breach of contract is alleged in a suit for $130,000 damages filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court against the Orange Crush Co., of Chicago, by Stephen D Lefas, of 911 Second street northeast.

Mr. Lefas charges that on October 29, 1919, the company gave him exclusive and perpetual franchise for distribution of Orange Crush, Lime Crush, and Lemon Crush in the District of Columbia. The franchise was canceled on March 22 last in violation of the terms of the contract entered into between the plaintiff and the defendant, the former charges. Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer appears for Lefas.

STOCK BUYING DEAL IN MERGER ALLEGED

Proponents of Steel Combine Said to Have Bought 60,000 Shares.

NEW INJUNCTION ASKED

Cleveland, Ohio, April 28 (A.P.).—Proponents of the billion-dollar merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation purchased, shortly before Sheet & Tube stockholders voted approval, more than enough shares to put the merger over, according to testimony prepared today for introduction in the court fight to block it.

Nine million dollars were spent by Pickands, Mather & Co., of Cleveland, for 60,000 shares of Sheet & Tube stock a few days before the books were closed for the recent stockholders' electon which voted approval of an announced margin of 58,000 shares, Samuel E. Bool, of the Cleveland firm, said.

Another member of Pickands, Mather & Co., Elton Hoyt 2d, who like Bool made a deposition for presentation at the hearing at Youngstown on the injunction suit, said his firm made the 60,000 share purchase "to protect the interest we felt we had in Sheet and Tube." While this testimony was being assembled here, the fight of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland capitalist and a large Sheet and Tube stockholder, to invalidate the merger vote, was furthered in Youngstown by the filing of a second injunction suit. The suit is almost identical with one filed by the same plaintiffs, Myron C. Wick, jr., and the International Share Corporation, an Eaton company, last week.

It adds the names of officials of Sheet and Tube as codefendants and sets forth that it is brought in behalf of the plaintiffs and all other shareholders.

Eastern Reparations Accord Signed in Paris

Paris, April 28 (A.P.).—An Eastern reparations accord between Hungary and Bulgaria and the little entente countries was definitely signed at the French foreign office today by delegates of all the countries concerned.

Signature of the accord makes it possible for Italy to ratify the Young plan immediately, as Czechoslovakia is now committed to remit to Italy the sums necessary for the latter to pay Great Britain under the decisions taken at The Hague last August. Italy has been delaying ratification of the Young plan pending signature of the Eastern reparations areement.

SCIENTISTS STUDY ECLIPSE OF SUN

other points along the shadows' course where astronomers and photographers had gathered to observe and record the event were optimistic. Early reports told of drizzles and clouds. Later the sky cleared up and astronomers believed they had obtained perfect photographs. A peculiar phenomenon was noticed at the exact second of totality. Coming apparently from nowhere a cloud gathered over the moon. This was said by scientists to be peculiar to an eclipse and possibly was due to sudden condensation of moisture in the atmosphere where the sun's heat was shut off.

The period of totality was so short, about 1.3 seconds, that few pictures were taken.

Viewed from Washington, only 47 per cent of the sun was covered at the peak of the eclipse yesterday, but clouds stole the show, and many who had prepared smoked glasses were unable to see the phenomenon.

From 2:09 p. m., when the eclipse started, until about 2:45 p. m., the black edge of the moon could be seen cutting into the sun, but after that time dense clouds completely blotted out the picture. At 3:23, the time of the greatest eclipse here, it was but little darker than the average cloudy day. The eclipse ended at 4:30 p. m.

GANDHI MAKES NEW MOVE IN CAMPAIGN

Authorizes Nonpayment of Land Taxes in Two Districts.

WIFE WARS ON RUM

Bombay, April 28 (A.P.).—In the absence of any serious disorders today, Mahatma Gandhi introduced a new move in his civil disobedience campaign that may mean more trouble for the British authorities. The Nationalist leader authorized a nonpayment of land revenue taxes in the districts of Broach and Taluka, and that, in the opinion of observers here, may have serious consequences.

Mrs. Gandhi sponsored the chief activity of the Mahatma's nonviolent program today. With women volunteers in two motor buses she left Jalapur for Onjar to carry on the fight against liquor. The women followed their usual procedure of picketing saloons and marching in the streets while chanting songs against the evils of drink.

At Karachi, 3,000 Nationalists burned a pile of foreign-made cloth 15 feet high, while a British Army airplane watched from high above. The demonstrators paraded through the streets, chanting songs against the government and escorting the cloth in three camel carts.

Other refrigerators can claim quietness—but only Electrolux is absolutely silent

THE tick of a clock doesn't make much noise. But when you're alone in the house it can penetrate like the beat of a drum. The scampering of a mouse across the floor isn't the loudest noise in the world—but in the middle of the night it comes with startling distinctness.

When you buy an automatic refrigerator, it isn't enough to choose one that is fairly quiet, that makes only a little noise. Why not choose one that makes no sound at all—that can't ever grow noisy?

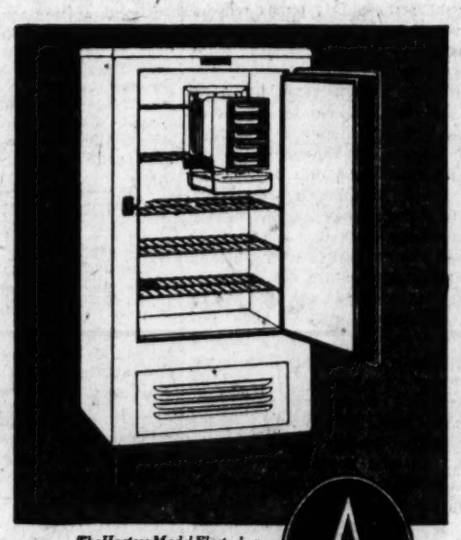
Electrolux, the Gas Refrigerator, will always be absolutely silent. It has nothing to make sound—no machinery, no moving parts at all. The cold is created by means of a tiny gas flame and a little trickle of water. The flame vaporizes the liquid refrigerant. The water-trickle condenses it back into liquid form. Nothing complicated about that, is there?

Electrolux maintains a more even, steady cold than other refrigerators can. That is because they have to stop and start, while Electrolux does not. It goes on working, silently, efficiently, all the time. And because it operates without pause, it freezes ice cubes very quickly. This is an important advantage when you have guests, and need an extra-large supply of ice.

This refrigerator is as fool-proof as can be. It never needs your attention. The refrigerant is welded for life inside a rigid, one-piece steel unit. It never needs renewal. Even the tiny gas flame is guarded night and day by an automatic shut-off. No gas can flow unless the flame is lighted.

QUICK FACTS!

1. Permanently noiseless.
2. Absolutely safe.
3. Only a few cents a day to operate.
4. Lasts indefinitely.
5. No mechanism to wear, to vibrate, to need oil.
6. Free from trouble.
7. Perpetual, steady cold.
8. Plenty of pure ice cubes.
9. Tested and endorsed by national authorities.



The Hostess Model Electrolux, a roomy refrigerator for average families. Five cubic feet of food space; makes 45 large ice cubes.

A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts.

And the beauty of it is that this refrigerator costs less to use than any other kind. Even ice probably costs you twice as much as the operating cost of Electrolux. 35 to 55 cents a week covers everything for all sizes except the extra-large one, with 70 cents a week the very outside operating cost for that.

You pay no premium for the silence and low operating cost of Electrolux. Prices are no higher than those of other automatic refrigerators, size for size— $220 to $455 depending upon model you need. Purchase terms are very liberal. Many models to choose from. See them at our display rooms. And send coupon below for complete illustrated information.

Pep in GROWING CHILDREN

—comes mainly from right feeding. Buoyant health—bubbling energy—sturdy bodies and strong muscles—these, in growing children, are largely the result of a wisely directed diet. Lack of vitality can often be corrected by a change to foods containing the elements that little bodies need.

Mueller's Macaroni contains all important food elements. Here is a health food of the highest order. Made of a selected blend of farina—the most nourishing part of the wheat—it is easily digested and highly nutritious. It has just the elements needed by growing youngsters to build health, strength and energy.

Most Easily Digested

Children love this better macaroni. Made by exclusive processes, it cooks up light and fluffy, with a distinctive taste that never fails to tempt even the most finicky of childish appetites. It is easy to digest, too —even by children just out of infancy.

Cooks in 9 Minutes

American housewives often overcook macaroni. The rare fluffiness and lightness of Mueller's Macaroni is realized in its ideal form by following the directions on the package and boiling nine minutes. If especial tenderness is desired, one or two more minutes may be allowed. Buy a package of Mueller's Macaroni today. Serve it tonight. After that, you'll be sure to have it often. Your grocer has Mueller's, or can quickly get it for you.

There are hundreds of ways in which Mueller's macaroni products can be prepared, all delicious. Send for our book of recipes illustrated in color. No cost or obligation. Just write to BUSINESS ON THE JOB.

Business men from all sections of the country are assembled in Washington to survey the results of the cooperative stabilization movement initiated last winter by President Hoover, and to inquire into the prospects for the future. In this group every shade of political conviction may be found, yet these men are united in a common cause under the United States Chamber of Commerce. Their deliberations will be guided not by theory or political interest, but by definite economic facts. Stabilization of industry and commerce is their business.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the national business survey conference appointed by President Hoover, has forecast what this distinguished business group will find in its analysis of conditions since the stock market setback last fall. Credit is plentiful. The volume of new capital obtained by producing and distributing corporations during the first quarter of this year was only slightly under the record-breaking total for the corresponding period of 1929. Heavy withdrawals from building and loan associations indicate increased residential construction. Contracts for other types of construction are holding up well, with utilities and public works far in the lead. Revenue paid the Government for the first nine months of this fiscal year increased $140,274,000 in spite of a reduction in the tax rates.

That the cooperative stabilization movement diminished the force of the shock the country suffered last fall is not open to question. Industry is carrying out the program adopted in the President's conferences, and while production has been adjusted to meet current needs, steady improvement is being made. There is every reason to believe that the country is resuming its full industrial pace.

Much of the credit for this achievement must be given to the business executives who are now assembled in Washington. They have supported the President regardless of politics. Democrats and Republicans alike are devoting their energies toward improvement of the business situation. The success of this undertaking suggests that problems of this kind can be solved without the aid of Congress. While politicians have theorized and sought to capitalize the situation in their forthcoming election contests, business men have put their heads together and steered the country through a most difficult period.

It is encouraging to find these same practical-minded executives devoting their attention to the problems growing out of last winter's depression. Prevention of unemployment is the most important task confronting the country. Congress is attempting to deal with the subject, but every one knows that its action, if it acts at all, will be insignificant as compared with the united efforts of American industries. Any political measure can only touch the fringe of this great problem, while a stabilization policy adopted by the business world will strike at its very center.

When business is organized to meet its own emergencies, solve its own problems, and regulate its own conduct, a thriving and prosperous nation is the result. So long as business is conducted on a high plane and is competent to look after the welfare of its employes, there will be no excuse for the efforts of radicals who are trying to commit the Government to socialism. The people will never tolerate Government intrusion into business if industry and commerce show a disposition to shoulder social responsibilities that arise from the nature of their relations with the public. The fact that American business is doing this leaves no excuse for political excursions into the field of economics.

American business genius, backed by the greatest resources in the world, is on the job. The concentration of the country's business intelligence means that the handicaps to prosperity will be swept aside, and that the United States will continue to lead the world in enterprise and production of wealth.

CONGRESS AND THE DISTRICT.

The 1931 District appropriation bill reported yesterday to the Senate is superior in many respects to the bill passed recently by the House, despite the fact that it reduces the total appropriation by $1,422,000. The reduction is made possible by a recommended $2,000,000 decrease in the allotment for the municipal center project. There are many reasons why the municipal center should be pushed through to early completion, chief among them being the fact that the present quarters of the District government are overcrowded. But the development contemplated partakes of a national character and, in view of the many purely local needs that cry for attention, it would be wise to spread its cost over a longer period so that money would be available meantime for more urgent purposes. The Senate bill would make available for the municipal center $1,000,000 instead of $3,000,000. Such an appropriation would be ample to carry the project along.

The bill reported to the Senate is distinctly superior to the House bill in these particulars: It would eliminate the provision for transferring teachers to the elementary schools from the kindergartens; it would restore the $8,000 rental appropriation for the House of Detention; it would make possible the appointment of 25 additional policemen for the proposed police training school, and it would add considerably to the appropriations for schools. Most important of all, the Senate measure would increase the lump-sum Federal appropriation from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000.

When a $9,000,000 lump sum appropriation was first written into a District bill in place of a proportionate contribution, it represented approximately 40 per cent of the total, or about as much as the Government would have contributed under the 60-40 division specified in substantive law. The cost of operating the District government has increased year by year, but the lump sum has been held static. Today it represents in the neighborhood of but 20 per cent of the total budget. The $12,000,000 lump sum provided in the Senate bill comes reasonably close to representing 40 per cent of the cost of operating the District.

The Senate always has shown a sympathy with the District of Columbia, with its people and with their governmental problems. It has been the self-appointed watchdogs of the Treasury in the House who have stood between the people of Washington and fiscal justice. The House watchdogs will undoubtedly oppose increasing the lump sum, but the time has arrived when it may be hoped that the Senate will exercise its right to participate in formulating the financial policy of the District. If the House fixes upon a $9,000,000 lump sum as the payment to be exacted for the enactment of the bill, the Senate should resist this holdup, even if the bill must be sacrificed. A joint resolution reappropriating the sums carried for the present fiscal year could be enacted before adjournment and in the meantime the two houses could create a joint committee to examine into the fiscal relations of the Federal and District governments in order to ascertain the proper proportions that should be contributed respectively by the Treasury and the District taxpayers.

A determined stand by the Senate can put an end to the annual refusal of Congress to contribute the Nation's honest and rightful share of the cost of maintaining and developing its own Capital.

DEVELOPMENTS IN INDIA.

The Bombay correspondent of the London Daily News reports that the growth of strength of Mahatmi Gandhi during the last fortnight has been almost phenomenal. Certainly affairs in India have been moving steadily toward a crisis. Gandhi's chief aids and lieutenants have been arrested and imprisoned. The manufacture of salt in contravention of the monopoly continues. Riots have broken out in all sections of the country. Blood has been shed in considerable quantities. British forces are concentrating and censorship has been imposed. But the riots and bloodshed are not directly Gandhi's doing. They are the responsibility of the violent element that has chosen this opportunity to assert itself.

The Indian millions are untrained and unorganized. They are arrayed against a government that has trained, organized troops with which to enforce its decrees. In armed conflict the government undoubtedly could put down the Nationalists in short order. But it is not Gandhi's plan to engage in armed conflict. He foresaw the fact that the civil disobedience campaign would result in disorder and rioting and he warned his followers that the pathway to freedom was not a bloody one. The physical clashes were not of his making and although unquestionably they are bothersome to the government, they are not particularly significant in the drama that is being enacted.

It is significant that Congress House in Bombay has been turned into a Nationalist headquarters where considerable numbers of civil disobedience volunteers are being enrolled and from which the salt manufacturing campaign is being directed. It is significant that the Nationalists have succeeded in paralyzing business in Peshawar and that new aspects of civil disobedience are about to be employed. If Gandhi can retain his following, it seems likely that, in the long run, he can attain his ends. Since nationalism has come to be a religion with millions of Indians, it does not seem that the rebellion can be put down. The riots and the bloodshed are only surface manifestations of the movement that is under way. They will not lead to an alteration in the form of India's government, but noncooperation may.

BRAIN POWER FROM A PEANUT.

Dr. Francis G. Benedict and Cornelia G. Benedict, of the Carnegie Institution, are responsible for the disconcerting information that one oyster cracker or half of a salted peanut supplies all the extra energy the body needs to enable the brain to work at top speed and efficiency for a period of one hour. Compare the nourishment contained in half a salted peanut with that contained in the average man's daily fare! What becomes of the excess energy created from the fuel stoked into the physiological furnace every 24 hours? Today man husbands the expenditure of physical energy. He rides to his office. He sits in a swivel chair and pushes buttons to have his needs brought to him. He rides home at night and until bedtime he does little but sit. Once a week, perhaps, he plays a little golf, but he piles in fuel every day from which, it would seem, there is precious little return.

The catch must be that only oyster crackers and peanuts supply the kind of energy required for superior mental output. The typical diet is noticeably deficient in these staples. Peanuts, for that matter, are not generally regarded as items of diet. Occasionally one finds them sprinkled over a salad or perched atop a dessert, but generally the peanut is reserved for between-meal nibbling at circuses and ball games. Oyster crackers, of course, are edible only in the "R" months.

The research of Dr. Benedict and his collaborator suggests a way to increase the intellectual output of humankind. If half a peanut or an oyster cracker supply the brain's demand for nourishment while it is engaged in an hour's intensive activity, a saltine consumed when he begins his labor should make the average man an intellectual giant and a saltine eaten with a whole peanut should enable him to put Einstein to shame. Pass the crackers and peanuts, please! Step up, Congress, and eat your fill!

8-INCH vs. 6-INCH CRUISERS IN BATTLE

By Commander HOLLOWAY H. FROST, U. S. N.

(This is the second of a series of three articles. The first appeared April 28 and the third will appear tomorrow.)

Today we present an estimate of the relative value of 8-inch and 6-inch cruisers in a fleet action of the future. As such a battle, if fought to a finish, will virtually decide the war, the provision of the ships to win it has always formed the basis of our naval policy. Thus the battleship, built entirely for battle, has always been termed the "backbone of the fleet." After the line of fifteen battleships, our cruiser force is the most important element of the fleet in battle. The drastic limitation of destroyers and submarines in the London treaty will enhance the battle value of our cruisers.

The principal duties of cruisers in battle are:

First, to report the movements and dispositions of the hostile fleet.

Second, to attack enemy capital ships with torpedoes.

Third, to clear the way for a torpedo attack by our destroyers.

Fourth, to check the attack of enemy destroyers.

The naval battle of the future will probably be fought at ranges of from 10 to 15 sea miles. The smoke of guns and stacks first will obscure the battlefield. Burning ships and smoke screens laid by destroyers and aircraft will make it impossible for any one in the battleship line to determine what the enemy is doing. The accounts of the Battle of Jutland, written after the war, showed that the rival commanders, even at that late date, were completely in the dark as to what had actually happened. One of the outstanding lessons of that battle was that cruisers should have been used much more freely to determine what the enemy was doing behind the smoke screens.

It is true that now aircraft furnish a means of obtaining information which did not exist at Jutland. However, the planes attached to carriers and battleships already have important duties. Also, air operations will commence long before the battleships open fire. These operations will be initiated by bombing and strafing attacks on the extremely vulnerable carriers. We will therefore find our air effort largely expended early in the action. Jutland proved that it was in the later and decisive stages that information of the enemy was most vital. Cruisers, therefore, must be available for assignment to this duty.

Should the cruisers have any planes remaining, they will be useful in locating the various enemy detachments and bringing the cruisers into contact with them. As the 8-inch cruiser carries 4 planes to the 6-inch cruiser's 2, it is more likely that she will have some planes still in commission. However, it is far more probable that the cruisers will have to drive in without air assistance to find the enemy battleships. This involves close-range surprise encounters with submarines, destroyers and cruisers and moderate-range contacts with battleships. In practically every form of such encounters the 6-inch cruiser will have a decided advantage over the 8-inch cruiser. Its shorter length, more shallow draft, and greater maneuverability give it a better chance to avoid the torpedoes fired by submarines and destroyers. Its handy, rapid-firing guns will be more effective against destroyers than the 8-inch guns of the larger cruiser. These same guns will also be effective against the thin armor of the 8-inch cruisers at close range. Finally, if battleships or battle cruisers are met at moderate ranges, the 6-inch cruiser has a much better chance of dodging their salvos, and even of counterattacking with its torpedoes. Because of its greater suitability for torpedo warfare its latest design—as illustrated by the German cruiser Leipzig—provides for twelve torpedo tubes against six for the 8-inch cruiser.

In clearing the way for a torpedo attack by our destroyers and in checking a similar attack by enemy destroyers the conditions are much the same as when the mission is the gaining of information or the firing of torpedoes. But in this case, instead of chance encounters between single ships or small detachments, there will be a rapid succession of shocks between dense masses of cruisers and destroyers, supported by the fire of battleships. The superior handiness, smaller size, large torpedo armament, greater rate of fire, and larger ammunition supply of the 6-inch cruiser fit it perfectly for fighting in such a melee. On the other hand, the large cruiser, with its heavy guns and thin armor, is designed for a single ship action at long range. It is an unbalanced craft, with great offense and little defense. Its effectiveness will be reduced in the confusion of a fleet action. Its guns have a comparatively slow rate of fire. Its ammunition supply is very limited. Its armor is too thin to be of much practical value. Its unhandiness and great size render it at the same time a fine target for the torpedoes of destroyers and submarines and the great guns of battleships and battle cruisers.

The following is my conclusion as to the relative merits of the 7,400-ton 6-inch and the 10,000-ton 8-inch cruisers in the fleet action:

First, the 8-inch cruiser is not designed for use in battle, while the 6-inch cruiser is well designed for such use and has been tested in actual fighting.

Second, a given tonnage of 6-inch cruisers is superior to an equal tonnage of 8-inch cruisers in the fleet action, probably by as much as 10 per cent.

A third article will discuss trade warfare and present a final conclusion as to the relative value of 6-inch and 8-inch cruisers to the United States.

JUST FOLKS

FAMILY RESEMBLANCE.

Her mother says, when Janet pouts
And has her little tantrum bouts,
In tones peculiarly sad:
"You're just the image of your dad!"

But when those lovely eyes are mild
And she is an obedient child,
She tells me then with family pride;
"Those traits come from her mother's side."

I sometimes think that I can trace
My family in her happy face,
And in her dainty charms can see
Reflections of my ancestry.

But it must be that I am wrong,
To mother Janet's smiles belong;
'Tis only when she's being bad
She's just exactly like her dad.

Yet later on, when years have flown,
And she to womanhood has grown;
I hope the whole wide world will see
How like her mother she can be.

The Skies Are Clearing

The Hired Help Will Eat Mutton If the Boss Never Counts the Sheep.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

It has become the fashion among those who call themselves liberals to scold private citizens who "meddle" in matters of public interest.

Their contention is that mere people should keep quiet and leave affairs of state to elected officials.

But officials no longer rule by divine right, and the citizen who interests himself in public affairs isn't a meddler.

How can a man "meddle" in his own business?

Citizenship confers privileges, but it also imposes obligations, and the humblest citizen must share responsibility with the highest official.

You can't be a good citizen and call the Government "they."

"We, the people" are the government and, like it or not, we are responsible for every foolish and unjust law that remains unrepealed, for every hanging and electrocution, for the brazen outlawry of racketeers, for official corruption and private graft, and for every folly and fault that shames America.

It would be pleasant to go about our money-getting with a clear conscience and blame officials for the present disregard of law, but officials are neither better nor worse than the people who keep them in office and the best of them are helpless without the cooperation of the people.

Men who will do their best work without a boss to prod them are rare, and officials are no exception.

Supported and spurred by the citizens who employed them, they do their duty as best they can; forgotten and left to do as they please, they usually do little more than draw their pay.

The citizen must "meddle" or see his country preyed upon and pillaged and dishonored.

When the headlines in the public prints shock and shame you, you can't escape responsibility by saying it is no fault of yours.

You are a citizen, aren't you—a shareholder in this business we call a nation?

Who else is to blame, if not you?

You tolerate reckless driving; you tolerate the corruption of our young people, the bribery of Government agents, organized crime, obscene literature, miscarriage of justice, the third degree, dishonest advertising, quackery, abuse of the radio—every wrong, big and little, that afflicts America.

This is your country and you can't evade responsibility for what happens in it.

If the decent people don't "meddle," much and often, the vandals will leave them little to meddle with.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Opinion of a Prominent Member of the Bar on Judge Parker's Qualifications.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have read with much interest your recent editorials in re nomination of Judge John J. Parker for the Supreme Court.

In my opinion it would be difficult to make more pertinent or just utterances on the subject than those contained in your editorial "Judge Parker's Case" in the issue of April 20, and the editorial "Afraid to Call Judge Parker" in the issue of April 22; and in the editorial "To Southern Senators" in the issue of April 23.

No reasons have been advanced for the rejection of Judge Parker's nomination except such as indicate a purpose on the part of a few politicians to prostitute the Federal judiciary to political and class purposes.

On March 10 I wrote a letter to the President recommending the appointment of Judge Parker for no reason in the world except I assumed the selection would be made from the South and in running over in my mind the Federal judges who are from this section, Judge Parker's was the outstanding name on the list, in my judgment.

I did not at the time know what his political affiliations were or anything about his political history. All I knew was that as a judge he seemed to me preeminently qualified to be of great service on our highest court. There is no particular in which his qualifications for special service on this court are not exceptional. To me it is deplorable that political and class prejudice should be injected into such a situation. The President certainly showed splendid judgment in his selection of Judge Parker. It would have been difficult for him to name a more eminently qualified judge from any section of the country.

Holders of Jobs Who Do Not Need Work Should Be First to Go if Helpers Must Be Laid Off.

To the Editor of The Post: Sir: I have been reading with interest your editorial, "Fighting Unemployment," in today's Post, and the extracts from the report of the New York committee on stabilization of industry, the suggestions of which seem to be admirable, particularly that of keeping the employes at work all the time—the whole force on part-time work rather than part of the force all the time. There is one phase of the unemployment problem, however, which I have not seen touched upon, namely, the number of women at work who do not need to work—both married and single—who thereby take positions which men might have and be able to support families. Young women whose fathers are well off or in good business and able to provide for a daughter or two go out to work so as to have money to spend on fine clothing, fur coats, &c.; and married women, also, whose husbands have but them to provide for, are holding down good jobs that some capable man might fill, and from the salary received rear a little family of future citizens.

I would suggest to the New York committee on stabilization of industry that it include in its recommendations the canvass of all such places of business and, when a laying-off must come, the ones to go—first, at any rate, be those employes who have no absolute need of earning a living; namely, the class of workers mentioned above. I think the economists will have to admit, sooner or later, that one great cause of unemployment is that there are not enough jobs to go round.

Unnecessary Automobile Traffic in Business Section Creates Serious Congestion.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There is unnecessary travel on business streets. It is the natural human inclination of drivers, as well as pedestrians, to seek the route where they can view the passing crowd when their drives or walks abroad carry them across town. In so doing the interference of automobiles with what I will call legitimate traffic may be very great in crowded city blocks. I might exemplify by numerous business sections in Washington, but let F street, between Ninth and Tenth suffice. The traffic on this Great White Way, or whatever the cub reporter chooses to call it, of the National Capital, is generally so congested that the addition of a single vehicle will directly affect it and the slightest disturbance will cause a jam. Even during rush hours traffic on F street is hampered by hundreds of automobiles which would better take some other route, thereby reaching their destinations, if they have any, more expeditiously.

If the day ever comes when all automobilists are public-spirited enough to avoid unnecessary travel on congested streets, there will be a great improvement over present conditions. Perhaps a campaign of education in this connection would be a good thing.

Recondite Statistical Prognostications Adumbrating Victory by Old Fox and Geese.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Several days ago I prophesied a bright prospect ahead of our ball club because they had scored three home runs, credited to West, Bluege and Cronin, in their first four games, at which rate the aggregate for the season would be 77. In imagination I could hear the razzy guffaws with which the Gloomy Gusses of fandom would greet my optimistic outlook. But up to this time it has been vindicated with something to spare. Goslin and Cronin with 2 each, West and Myer with 1 each, have added 6 more to the home-run total, making 9 home runs in all for the first eleven games. If this ratio is maintained the season's home-run aggregate will be exactly 126.

In further vindication of the home-run dope of us hopeful fans, the team standing of the Griffs' parallels their four-bagger record, the club being now well set in first place with an average of .818. Come on, Goose! Come on, Geese! Hurray for the Old Fox and Geese!

Vice President Is Entertained At Dinner Fete

Mrs. George Mesta Is Hostess to Group at Her Home.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WITH Vice President Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann as guests of honor, Mrs. George Mesta entertained at dinner last evening in her apartment at 1785 Massachusetts avenue, this hospitality being followed by an hour of music. Some fifty or sixty guests arrived in time for the musicale, augmenting the dinner company. The program was presented by Albert Spaulding, violinist, with Andre Benoist as accompanist.

The Ambassador of Brazil, Senor S. Gurgel do Amaral, was among Mrs. Mesta's guests at dinner, the company also including Mrs. James J. Davis, Representative and Mrs. M. Clyde Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Adams, of New York, the latter a sister of the hostess; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thieriot, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. P. Pell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Higgins, Mrs. Christian R. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spaulding, Mr. William M. Sullivan, Mr. George Washington, Mr. Lawrence Butler, Mr. Maury Paul and Mr. Frank Phillips.

This was the crowning event of a busy day for the Vice President and Mr. and Mrs. Gann. Mrs. Gann had been guest of honor at a large and brilliant luncheon given for her by Mrs. Harry Clay Ransley and the two men went to Pimlico to witness the running of the Dixie Handicap and to attend Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's luncheon at the clubhouse at which Gov. Albert Ritchie of Maryland, and officials of the New York and Maryland Jockey Clubs were guests.

An ardent race fan, Vice President Curtis might be tempted some day to adjourn the Senate in order to "make" the races, following a precedent established in 1877 when the United States Congress was adjourned to permit attendance of the legislators at the Pimlico track.

Nearly 100 guests assembled at the Mayflower for Mrs. Ransley's party in honor of Mrs. Gann. The luncheon was served in the Chinese room at a table laid in the form of a cross. It was decorated in pink roses, lilacs and Easter lilies in great silver vases, with tall blue candles ranged between.

Senora de Tellez, wife of the Mexican Ambassador, and Senora de Davila, wife of the Chilean Ambassador, were in the company, as were Senora de Alfaro, Senora de Grisanti, Senora de Diez de Medina and Mrs. James J. Davis.

The company also included Mrs. Porter H. Dale, Mrs. Charles L. McNary, Mrs. Tasker L. Oddie, Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, Mrs. Charles W. Waterman, Mrs. Henry Justin Allen, Mrs. Henry Allen Cooper, Mrs. Edward W. Pou, Mrs. Fred A. Britten, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. Clyde Kelly, Mrs. Guy E. Campbell, Mrs. Bertrand H. Snell, Mrs. Homer Hoch, Mrs. Wallace H. White, Mrs. Ernest R. Ackerman, Mrs. E. Hart Fenn, Mrs. Charles Abernethy, Mrs. Frederick M. Davenport, Mrs. Randolph Perkins, Mrs. Sol Bloom, Mrs. William E. Hull, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn, Mrs. Harcourt J. Pratt, Mrs. James M. Beck, Mrs. Joe Crail, Mrs. Victor Houston, Mrs. Charles P. Summerall, Mrs. William D. Connor, Mrs. C. L'H. Ruggles, Mrs. William D. Chandler, Mrs. Charles Kennedy, Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Osmond Latrobe, Mrs. Parker West, Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, Mrs. Van Dradel, Mrs. William Sherman Walker, Mrs. Samuel Williams Earle, Mrs. Finis J. Garrett, Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Mrs. Everett Sanders, Miss Callie Doyle, Mrs. William Corby, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. Richard Lane, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Victor Kauffmann, Mrs. Ralph Richards, Mrs. Harry Dougherty.

Also Mrs. William Laird Dunlop, Jr.; Mrs. George Mesta, Mrs. William D. West, Mrs. Lucy Wilder Morris, Mrs. F. H. Mistretta, Mrs. Robinson Downey, Mrs. Edward Avery Hamilton, Mrs. Morris Evans, Miss Maud McDougall, Mrs. Cabot Stevens, Miss Roberta Bradshaw, Mrs. Charles Le Fevre, Mrs. Ralph Richards, Mme. Von Lewinski, Mrs. Harold Smoot, Mrs. William D. Dennis, Mrs. George R. McAbee, Mrs. Louis August Belmont, Mrs. Clarence H. Geist, Mrs. Henry F. Mitchell, Mrs. Robert Daffron, Mrs. Henry Van Voorhees, Mrs. Harry P. Anderson, Mrs. John Barnes, Mrs. Charles Schmidt, Mrs. William P. Fox, Mrs. Edward Cadwallader, Mrs. August Emile Gautier, Mrs. Kinsell, Mrs. Frederick Schmidt and Miss Elizabeth Abigail Ransley, daughter of the hostess.

Bronzed by a tropical sun, Mr. H. J. Slocum, of New York, seasoned traveler and field representative of the Ticonderoga Museum, is a visitor in Washington for a few days, the guest of his uncle, Col. Stephen L. H. Sloum, on R street. He has recently returned from several months' tour of Central and South America and the West Indies. Traveling by boat, airplane and automobile, Mr. Slocum gained an intimate knowledge of glamourous regions near the Equator while conducting extensive research for eighteenth century cannon of bronze for the museum at Fort Ticonderoga, N. Y. Fortune smiled upon his efforts which netted more than 50 models for museum display.

Netherlands Minister To Speak in New York.

The Minister of The Netherlands, Dr. J. H. van Royen, will go to New York tomorrow to be the guest of honor at the recital given by the General Netherlands Society to celebrate the coming of age of Princess Juliana, future queen of Holland. The musicale will be given by Dutch artists in Chalif Hall in Fifty-seventh street tomorrow night. Mr. W. P. Montyn, consul general of The Netherlands, also will be a guest of honor.

Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg have postponed the dinner which they were giving at the Willard this evening, due to the serious illness of their guest of honor, Mr. Ralph H. Booth, newly appointed Minister to Denmark.

Mrs. Sol Bloom and Miss Vera Bloom will sail for Europe Saturday on the Leviathan, planning to stay some time in London before going to the continent. Representative Bloom will remain in Washington until the adjournment of Congress and will then join Mrs. Bloom and Miss Bloom in Europe.

Mrs. Henry Winfield Watson entertained a small group at lunc yesterday at the Annapolis R Beach and Tennis Club.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Haller have returned to their home in Pittsburgh after passing Easter week with Mrs. Haller's grandfather and aunt, Mr. Caleb C. North and Miss Margaret North.

Envoy to Wed New York Girl This Summer

Mr. Stone to Marry Miss Ellen Cox Ewing in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ewing, of New York, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ellen Cox Ewing, to Mr. Thomas Archibald Stone, Second Secretary of the Canadian Legation.

The news is of considerable interest in Washington as Mr. Stone is one of th distinguished and charming members of the younger diplomatic contingent and as Miss Ewing's family has a Washington background. Mr. Ewing was appointed Commissioner of Patents by President Wilson and during his service in this post he and his family occupied the "old Slidell mansion" tucked in between Corcoran House and the home of Henry Adams adjoining John Hay's residence. All of these historic mansions have now been torn down to make way for the U. S Chamber of Commerce Building and the Hay Adams House, but while Mr. and Mrs. Ewing were residents of Washington their home was the scene of much hospitality.

Miss Ewing was presented to society in New York after Mr. and Mrs. Ewing left Washington, but she has been an occasional visitor here as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Newbold Noyes. As Miss Alexandra Ewing, Mrs. Noyes made her debut in the Capital and was a reigning belle a dozen years ago.

Miss Ewing is a graduate of Dobbs Ferry and later attended Smith College. She is a member of the Colony Club.

Mr. Stone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Stone, of Chatham, Ontario, Canada. He was graduated from Toronto University in 1924 and afterward took a degree from L'Ecole des Sciences Politiques in Paris.

The marriage will take place in the summer at Sorrento, Me., where Mr. and Mrs. Ewing have a summer home.

During his stay in Southern lands Mr. Slocum was the guest of the President of Panama, the President of Nicaragua and the Governor of the Dutch West Indies. From Washington he will go to New York, and about the middle of May will open his Lake George cottage.

Mr. Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the Shipping Board, and Mrs. Hurley have arrived at the Carlton from their home in Chicago, Mr. Hurley having come on to attend the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro To Be Hosts at Tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro have sent out invitations for tea on Sunday, May 11, in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. Luther Reichelderfer. Dr. Reichelderfer succeeded Mr. Taliaferro in the post of District Commissioner. The party will be held in the pleasant house in Georgetown into which Mr. and Mrs. Taliaferro have recently moved.

Dr. Reid Hunt will arrive today from Boston to join Mrs. Hunt, who is the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clay Bayly. Mrs. Hunt has been in Washington since April 16 and will remain until June 1.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry F. Davies had as guest over the week-end the Rev. Martin A. Hehir, president of Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, who came to Washington to attend the convention of the National Catholic Alumni Federation.

Miss Birgfeld Becomes Wife Of Mr. Embrey

Capital Couple United in Pretty Church Nuptials.

In St. Stephen's and the Incarnation Church last night at 8 o'clock Miss Janet Montgomery Birgfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Birgfeld, became the bride of Mr. Everett Clayton Embrey, son of Mr. Warren O. Embrey, the rector, the Rev. George F. Dudley, performing the ceremony in a spring setting of apple blossoms, snapdragons, ferns and roses. Preceding the service Mrs. Howard Embrey, sister of the bridegroom, sang several numbers.

The bride's father gave her away. She wore a gown of ivory satin made with a high Elizabethan collar of duchesse lace, long sleeves and a long square train. The tulle veil was held by a pearl cap, and the bridal bouquet was of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth Birgfeld, was matron of honor. She wore flesh-colored chiffon with hat and slippers to match and carried pink roses. Miss Myra Gill, of Baltimore, maid of honor, was in pale orchid chiffon, with hat and slippers in deeper shade, and carried ophelia roses.

The bridesmaids were Washington girls and included Mrs. Justin Shook, Mrs. Virginia Crump Hammond, Miss Virginia Tipton and Miss Virginia Birgfeld. They wore quaint frocks of orchid chiffon, their slippers and hats being in purple, and they carried bouquets of variegated sweet peas. The flower girl, Katherine Page Waite, wore a dress of pink chiffon with a head band of rosebuds.

Mr. Howard Owen Embrey was best man. Serving as ushers were Mr. Kenneth Birgfeld, Mr. George Allen Wick, Mr. Kenneth Embrey, Mr. LeRoy Dougall, Mr. Charles C. Montgomery and Mr. Walter H. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Embrey left by boat for a wedding trip in the South, the bride traveling in a costume of brown and tan cloth with beige accessories. They will be at home after June 1 at the Newark Apartment at Cleveland Park.

Dixie Ball Promises To Be Brilliant Fete.

For the Dixie ball, at the Willard tonight, the ballroom will be decorated with massed flags of the United States, the Confederacy and the various Southern States.

Miss C. Blanche Sinclair, president of the Robert E. Lee Chapter, U. D. C., which is giving the ball, will head the receiving line. Mr. Fielding M. Lewis is chairman of the floor committee, with Maj. William Robert Nichols as vice chairman. Miss Katherine Harrison, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Pat Harrison, is chairman of the young ladies committee, and Maj. Jesse L. Sinclair is chairman of the reception committee.

Under direction of Mrs. Maud Howell Smith, chairman of the entertainmen committee, there will be a varied program of entertainment, including the dancing of "Mississippi Memories" by Mr. Orme Libbey and Mrs. Charlotte Patterson, and an old-fashioned gavotte, danced by Miss Helen Stuart Griffith and Mr. Wallace Wright.

Boxes sold by the committee of which Mrs. Richard A. Allen is chairman will be named for distinguished Confederate ancestors of those occupying them. Supper will be served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. C. Jacobson with their family, of Brooklyn, are at the Dodge Hotel for a brief stay.

House Party Guest

MISS MARY MARTHA WREN, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Clark Wren, who has gone to Princeton for a house party. She has been attending the Easter festivities at the University of Virginia.

New York Man And Mrs. Kasey Will Wed Here

Mr. Frank Loud to Wed Southern Woman in Capital.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Curtis, 1925 F street, a wedding will take place today which will be an event of exceptional interest. The bride is Mrs. Bargeron Kasey, a Southern woman who has been a resident of Washington for several years, and the bridegroom, Mr. Frank Lord, formerly with the United States Shipping Board and at present associated with the New York Shipbuilding Co.

Weather permitting, the ceremony will be performed under the great trees which are so picturesque a feature of the garden of Mrs. Curtis' fine old house. The Rev. Samuel Judson Porter will officiate. The bride will be given in marriage by Mrs. Curtis' father, Mr. William R. Merriam, who was a close friend of Mr. Lord's father. Mrs. Curtis will be matron of honor and her small daughter, Pauline, will be the flower girl and the bride's only other attendant.

Mr. Lord will have Chief Justice Frederic Kernochan of the Court of Special Sessions of New York as his best man. Mr. James F. Curtis will come from New York to be one of the ushers and the group will also include Mr. Julian Mason, editor of the New York Evening Post; Mr. Robert J. Turfman, also of New York; Mr. William A. Quigley, of Philadelphia, and Mr. George A. Garrett, Mr. Henri de Sibour and Mr. Myron Hofer, all of Washington.

The Speaker of the House and Mrs. Longworth and Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown will attend the wedding, as will many of the little group with which Mrs. Curtis and the bride and bridegroom are affiliated. Some of those present will be Senator Robert Wagner, Senator Frederick Hale, Senator and Mrs. Hiram Bingham, Representative Ruth Baker Pratt, former Senator and Mrs. James W. Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bennng Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wil-

DEAREST GENEVIEVE: So many people are motoring down into Virginia this week to see the lovely old gardens. I can not think of anything more enjoyable than this. We motored down to Fredericksburg on Sunday and they were all making great preparations down there to receive visitors this week. The gardens are at their best now, and to see them in their enclosures of fine old box, with fragrant lilacs and tulip beds, gold and purple iris and other flowers, is a treat you shouldn't miss.

Have Your Wave at Robert-of-Paris

—and know that you are having the best. Robert-of-Paris has a well-deserved reputation for excellence in beauty work of all kinds. Women go back there year after year for their permanent waves, because they have implicit faith in anything sponsored by Robert-of-Paris. They like to go to a place they have tried and found perfect. When you go in ask to see the Elsie Pierce Preparations. The creams and lotions and powders put out by Elsie Pierce are the choice of thousands of discriminating women. Learn how to use them at home. Robert-of-Paris, 1314 Connecticut Avenue.

Fine Purses for Fastidious Women

—are in the exhibits at Camalier & Buckley, 1141 Connecticut Avenue. You know the sort of purses Mr. Camalier always has selected for you, the most exquisite imports from England, France, Austria and Germany.

Words can not describe the beauty of this season's purses and handbags, which include softest leathers in thin envelopes with delicately wrought clasps of marcasite or semiprecious stones, lined in pastel tinted silks, with dainty vanity fittings.

A pouch of embroidered crepe has a smart clasp in bakalite repeating the colors of its pattern. Tapestries, moires, every fabric and leather decreed by fashion are found at Camalier & Buckley's. Prices begin modestly enough to suit any purse.

Drop in the Hob Nob

—in the afternoon, and enjoy a cool, delicious drink and a light sandwich in the attractive tearoom on the second floor. The tearoom at the Hob Nob, 1010 F Street, has fountain service which is what every one wants this time of year. It is open from 11:30 to 8 in the evening. The Hob Nob Cafeteria on the street floor is open from 11:30 to 2:30, and from 4 to 7:30.

You will enjoy the novelty of the Hob Nob Tea Room, as it is a series of rooms, effectively decorated in the modernistic manner.

Mother's Day Should Be Observed

—in some fashion, and what could be more appropriate than to present her with an enlargement or copy of her favorite old daguerreotype. Stop by Underwood & Underwood's and see exhibit in the window of just such copies which have been made for various people.

These old tin-types and other old time pictures are kept tucked away to protect them from the light and the ravages of time. Why not have copies made so that you can enjoy them, and have them out where you can see them and show them to your friends. There is not an old picture of this kind but will be more attractive for copying, as Underwood & Underwood are able to do. The best points of the picture are restored without detracting any from the original charm.

If you stop to think, you will realize that nothing could please your mother more than to be surprised with a copy of one of the old tin-types of some of her family. Mothers' Day is May 11. That gives you just two weeks, which is none too much time. The thing to do is to attend to the matter at once and have it over with.

Sale Today At Schwartz

—at 1325 Connecticut Avenue. The sale will probably continue Wednesday, too, but you'd better go in immediately for the best selections. The most charming frocks you ever want to see are priced for this occasion at $16.50. All the sort of things you want to wear now, for all day or for afternoon, are included in such a wonderful variety.

Suits, which were formerly $32.50, have been reduced to $19.75. You must see the attractive crepes with tuck-in blouses in street colors, the adorable chiffons and all the other delightful models reduced in price for today and tomorrow's selling. Schwartz, 1325 Connecticut Avenue.

Cotton Jersey Sun-Back Suits

—for children have their own sweaters and matching berets. You find them at Mimi Shop, 1732 Connecticut Avenue. This shop is on the second floor and has beautiful children's clothes. Garden sets of flowered English print, have a hat and dress and panties, and are the very cutest things you have ever seen. Grown up tennis frocks of pique in colors with short coats may be made to your order.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them, 15c, 30c, 60c

—With NELSON B. BELL—

THE economy of manpower which the talking screen makes possible has perhaps never been more clearly demonstrated than in the N. V. A. Jubilee Week drive that is currently being made in all of the Capital's motion picture theaters. Heretofore, it has always been the custom for speakers to appear on the stages of the various houses and harangue the assembled multitude into an enthusiasm for giving to a worthy cause. The feat is not without its difficulties. Indeed, it is one that demands a forensic endowment that few casual "two-minute men" find it possible to command.

The new arrangement eliminates this possible obstacle to convincing oratory by presenting a series of talking pictures in which popular stars explain the needs of the National Variety Artists and the reasons why you, and you, and you should come to the support of these generous people who never refuse to come to the support of those they so often find themselves able to help.

Thus far, my week-end round of the picture houses has been slightly more curtailed than usual, so I am unable personally to vouch for the screen presence of all the stars who may be found in the Washington cathedrals of the celluloids these solicitious days, but I do know that at the Palace, Conrad Nagel is making the appeal; at the Fox, Edmund Lowe, and at RKO-Keith's, Richard Dix. Doubtless there are numerous others scattered about the other downtown first-run centers.

In addition to a uniformity of plea, this method has the added virtues of variety in personnel, and, if you visit several of the theaters during the week, of compiling an aggregate of novelty that amounts almost to an issue of "Screen Snapshots."

It is, of course, a trite observation that the soundest dramas do not always make for the liveliest entertainment. It has twice been proved locally within the fortnight. "Lummox" I thought an especially fine bit of dramaturgy for the thinking playgoer, despite its slow pace; my opinion of "Such Men Are Dangerous," at the Fox, with slight modification, is the same.

By reason of the love story that forms the basis of the Elinor Glyn narrative, it is inevitable that "Such Men Are Dangerous" should exert a wider appeal than the Fannie Hurst fiction, which was wholly devoid of this essential element of mass reaction, but it still, in my opinion, is not a work overladen with those attributes usually designated as "sure-fire box-office." There have already been challenges of my view by some who deem the Warner Baxter vehicle not to be retarded.

Not that it matters, I still think it a finely made picture—but slow.

While talking about the N. V. A. drive, back yonder, I should have mentioned that it will culminate, Friday night, May 2, in a huge benefit performance, beginning at 11:30, at the Fox Theater, and not, as I think I misstated on Saturday, May 1. This is being sponsored by the Loew, RKO-Keith, Warner Brothers and other large interests locally represented and will be participated in by all of the artists appearing in Washington this week. Seats on sale at the box-offices of all theaters.

I presume it is also hard to teach an old dowager new tricks, but some one should have had the temerity to suggest to Trixie Friganza, during the filming of "Free and Easy," Buster Keaton's laughfest at the Palace, that she tone down the voice enough to prevent knocking the customers' ears off.

This is a matter which, I take it, can not be laid to the projectionist since all of the others in Miss Friganza's scenes sound normal. Trixie evidently entertained no feeling of confidence whatever in the amplifiers!

It must be that recent bills in the cinemagogues have been pretty good, for the managements have consistently been dropping a feature of their programs that is usually most eagerly awaited—the newsreel. For two or three consecutive week-ends now I have attended performances which have consisted exclusively of feature picture and stage show—and in New York they have a theater that is packed all day long in which nothing but newsreels is shown.

What are we here? Stepchildren or something?

Treats in the offing: Paul Whiteman's "King of Jazz;" Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "The Cuckoos;" Norma Shearer, in "The Divorcee;" Alexander Gray and Bernice Claire in "The Song of the Flame;" Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell in "High Society Blues."

Don't say I didn't tell you.

That hip-flask raid on The Hollywood, in New York, sounds to me like "atmosphere."

Well, I'll be seeing you around the better places!

WHO'ZIT?

1. He was a Portuguese.

2. He was a distinguished navigator, explorer and discoverer.

3. Most of his exploits were accomplished in the service of Spain.

4. He discovered a famous strait in the Southern Hemisphere which bears his name.

5. He never returned from his greatest voyage but one of his ships came back after having accomplished a feat theretofore unknown.

Man Held to Grand Jury On Car Stealing Charge

Charged with the theft of an automobile belonging to Policeman Richard E. Williams, of the Second precinct, James Ferguson, Negro, was held for grand jury action under $500 bond following his arraignment yesterday in Police Court. Ferguson pleaded guilty.

The policeman testified that he left his automobile in a garage to be washed Sunday, and that it was found abandoned in the rear of the garage several hours later. Policeman W. F. Sager, of the Second Precinct, said that he had seen a colored man driving Williams' machine.

Policeman Is Accused Of Slaying Man in Chase

Griffin, Ga., April 28 (A.P.).—Jim Henderson, Griffin policeman, was charged with the fatal shooting of Emmett Ison, former convict, in a warrant sworn out by Ison's father today.

Ison was shot to death in Griffin last night after Henderson and several other policemen had pursued him to arrest him on a charge of being intoxicated. He was shot five times. Henderson claimed self defense.

Masked Robbers Raid Roadhouse, Kill Man

Camden, N. J., April 28 (N.Y.W. N.S.).—A gang of masked holdup men raided a roadhouse at Bellmawr, near here, at 2:30 o'clock this morning, murdered a customer, stripped $300 from patrons, took $200 from the register and escaped in the automobile of one of the customers.

Six men wearing masks entered the place and lined up the eighteen victims. One victim tore away a mask and was fired at, but the hot missed William Wierman, 39, of Camden, who leaves a wife and three small children, was standing by the bar when one of the robbers wantonly fired the shot that killed him.

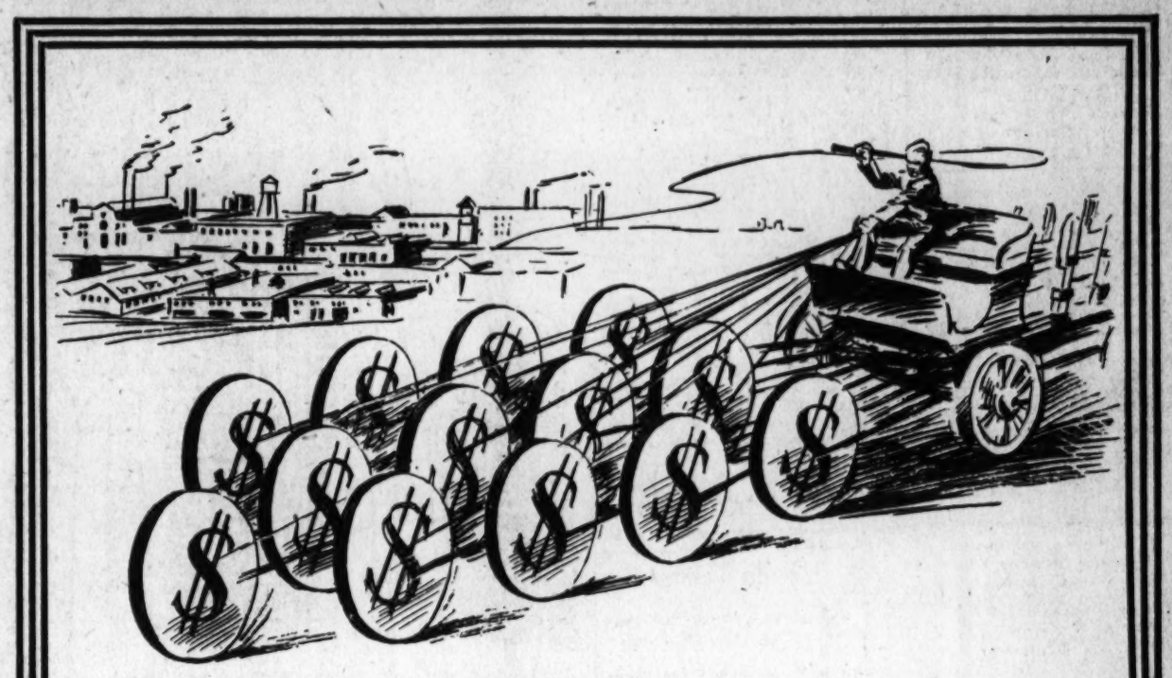
Large Italian Families Tax Exempt.

Rome, April 28 (A.P.).—The council of ministers decided today to extend exemptions from inheritance taxes only to families which have two or more children. This is in line with Premier Mussolini's campaign for larger families and is destined to weigh heavily upon only sons or daughters and childless widows or widowers.

Westminster Players Score Comedy Success

Presentation of the three-act comedy, "The Wisecracker," by the Westminster Players, was well received in its premiere last night at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Seventh and E streets southwest. It will be presented again at 8 o'clock tonight.

The principals were Miss Kathryn Poltz and Albert Latham, who were assisted by William Keller, Miss Evelyn Davis, Albert Mueller, Allan Saunders, Miss Emily Mueller and Miss Margaret Payne.



When the Dollars All Pull Together—

Dollars that are hooked up wrong are apt to go off in different directions when they come to a fork in the road. Must be harnessed right and driven right, if they are going to pull together.

But when they do pull together, what a load they can swing!

Cows are like dollars. And people are like cows. And communities are the same. Five good cows taken together will give an even quantity and an even high quality of milk the year round—something one good cow can't do alone. So five good dairy farms will keep things going in a community much better than one good dairy farm, each benefitting by the good work and high qualities of the other.

Then you come to five communities, or counties—then five States—then to a widespread picture of the dairy territory covered by the operations of Southern Dairies.

This is an organization intelligently promoting the dairy-product industry of the South, to the great betterment financially of every community in which it is operating. Its constant effort is to keep up an even supply and even demand, an even grade of excellence and even progress, throughout its field.

It systematizes the production and sale of milk, cream and ice cream, butter, buttermilk and cottage cheese, producing a steady income for dairy farmers and dairy workers, for the plant workers and supply merchants of each community—in each case to be distributed and re-distributed among the business men and workers of the community.

It is by this hooking up of individuals, groups, communities and States that it is making the cow-power dollars pull all together—all for one and one for all.

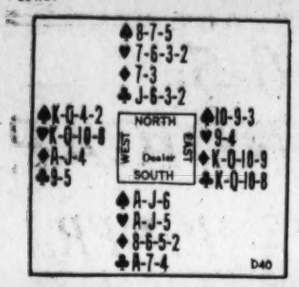
WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE DONE BETTER?

Today's hand was played in a game of Auction Bridge and it happened to be the first deal of the rubber. The cards were distributed as follows:



South bid one No Trump, West doubled, North passed and East bid two Diamonds. South passed and West, fearing the Club suit, did not dare to bid two No Trumps.

With the hand played at a two-Diamond contract, South's three Aces took tricks and consequently Declarer failed to make game.

How do you think the West and East hands should have been bid and played?

THE CORRECT BIDDING AND PLAY

It was unsound for East to bid either Diamonds or Clubs. Facing a partner strong enough to double a No Trump, East should have bid two No Trumps or made a business pass. Supposing West's double to be dependable, the two No Trumps practically ensured game, and the business pass a large penalty.

It will be noted that with South the Declarer, playing a doubled No Trump, West would lead the King of Hearts. When East played the "discouraging" Four, he would switch from that suit if South allowed him to take the trick. Later East would lead a Heart and South's Jack would be captured; his Jack of Spades could be similarly captured, and the Clubs were so located that North's Jack was useless. So South's trick taking would be limited to his three Aces and he would go down four tricks, a penalty of 400. This would be worth more than winning the first game of the rubber.

If the hand had been played at Contract, there would be the same bidding until the turn of East arrived; he would answer West's double with a bid of three No Trumps or a pass, depending largely upon whether South was vulnerable. If South were vulnerable a business pass would produce a penalty of 1400 points; if South were invulnerable, the penalty would be 600 points.

South's only refuge from a business pass would be an S O S redouble—a declaration so dangerous that many hesitate about risking it. In this case it would produce a bid of two Clubs from North; East would double and the penalty obtained by East and West would not be reduced by the shift.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Intricate incrustations form the bodice of this chiffon evening gown and give fullness to the skirt. (A Dah-ray design.)

Paris, April 28.

THE big hats will get you if you don't watch out! Saunter into Le Monnier, for example, and while being impressed by the lack of elegance and affectation in the furnishings of the place, note at the same time the grim determination and efficient and businesslike way that hundreds of clients, sitting each before her own special mirror, go about selecting a hat.

And before you know it, you're going to order one—(only 2,000 francs, Madame!) and you're going to have sold yourself the idea that you've always really wanted one big hat in your wardrobe without feeling like a Follies girl off stage—and that now that the really and truly are smart (there never was any question of their becomingness) you are going to have one.

* * * *

Of course, the large hats of this year are not exactly of the type that we used to call picture hats, because they are a little smaller than that and manipulated around the face. In fact, they are distinctly of this spring and not of any other. And expensive and becoming!

* * * *

There has been a rather intriguing effect achieved on the dress and coat of an ensemble which we call the "transparency effect." Supposing, for instance, that the dress of the ensemble is of navy blue georgette. And a navy blue woolen coat of the same line is worn with it. A zigzag or a straight stripe, about 2 to 3 inches wide, is cut out of the coat and lined with georgette of exactly the same color.

A great variety of designs and unusual effects can be achieved with this "transparency" idea, which is particularly featured by Dupouy Magnin.

A girl just loves to have pretty mules that exactly match her negligee in color and material and trimming, and she can always get them, even for any price, and she'd give most anything to know how to make them herself, but probably never dreamed she really could! So if you aren't the very one who wants to have some dainty new mules, with pearls of lace incrustations or fringe but you happen to know the girl who wants them, you do the smart thing and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet, Take a good-sized peek at the leaflet first and see if you hadn't better make some for yourself, after all, before you give it to the girl you had in mind.

* * * *

Every once in a blue moon I feel the urge to express myself—in some way other than paints or pens—and so I have to design something or other like this evening gown.

The plot of the thing is that narrow incrustations form the intricate line of the bodice and narrow hipline, and then the incrustations widen into flared fullness for the lower part of the skirt. It's a wee bit difficult to execute for any one short of a couturier, but it is worth the trouble because the effect is so pleasing. Don't you think so, from the sketch, at least?

* * * *

Then, too, there's the weekly Dare fashion letter. You'll find it every week in the big Sunday Washington Post.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"He Lectures Her."

DEAR MISS McDONALD—Please pardon this stationery, but I am wring from my office. I am writing for both my sister and myself. We are both working girls in our early twenties. We do not attend fast parties, do not smoke, drink, pet, nor go out with just any one. Consequently we do not have a flock of beaux, nor many dates. Nevertheless, we consider ourselves modern. We wear up-to-date clothes, but not extreme. Rather attractive, educated, and have a sense of humor.

We are not concerned about ourselves, but are about a young man. He is attending college now, and is in his third year. Naturally he takes one of us to the theater, a private party, or a frat dance. Everything seems all right, but when he gets home he is always disgusted if the girls have smoked, if their dresses are cut too low, or if the dress is thin and one can see daylight through it, if the boys have a drink, or acted a little fresh. If any of the above-mentioned things have happened, he starts a lecture as soon as he gets home, just as though he were about 50, and in reality he is but 25. Of course, our parents think he is grand.

If one of my girl friends mention that she has had a date with someone else besides the one to whom she is engaged he throws another fit. What do you think of him? Your opinion will be greatly appreciated. Please have your opinion printed at an early date for our patience is about exhausted with him. Thank you very much. PERPLEXED.

My dear, I don't know, I know how you feel and just what you and sister say when he has taken himself off, and you are safely upstairs in your own room. I know how you both vow to some day kill him, especially when he lectures before the elders and is upheld by them, and applauded and patted on the back and all the rest. And I know how you feel when you are lectured after he has gone, for having shocked and nearly paralyzed an honest, honorable and worthy young man. You just seethe, don't you? Of course. And now you want me to just right your wrong by telling the world what an upstage old fossil this young man is. And I'd love to do it except that—now sit up and listen:

I once knew a boy like that. He lectured and I seethed. He was 21 and I was 17. And when I was 17 I was a terror. I adored boys—and crowds of them. There couldn't be too many boys anywhere. And even the ones on the black list seemed to me to have very cute ways! And the boy looked through his eyeglasses and explained at great length why no really nice girl would want to do this, and do that. I just hated that wise-faced disturbed of my peace. But I don't. I often think of him and of things he told me of the world and of life and the share I should have in it. And as I think, it seems to me there is more than a grain of truth in the things men tell us when they really care, and I believe the reason we rave and seethe and hate them when they do it, is because we know they are telling the truth.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS."

IF April 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 6 a. m. to 7:15 a. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m.

There should be easy sailing on this date, as there are no storms or ripples indicated upon your sea of life. Progress in work, contentment in mind, and happy times are indicated. The day is marked by romance.

Children born on this April 29 will have initiative and determination, and will be able to fend for themselves at an early age, if necessary. They will have a cheerful and optimistic outlook upon life, and considerable faith in their own abilities and judgment.

You have a quiet modest nature, and although you are human enough to enjoy the smiles and favors of your fellowmen, you prefer being one of a crowd, and you would rather do the cheering than the bowing. You do not desire a place in the stalls of the theaters of life, because such a position must be lived up to, and in the long run might prove tiresome and precarious to you. You prefer your few real friends to the applause of all the people in the world. You will gain true happiness and popularity, the kind which comes to those who do not try to force issues. Your loyalty is genuine, and you never give away a friend or abandon a cause.

You have an alert and acquisitive mind, and years will not make you an old man or an old woman. You have the courage of your convictions, but you are generous minded towards those who think differently. You are without affectation in thought or speech, and you treat your inferiors with the same degree of courtesy that you use to an equal or superior. You will never become a cynic—you are an evangelist of the great good things of love and life. Simple loyalties and simple codes of conduct appeal to you. You do well the things you ought to do, and with a gladsome heart.

Successful people born April 29:

1. Jacob W. Bailey, naturalist, "The Father of Microscopic Research."
2. William J. Le Moyne, actor.
3. Charles R. Otis, elevator inventor.
4. Lorado Taft, sculptor.
5. Gen. Boulanger.
6. Sir Thomas Beecham, musical conductor.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

Please tell me how much to cut away from hybrid tea roses at the time I plant them. A. M. P.

When first set out they must be pruned sharply to two or three buds above the ground. After being established, spring pruning had better be in accordance with the vigor and the condition of the particular variety. As a rule, some of the weak growers require more severe pruning and thinning out than the strong growers.

Can a climbing rosebush that is 2 years old be transplanted, and if so when may this be done? Should a hydrangea arborescens grandiflora be pruned in the fall or spring? When is the best time to prune a syringa? MISS ELLA H.

Transplant the rosebush in the fall or early spring. The hydrangea you mention blooms on wood made the same season; therefore, it must be cut back at this time. A syringa must be pruned immediately after it has finished flowering.

Will you please suggest a vine that will attach itself to a brick or stone wall on the north side of a house? ANN H. L.

The best vine for the northern side of a house, especially where the wall is of brick, is either an ampelopsis vetchii or an English ivy. The cypress vine is lovely for rambling over a stone wall, but it does not attach itself very securely to the stone.

Would you please answer the following questions: (1) What makes the leaves of a geranium turn yellow? (2) What is the best time to start slips of geraniums for spring blooming? AMATEUR.

Make your geranium cuttings at once. It would have been better if you had made them before Christmas. However, if you start them now they should bloom in midsummer. When geranium leaves turn yellow it is a sign that they are overpotted or that they are getting too little fresh air or two much water. Geraniums do better when kept on the dry side and a trifle potbound.

Could I plant dahlias, sweet peas or gladiolus in a discarded chicken yard? This spot has not been used for poultry for three years. MRS. GEORGE Y. T.

Yes, if it is in the sun. Better dig the ground very deep and incorporate some bonemeal and a little lime with the soil.

Will you please mail me any information you can give regarding the making of wax flowers—or, in other words, the paper and cloth flowers covered with paraffin. Would very much like to consider making them as a business. HELEN G. T.

I am sorry that I must plead entire ignorance of the process of making wax flowers.

Please tell me whether you think a tulip bulb which is now in flower will flower next year in the open. ELSIE deW.

Yes. Plant the bulb in the sun in October. Be sure to keep watering it until it has ripened. This means water it until the leaves are entirely yellow.

Please tell me when to lift and divide iris roots. SARAH B.

Do this work in July.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

SUPPERS FOR GROWING CHILD.
(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

Baked potatoes, served with cream and salt, or with milk gravy. Cookies.

Break and milk, applesauce, sponge cake.

Potato-milk soup, twice baked bread, marmalade sandwiches.

Graham crackers and milk, baked custard.

Milk toast, stewed peaches, cup cake.

WALNUT SCALLOPED SPAGHETTI.

1 package spaghetti.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cup hot milk.
1 teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon pepper.
1 cup grated cheese.
½ cup chopped English walnuts.
Buttered bread crumbs.

Parboil the spaghetti for nine minutes in four quarts rapidly boiling water to which one tablespoon salt has been added. Drain. In a double boiler make white sauce of the butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Add the cheese and stir until it melts. Fill a well-buttered baking dish with alternate layers of spaghetti, white sauce and nuts, allowing the spaghetti to form the top layer. Cover the top with crumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Macaroni may be substituted for the spaghetti if desired.

Couple Seeks to Adopt Young Boy and Sister

Julius Buckman, acting manager of the Arlington district of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and his wife, Mrs. Helen Buckman, yesterday requested the District Supreme Court to grant them the right to adopt Eugene and Dorothy Cohen, 2 and 8 years old, respectively.

The children, who were formerly in a Virginia institution, have been living with Mr. and Mrs. Buckman for nine months. The petitioners state that they can care for and educate the children. Mr. Buckman makes $8,000 a year, according to the petition. Attorneys Minor, Gatley and Drury appear for the petitioners.

Wife of Basil Gordon Gets Divorce at Reno

Reno, Nev., April 28 (A.P.).—Elaine English Gordon, member of a prominent Philadelphia family, was granted a divorce here today from Basil Gordon, Princeton graduate and a member of a number of Baltimore clubs. Mr. Gordon's mother is the widow of Maj. Gen. George Barnett, commandant of the United States Marines during the World War, who died yesterday.

Mrs. Gordan charged failure to provide. A property settlement in which each released the other from claims was approved by the court. They married at Germantown, Pa., November 11, 1923. Mr. Gordon is president of the Monumental Aircraft Corporation.

The Golden Milestone

THE Emperor Augustus erected a golden milestone in the Roman Forum. From it radiated a vast net-work of military roads over which sped couriers to the most remote army outposts. This milestone was the gleaming symbol of a far flung communication system.

. . . . . Today there are nearly 30,000,000 telephones in all parts of the globe, and each telephone instrument is a milestone in this universal system of communication and—more than a mere symbol—each is a component unit.

. . . . . From the telephone at your elbow you can send your voice across the city, the state, the nation, or across the ocean, and all at a surprisingly low cost.

Ask the Long Distance operator for rates to out-of-town places you'd like to call, and see how low they really are.

NATS, OUTHIT, WIN 7TH STRAIGHT, BEATING YANKS, 6-5; SANDY FORD, 32-1 SHOT, TAKES $25,000 DIXIE HANDICAP

Crowding Aid To Outsider In Stake

Beats Out Inception, Another Long Shot, by Head in Duel.

Takes Lead at Outset; Inside Horses Forced Back.

By J. B. SNODGRASS
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., April 28.—A miserable start, caused by the field being sent away without the use of stall gates, spoiled the $25,000 added Dixie Handicap, mile-and-three-sixteenths race, which went to Mrs. Myrtle Shea's Sandy Ford.

The gelded son of Sand Mole—Inquiry beat Rigan McKinney's Inception a head, with the Seagram Stable's Sir Harry trimming Walter J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland for third.

Sandy Ford paid $67.00 to win, while Inception returned $99.60 for a $2 place ticket. Sir Harry paid back $11.50. The winner stepped the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:59.

While Vice President Curtis, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and some 30,000 odd spectators gave the winner his deserved reward upon his return to the scales, there was a sour taste in the mouths of the fans due to the start, which was called the poorest since the event was inaugurated in 1870.

Inception Escapes Crowding Of Inside Horses.

The field of fifteen went away straggling, with the inside horses, barring Inception, who broke very fast, having no chance when the horses from No. 12 lane outrushed across to the rail and forced the inside horses to pull up to keep from being knocked down.

Sandy Ford, a notorious rail runner, made so by having only one eye, rushed up fast in the first sixteenth to be on the rail, where he led the field around the clubhouse bend.

At that point Inception, Toro, Solace, Dinah Did Upset and Dr. Freeland were within striking distance of the ultimate winner.

Holding his favorite position on the rail, Sandy Ford fought off repeated challenges from Solace, Toro and Dinah Did Upset.

The gelding was still making the pace at the turn for home, but Inception, coming up fast, was on even terms with him at the eighth pole.

A few yards farther on Inception had his nose in front, but Frank Catrone shook his whip in front of Sandy Ford and the gelding, with the heart of a lion, came again to win going away from his field.

In the meantime, Sir Harry had closed an immense gap and, finding an opening on the rail turning for home, was up in time to take third money from Doctor Freeland.

While the fans were still discussing the bad start in the feature, the field in the sixth race went postward and the worst start of the spring season in the State occurred.

The Eastland Farms' Wrackell was out of the stalls and standing sideways when the webbing was released. This caused Selection to break into him and they were both left at the post.

There was a groan from the crowd, who had already lost considerable of their money on the feature. The bad start in the sixth enabled Behave Cash to open a long lead but, tiring badly in the stretch, he was collared by Judge Bartlett, one of the few to escape early trouble.

Snow White Beats Barrier To Win Opener.

The Interrogative, the day's 4½-furlong opener, was presented to Walter J. Salmon's Snow White when the starter allowed the 2-year-old daughter of Ladkin—Snowcapt to steal a march at the barrier.

After a short delay at the gate, due principally to Snow White's bad acting, the webbing was released with SEEKING its third major sports title of the 1929-30 scholastic year, Tech High School will today send its baseball team into action against Western High's Nine at the Central High School Stadium in a game which will inaugurate the interhigh diamond series of 1930. Play is scheduled to begin at 3:45 p. m.

Facing exactly the same situation prevailing in 1929 when it had captured both the football and basketball championships, but was denied the third title when Eastern took the diamond honors by submergin it in the last game of the season, Tech will today start the drive to succeed where it failed in 1929.

Western Out to Avenge Court Beating.

A school eager for revenge, however, will be Tech's opponent for the day, for it was Western which was given the best chance to cop the basketball championship last winter only to have the opportunity snatched from its hands by the Tech Quintet. Nothing would please the followers of the Red and White School more, therefore, than to open the season with a victory over the Manual Trainers.

Only the condition of Capt. Benny Spigel, Tech's crack pitcher, prevented plans of the rival coaches from being fully completed last night. Suffering from a slight cold in his pitching arm for the past few days, Spigel has been forced to take it easy in recent drills. The Maroon and Gray leader was out with his team yesterday, however, and promised to be ready when the call for battle sounded today.

Should an unexpected setback occur, either Roland Price, husky blonde, or Everett Russell, versatile performer, will climb the mound for the Tech Nine this afternoon. In such a case Spigel will play the game as an outfielder.

Western Has Good Boxman In Payne.

In the pitching department Western has no fears. Bill Payne, considered by many to be the leading pitcher among the high-school hurlers, is ready after a year's ineligibility to shoot his fast one past enemy batters, and with the prospects of a dark day, Payne should be at his best.

Going through their final workouts yesterday on the Ellipse, but a stone's throw from each other, both teams seemed fit and ready for the fray. Whereas Western appears to have the smoothest fielding team, Tech seems to have the edge in hitting, with the pitching and catching staffs about even.

Both teams will enter the series

Hartnett Hits 2 Homers In Pirates' 7-4 Defeat

Chicago, April 28 (A.P.).—A home run barrage led by Gabby Hartnett, who twice hit for the circuit, today gave the Chicago Cubs a 7-to-4 victory over Pittsburgh in the second game of the series.

Cliff Heathcote and Charley Root also hit homers. Root gave the Pirates 11 hits, while Jess Petty and Spencer held the Cubs to 8. Root, however, was strong with men on and fanned nine. Both Petty and Spencer had wild moments, Petty hitting two batsmen and Spencer walking five.

MARYLAND U. NINE BOWS BY 12-2

North Carolina State Gains Early Lead; Never Headed.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE handed University of Maryland baseball team its first home defeat of the season, when it decisively defeated the Old Liners, 12 to 2, at College Park yesterday afternoon. As a result, Maryland now has won four games, lost two and tied one in the Tristate League of the Southern Conference. The tie was with North Carolina State.

Originally the Old Liners and the Wolfpack were scheduled to play two seven-inning games, one to be a replay of the tie, but, upon request of the Southerners, one of the contests was abandoned.

Neither team scored in the first two innings, but the Wolfpack got to George Phipps, Maryland starting hurler, for five runs in the third, and then went on to add three more runs each in the fourth and fifth, to clinch victory. Phipps left the mound after the third and before the game was over the visitors touched two more Old Line moundsmen in lively style.

State Pitchers Effective.

North Carolina also used two pitchers, both of whom were effective. Bill Averette, who pitched the first seven innings, limited the home club to two runs and three hits, while Morris, who replaced him to start the eighth, allowed no runs and just one bingle.

Maryland scored one run each in the sixth and seventh.

Gerock, Furtado, Plonk, Snipes and Hargrove led the winners at bat, each getting two hits. One of Gerock's was good for two bases. No Maryland batsman got more than one hit.

Chisox, Outhit, Beat Tigers by 9-8 Margin

Detroit, Mich., April 28 (A.P.).—The Tigers outhit the White Sox by 14 safe blows to 8 today, but the Chicago batters made every blow count and won the game 9 to 8.

The visiting White Hose had one big inning, the sixth, in which they ran in four runs on four hits.

The Tigers came back in their half of the same frame to chase in five runs on as many hits.

Reynolds, Sox center fielder, was the star slugger of the contest, getting a homer, a triple and single in four trips to the plate. His four-base blow came in the seventh, with Lyons on base.

ROBINS HALT STREAK OF GIANTS

McGrawmen Lose in 9th, 6-4, for First Defeat of Year.

NEW YORK, April 28 (A.P.).—Harvey Hendrick's double with the bases full in the ninth inning broke the Giants' winning streak and gave Brooklyn a 6-to-4 victory over New York today.

The defeat was the Giants' first of the season and also broke Bill Walker's string of eleven straight mound triumphs, nine of which were in 1929 and two this year. The big southpaw was exceptionally wild, however, handing out seven bases on balls and hitting three batsmen.

Due to some timely hitting, including Jackson's fifth home run of the year, the Giants went into the ninth leading by one run. Walker hit Frederick and Gilbert and walked E. Moore, loading the bases. Genewich was rushed into the box but Hendrick came through with a double that cleaned the sacks.

Rookie Stops Browns As Indians Win, 3-1

St. Louis, Mo., April 28 (A.P.).—Peter Jablonowski, a recruit from the American Association, held the Browns to five hits, only one of them for an extra base, and the Cleveland Indians defeated the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 1, today. Cleveland collected ten hits off Coffman and Collins, one of them a triple by L. Sewell.

The Indians bunched three singles in the seventh, and these, together with a sacrifice, accounted for two runs.

Hitless Rally In 9th Wins For A's

Score 4 Runs Without Safety to Defeat Red Sox, 5-4.

Errors and Bases on Balls Aid Champions to Win.

BOSTON, April 28 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics broke a three-game losing streak here today at the expense of the Boston Red Sox and took a 5-to-4 victory.

The world champions gathered four runs in the ninth inning without making a hit. MacFayden, who had held the A's to five hits for eight innings, lost control and Ed Morris, who relieved him, continued on the erratic path. Errors by O. Miller and Rega also aided in giving the visitors the four runs.

By their victory, the Athletics kept pace with the league-leading Washington Team, which won over the Yankees. The champions climbed above the .500 mark with five victories and four defeats, but are trailing Washington by three full games.

Al Simmons, who has been leading the league in batting, failed to get a safety in five times at bat against the Boston pitchers.

Phillies Rally to Take 7-4 Game From Braves

Philadelphia, April 28 (A.P.).—The Phillies broke their three-game losing streak today when they came from behind to trounce the Boston Braves, 7 to 4.

Alexander, who started the fray, was relieved by Elliott in the sixth inning, with the Phillies trailing, 4 to 2, and the latter got credit for the victory. Cunningham, after blanking the Phils the first four frames, was hammered for three runs in the sixth inning enough to give the Phillies the victory. Brandt, who relieved him, was nicked for two more in the seventh. Welsh hit a home run in the fifth inning.

Cincinnati Rookie Wild, Cardinals Triumph, 8-3

Cincinnati, April 28 (A.P.).—Bases on balls got Al Eckert, Cincinnati recruit pitcher, into difficulties today, and the Cardinals, although outhit, took advantage of the passes and defeated the Reds by 8 to 3.

Kelly, Reds' first baseman, pulled up lame in the fifth and retired from the game. Clarence Mitchell, the visitors' starting pitcher, also was forced from the contest after injuring his ankle while running from second to third in the fourth inning.

SANDY FORD, AIDED BY START, WINS $25,000 DIXIE

3 Long Shots Take Stake Honors

Inside Horses Have No Chance in Ragged Getaway.

Sandy Ford Sets Pace and Comes Again to Win by Head.

Snow White in motion. Schaefer took every advantage of the start and rushed the filly into a long lead.

Pete Walls, on Mrs. Herbert Pulitzer's Queen Herod, closed very fast in the stretch to be on even terms with Snow White 70 yards from the wire, but the effort told on Queen Herod and she tired from there to the wire, enabling Snow White to win by a head. Sonny Workman drove H. Teller Archibald's Jolly King into third place ahead of A. C. Bostwick's Mate.

Naylor Takes Second in Whipping Finish.

R. H. Davis', jr., Naylor after disappointing his followers three times this spring on State tracks finally made good in the 1 mile and 70 yards of the second race.

Charles Amory's Shepherdness, favorite, broke on top of the field of nine and led to the turn for home, where J. P. McGovern's Francis St. L. took command. Half way through the stretch Sammy Renick drove Naylor up to even terms with Francis St. L., and in a whipping finish grabbed the purse. Francis St. L. easily saved the place from Shepherdness.

Utmost Pays $61.80 In Scoring Upset.

The Guilford, a 4½-furlong sprint, saw Eben M. Byers' Utmost upset the dope by whipping B. O'F. Randolph's Sustain, the favorite, with George D. Widener's Alpine Girl third.

Sonny Workman, alert as usual at the gate, stepped Sustain into the lead from No. 1 position. However, Utmost, who was away slowly, soon raced to within striking distance of the pacemaker, and when the field straightened out in the stretch the pair were closely lapped.

Workman's energetic riding kept Sustain in front to the eighth pole, where Utmost, much the best of the pair, moved to the front to win going away. The winner paid $61.80.

Twink Romps Home in Season's Debut.

Coming out of winter quarters in the proverbial pink, Twink, 4-year-old black son of Blink II—Banniere, whom "Big Jim" Healy trains for the Loma Stable, romped off with the Druid Hill, the day's secondary feature at 6 furlongs.

Sonny Workman broke Twink on top, and had only to hand ride the colt the rest of the way home to be the easiest sort of a winner over J. E. Davis' Colossal. Third money went to the Brookmeade Stable's Chief Executive, who shut the Sagamore Stable's Coin Collector out of the picture.

SNOW WHITE NO FAIRY TALE HEROINE IN FIRST.

SNOW WHITE, away clear and fast, forced a fast early pace, raced to the front with a rush when approaching the home stretch, was unable to get into a clear lead and had to be hard hustled to make good. QUEEN HEROD had keen speed after the break, saved ground and held on with good courage when challenged. JOLLY KING, prominent and going in good fashion, outstayed MATE in the closing test. MATE showed a good test from the beginning. PRINCE PETER lacked early speed, was forced to secure racing room and made up ground steadily. EXALT made up some ground in the final stages. AULULARIA had brief speed and stopped. The others were outrun.

SECOND RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, ridden out. Went to post at 4:11. Off at 4:11½. Winner, R. H. NAYLOR DRIVES FAST TO COP SECOND PURSE.

NAYLOR, allowed to remain reserved off the pace for the first five furlongs, improved his position stoutly through the latter stages, closed full of run under a stout drive and wore FRANCES ST. L. down in the final fifty yards. FRANCES ST. L., kept close up, moved to SHEPHERDESS when ready, assumed command when reaching the final furlong pole and fought it out stubbornly. SHEPHERDESS, hustled to the front at once, raced under slight restraint until challenged and then weakened as if short. JANE RHINEHART went forwardly and had no mishaps. JOHN ROBERT passed tiring horses the last quarter mile. LOCKET stopped.

THIRD RACE—Four and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. The Guildford. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:43. Off at 4:44. Winner, A. M. Byers' b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—UTMOST, $61.80, $16.70, $9.50; SUSTAIN, $3.30, $2.70; ALPINE GIRL, $4.20.

UTMOST EXTENDED TO UTMOST TO CAPTURE THIRD.

UTMOST, keeping in close pursuit of SUSTAIN from the start, came courageously under a drive and, finishing with good courage, was up in the final sixteenth. SUSTAIN broke fast, had good speed and held on well when displaced. ALPINE GIRL, hard ridden and going forwardly, was gaining gradually nearing the finish. TRYOR, on the outside, closed some ground when settled in his stride. EXPLORE raced evenly, but appears high in flesh. BOY MESSENGER was unable to stay in contention after breaking fast. BLACK LULA was bumped after the break while MEEK stumbled when the break came.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. The Druid Hill. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:18. Off at 5:24. Winner, Loma Stable's blk. c. TWINK SHOWS TWINKLING HEELS TO FIELD IN FOURTH.

TWINK, in good form and displaying high speed away from the barrier, drew into a safe lead when rounding the turn, was taken in hand and finished with plenty in reserve. COLOSSAL, in nearest pursuit of the winner, was unable to threaten at any stage. CHIEF EXECUTIVE broke slowly, moved into a forward position after a furlong, saved ground and was going smoothly at the end. COIN COLLECTOR was never dangerous since the leaders. ANTE BELLUM went well until he began to tire in the final furlong. GAY PAST was never serious.

SANDY FORD DRAWS GOING ROUGH IN DAY'S FEATURE.

SANDY FORD, avoiding much crowding following the start, was able to outrun his field into the back stretch, was rated along snugly, came willingly when forced to a drive, saved ground wherever possible and, withstanding a tedious drive, just lasted to stall off INCEPTION. Latter, going forwardly placed and securing racing room, finished in determined fashion and just failed to get up. SIR HARRY, slow to get into his stride, worked his way up stoutly after five furlongs and closed gamely. DOCTOR FREELAND, in trouble directly after the start when bumping into FRISIUS, weaved his way through a narrow passage and finished stoutly. TORO raced forwardly and had no excuse. SORTIE was unable to get to the leaders at any stage, was gaining slowly at end. DINAH DID UPSET, SOLACE and FRISIUS were used up in the early running. SOLACE caused some crowding after the break.

SIXTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start poor out of stalls. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 6:32. Off at 6:33½. Winner, Richard Pending's b. g. (5), by Donnacona—Laura Fretching. Trained by L. Phillips. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:24, 0:49 2-5, 1:15, 1:41 2-5, 1:48 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—JUDGE BARTLETT, $5.70, $4.00, $3.20; BEHAVE CASH, $15.90, $8.60; NAE BREEKS, $7.30.

JUDGE BARTLETT'S DECISION UPHELD IN FIFTH.

JUDGE BARTLETT, steadied along in the early stages and avoiding the pace, gained stoutly when called on, saved a lot of ground in the stretch run and, continuing gamely, earned a lucky victory when BEHAVE CASH swerved out badly in the last furlong. BEHAVE CASH, away promptly and going into a good lead, looked all over a winner until he swerved in the stretch run. NAE BREEKS, well placed, weakened in the final drive. SELECTION was away poorly and had no chance with the start. MY SCOOP, on the outside all the way, lacked his closing rush. LIEUTENANT II stopped. WRACKELL was practically left and only galloped around the course.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won galloping; place, driving. Went to post at 7:05. Off at 7:07. Winner, Frank Hayes' ch. g. BOUNDING DEEP BOUNDS TO VICTORY IN FINALE.

BOUNDING DEEP, racing under reserve while following EUPHRATES, went to the latter when approaching the far turn, took an easy lead and drew out at will during the closing stages. SEARINGTON, a slow beginner, came strong the last half mile, but was held safe by the winner. BILLY COCK made a stout effort at the last turn, but weakened and may have been in need of this race. LIGHT VIEW was never able to menace the leaders. SLICKAWAY was always outrun. EUPHRATES had speed for six furlongs and tired.

—Pimlico Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

Pimlico Park, Md., April 28.—The Pimlico Spring Homebred Stakes, to which the Maryland Jockey Club will add $2,500, will feature the second day's racing at old Hilltop tomorrow.

Twelve are entered in the Homebred, which will be run as the fifth race. Colts will carry 122 pounds, and fillies 119.

Admiral Carey T. Grayson's UP, which ran a powerful race back of Vanderpool in the Aberdeen Stakes at Havre de Grace, looks like the solid horse in the Homebred. Vanderpool had to be driven for the first time in six starts to beat UP. GIGANTIC is expected to be close up. This fellow beat UP opening day of the Bowie meeting, but it seems the latter has improved quite a bit since then. GIGANTIC ran a fine race his last out at Bowie. He won a 4-furlong dash in handy fashion. He was timed in 0:47 after being eased up in the final stages. Vanderpool won the Bowie Kindergarten the same day and in exactly the same time as GIGANTIC.

UNCLE SAM is a nice-looking colt and he gave good promise in his only start at Havre de Grace. It may be well to remember this fellow. SQUAB was a handy winner of her only start, but she didn't meet much. Her stable evidently doesn't think much of her because she wasn't named for the Aberdeen at Havre de Grace.

UP not only looks like the winner of tomorrow's feature, but the most probable winner of the day.

FIRST RACE—SUN FALCON has been training over the Pimlico track for some time. The son of Sun Briar gave good promise last fall and some of his best efforts were over the Hilltop course. The clockers say SUN FALCON is fit. If this is true, he may be graduated in the day's opener, a 6-furlong dash for maiden 3-year-olds. NEWTON is far down on the eligible list and not likely to start. If he happens to get in he may be a hard horse to beat. ANGRY is a bad post horse and he usually begins slowly. If hustled away from the gate he may break into the picture. PERFECT PLAY is a well-bred colt. He received a conditioner at Havre de Grace.

SECOND RACE—Anything can happen in a race where twenty steeplechasers meet. The Linstead, which will be the second event tomorrow, will be an interesting race to watch, but that's all. We fancy the chances of BOOTLAND because he is trained by Big Jim Healey, and the latter usually brings his leppers to the post fit. STALKER raced at the recent United Hunts meet, and so did BROWNSTOUT. STALKER figures slightly the better of the two. DANGEROUS is a big, husky fellow which should develop into a good jumper.

THIRD RACE—HAPPY SCOT turned in a whale of a race his last out at Havre de Grace. He galloped in front of twelve juvenile opponents for 4½ furlongs and had he been pressed he could have equaled or lowered the track record. At the end he was leading Hleaway. The son of Scotch Broom has only to run back to that race to win tomorrow's Hampden Purse, third number. TOTEM showed good form in his only start at Havre de Grace. He breaks from the outside position and that won't help his chances in a short race like the Hampden. KALEIDOSCOPE should go well if he starts. He is last of the five also eligibles. FARR has more than an outside chance.

FOURTH RACE—HER GRACE, after winning a race at Bowie, went to Havre de Grace and beat Murky Cloud and Lost Agnes in a 6-furlong dash.

Lost Agnes and Murky Cloud came back off that race and finished one two in the Elks Purse at Havre de Grace last Friday. Trailing the two were Shady Lady, St. Prisca and three others. This line certainly makes HER GRACE best of the fillies which will meet in the 6-furlong Woodberry Purse, fourth race. PANDA wasn't disgraced when Finita and Flossine beat her at Havre de Grace. Finita, a rather promising filly, stepped a fast 6 furlongs that day. ENID was back of Panda last Tuesday. The Audley Farm's mare lacks early foot.

SIXTH RACE—The sixth race will bring together cheap platers to travel a mile and a furlong, and is the softest spot MAXIVA has been in for some time. She should be able to lick such a field provided she leaves the barrier on even terms with her opponents. IMBROS comes from a good stable. He closed a lot of ground in a long race his last start at Havre de Grace. LAURIE was in the same race with IMBROS. The latter turned in the better effort. HEDGE FENCE is a slow beginner. He would have to show a lot of improvement over his last race to win tomorrow.

SEVENTH RACE—JACK HAWKSLEY may be the winner of the nightcap. He was in a tougher spot than this his last out at Havre de Grace and prior to that effort he ran over a track he did not like. Toss out the two races and he has a good chance tomorrow. VOYAGE may be the one to beat. He went well back of Villager and Fair Thorn Friday. CELERITAS ran a disappointing race at Havre de Grace. He can do better. Cudgeler figures to be close up, but he's a very uncertain horse.

CENTRAL TAKES RELAY TITLE IN A. A. U. SWIMMING

C.U. Defeated By Inches In Test

Diving Titles to Sanford, Bates; Mullen Winner in "100."

Central Leads Field in Team Scoring After First Night.

A HAND'S length—that of Max Rote, slender blond senior—was the margin of victory for the Central High School Relay Team which provided the only surprise of the first night's competition by defeating the Catholic University Team in the relay event of the District of Columbia Association, A. A. U. swimming championships last night in the pool of the Ambassador Hotel.

While a capacity crowd of 200 spectators cheered themselves hoarse, Rote literally streaked through the illuminated tank to hold a short lead for Central against the desperate efforts of Frank Mullen, C. U. star, in the anchor leg of the race.

Five teams, including the Central Nos. 2 and 3 combinations, competed in this final event of the program. The other was the Washington Swimming Club Quartet, which took third place.

After the first leg, the race developed into a duel between Central and Catholic, with the former holding a slight advantage. L. Julihn, of Central, swam neck and neck with Mike Flaherty on the first leg, and Edward Hickey, on the second leg, sent the Mount Pleasant team ahead, gaining about a yard on Charles McAree.

Leverton Holds Lead.

Roger Leverton, the hird of the schoolboy array, maintained this lead against Dan D'Esopo, and then the crowd looked for the veteran Mullen to finally bring the university team out on top. But the 19-year-old Rote had different ideas about it. Before the first length of the leg was completed, Rote found Mullen even with him. The Catholic U. ace was hitting a terrific pace.

Turning into the second and deciding length, Rote showed a remarkable burst of reserve strength and shot ahead by inches. Mullen never caught him again.

As a result of the relay triumph, Central took the lead in the team point scoring with a total of 24 points. The Washington Swimming Club, with 21 points, finished second for the night, while Catholic University was third with 12 and the Capitol A. C. fourth and last with 5. The relay win was good for 10 of Central's markers.

Sanford in Fancy Diving.

The men's and women's fancy diving championships were won respectively by Clifford Sanford and Lois Bates, of the Washington Swimming Club. Both also hold South Atlantic A. A. U. championships, having won those titles last year before the District association was formed. There was little doubt as to the outcome of their efforts last night.

Miss Bates also captured the 210-yard medley championship of the women's division, beating out two teammates, Onalene Lawrence and Mary Allen Hood.

Mullen won the championship in the 100-yard free style race, leading home Rote and D'Esopo in the time of 1 minute 2 2-5 seconds. Capt. Bob Varela, of Central High, won the 150-yard back stroke crown by defeating a teammate, Edward Hickey, and Frank Lavin, of the Washington Swimming Club. Varela's time was 2:01.

Mary Chadwick scored the only Capitol A. C. victory by winning the 220-yard free style race in the women's division. She defeated Onalene Lawrence and Leonora Taube, of the Washington Swimming Club. Her time was 3:24.6.

150-YARD BACKSTROKE (MEN)—Won by Robert Varela (Central High School); second, Edward Hickey (Central High School); third, Frank Lavin (Washington Swimming Club). Time, 2:01.

210-YARD MEDLEY (WOMEN)—Won by Lois Bates (Washington Swimming Club); second, Onalene Lawrence (Washington Swimming Club); third, Mary Allen Hood (Washington Swimming Club). Time, 3:26.8.

100-YARD FREE STYLE (MEN)—Won by Frank Mullen (Catholic University); second, Max Rote (Central High School); third, Daniel D'Esopo (Catholic University). Time, 1:02.4.

FANCY DIVING LOW BOARD (MEN)—Won by Clifford Sanford (Washington Swimming Club); second, Joe Lyman (Central High School); third, Roger Leverton (Central High School).

220-YARD FREE STYLE (WOMEN)—Won by Mary Chadwick (Capitol A. C.); second, Onalene Lawrence (Washington Swimming Club; third, Leonora Taube (Washington Swimming Club). Time, 3:24.6.

580-FOOT RELAY (MEN)—Won by Central High School (L. Julihn, Edward Hickey, Roger Leverton and Max Rote); second, Catholic University (Mike Flaherty, Charles McAree, Daniel D'Esopo and Frank Mullen); third, Washington Swimming Club (Vincent Gomes, Frank Lavin, Clifford Sanford and C. Macafee). Time, 1:42.6.

with the same number of experienced players, three players on each nine being holdovers from 1929. Only one, Wellens, of Tech, however, will be at his old position, shifts by each coach sending the remaining five veterans to new posts.

Freeman, Owens, Albert In New Berths.

Capt. Bob Freeman of Western, will play short instead of first, Quincy Owens takes Freeman's old post at the initial sack in contrast to his second-base jobe of last year, while Charley Albert is being relieved of mound duties to capitalize his hitting ability as an outfielder. The trio seems to include Western's sole hitting attack.

At Tech, English has been designated to catch, although playing short last year, while Capt. Spigel will bear the brunt of the pitching burden after a year as an outfielder. With both of these battery mates showing a punch at the bat, Tech has also found power in the bats of Russell, Benner, Wills and Chumbris, while Price, the second-string pitcher, also has demonstrated a mean wallop.

Virginia Section of Capital City League Opens Sunday; Other Groups in Meetings

FIVE teams will battle for the Virginia section unlimited, class championship of the Capital City League and the opportunity to meet champions of three other sections for the championship of the Capital area. Four of these teams will swing into action Sunday on the Arlington and Ballston diamonds.

The Cherrydale Fire Department, Jefferson District Fire Department, Bauserman Motor Co., Ballston A. C. and Woodlawn A. C. teams were entered in the league at a meeting last night in the sports department of The Washington Post. Final plans for the start of the season were made. Contracts of players eligible for the opening games Sunday must be filed with the league secretary before midnight tonight.

Ballston A. C. will play host to the Jefferson District Firemen at Ballston at 3 o'clock this Sunday and the Bauserman Motor Co. Nine will engage the Woodlawn A. C. Nine at the same hour on the Arlington diamond.

Cherrydale will remain idle this week, playing its first game the following Sunday. The Cherrydale team is being reorganized.

Montgomery County Nines to Meet.

Montgomery County unlimited teams will make final preparations for the season opening May 11 at a meeting tomorrow night in the Rockville Fire Department Building at 8 o'clock. A final opportunity will be afforded teams of that section to join the circuit which includes the Chevy Chase Grays, Takoma Tigers, Rockville A. A., Silver Spring Giants, Bethesda A. C. and Wheaton Colonials.

All franchise fees will be posted at this meeting and a schedule will be drafted for the entire season. Player contracts of the various teams will also be filed with the league secretary.

It is probable that Damascus and Kensington will be represented in the circuit. These and other teams have been invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

Entries in the senior, midget, insect and peewee classes will close tomorrow night. Franchise fees and player contracts will be filed with the league secretary, R. J. Atkinson, in the Sports Department of The Washington Post. Entries for the Junior division close next Monday. The District unlimited teams have until May 12 to file their franchise fees and player contracts. American Legion teams are required to post their entries before May 15.

Prince Georges Nines Make Plans.

Prince Georges County unlimited teams will meet Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the American Legion Club rooms at Hyattsville to complete plans for the season. The Hyattsville All-Stars, Bowie Motor Co., Brentwood Hawks, Dixie Pig A. C., Berwyn A. C., Capitol Heights A. C., Laurel National Guards, Mount Rainer A. C. and other Montgomery County unlimited teams are requested to have representatives at this meeting. The season is scheduled to open May 18 and franchise fees and player contracts are due May 10.

CALVARY BAPTIST WINS.

The Calvary Baptist Nine, defending champion, defeated the Vermont Avenue Nine, 11 to 3, in the opening game of the Georgetown Church League yesterday on the Ellipse. The winners were aided by their foes' numerous miscues and misplays. Harwood and Swett hit home runs.

Navy Yard Nine Wins In Government League

Lefty Kuhnert pitched the Navy Yard Nine to a 6-5 victory over the Union Printers in the opening game of the Government League yesterday on the South Ellipse diamond. Kuhnert had an edge on Si Simons in a 5-inning game marred by errors on both sides and a cloudy sky which brought the game to an early close. Mehan and Lattin got two hits each for the winners while Schneider and Holbrook made two safeties for the Printers.

Homer in Ninth Beats Business High, 8 to 7

A home-run over the rightfield fence by Claude Rosenburger, Washington and Lee High School's rightfielder, with one out in the ninth inning, broke a 7-to-7 deadlock and sent Business High School's Nine down to defeat in a nip and tuck battle yesterday on the Ballston diamond. It was the third straight victory for the Washington and Lee Nine which has lost only to Eastern High School.

With the home team leading 7-to-5, Business tied the score in the eighth inning after Frat had been retired on a fielder's choice following his triple, when, a base on errors and a long single produced two runs. The game was noticeably free from errors, only three miscues being made throughout. Frat and Goodwin hit homers for Business, and Washington-Lee, respectively.

MARYLAND U. IN LACROSSE NATURAL

Plays St. John's Saturday in Important Clash.

THE probable winner of the 1930 collegiate lacrosse crown should emerge from the Maryland-St. John's clash Saturday at College Park, for right now these two teams seem to be the strongest of the pack, neither having been defeated to date.

Maryland, with a rather easy win to its credit over Army last Saturday, is viewing the impending game as the most important on its schedule and is determined to reverse the order of the result of last year's tussle which favored the Johnnies, who later went on to the mythical college championship.

Saturday's contest will afford Maryland its hardest test from an offensive standpoint, as the Johnnies are known to possess a closely knit defense. If Maryland should get the jump and puncture St. John's defense it should come out of the scrap on top.

St. John's Hopes to Spring Surprise.

On the other hand, St. John's is hoping to spring a surprise on Maryland by unloosing greater offensive strength than it has been credited with heretofore. Because it lost its best-scoring players by June graduations, the Annapolis Team is not being regarded highly as an offensive unit this season.

Maryland has gained offensive strength, the dopesters point out, through the sudden development of three or four players who are now taking a big part in the scoring along with Bill Evans, the country's leading stick scorer last year. Evans doesn't have to bear the brunt of the Old Line attack any more, for Freddy Stieber, Vince Colosimo and Ossie Beck are flashing marked ability to place the ball in the net.

CRONIN IS LEADER IN NATS' TRIUMPH

cided to remove Fred Marberry, who had started on the home hill, in favor of Garland Braxton. The latter walked Combs and Mark Koenig then shot a hard bounder toward short. Quick as a flash, Bluege was after the ball. He speared it with his gloved hand, whipped it to second and Myer relayed it to first in time for a double killing. Ruth followed with a triple which, but for this double play, would have knotted the count. Braxton then put on the brakes and the only Yankee to see base-life thereafter was Lary, who coaxed a pass with one dead in the ninth.

It was their ability to get their blows in the pinches which enabled the Nationals to win the game, for they were outhit, 7 to 11.

Four Double Plays Aid Marberry.

Marberry managed to prevent any big allen frames, but he was hit frequently, four twin killings helping both him and Braxton out. Combs opened the game with a hit and a double play wiped him off of the bases. Gehrig pried the top off of the second with a one-baser and Lazzeri followed suit. It looked as if the Yanks were off on one of the well known rallies, but Durst fouled to Bluege and, as Chapman fanned, Lazzeri dashed for second, only to be doubled up by Ruel's throw, but Gehrig sneaked home during its making with the first run of the game.

In the home half of the first round, Myer coaxed a walk from Ed Wells, Yankee mound starter; Cronin doubled him to third and Judge singled both home.

After singles by Koenig and Lazzeri had been wasted in the fourth, the Nats came in from the field and became three up, scoring as many runs. Myer singled and then Cronin came through with his four-base clout. Judge kept the rally alive with another one-base safety, took second when Bluege was hit, went to third on Ruel's sacrifice fly, and checked in at the plate when Durst made a brilliant catch of Marberry's drive, turning it from a likely double into another air sacrifice.

Both Teams Active In Fifth.

Both teams were busy in the fifth. Chapman walked and scored on successive singles by Dickey and Lary, the latter hitting for Wells. After Cronin camped under Combs' pop, Koenig grounded sharply to Judge and a third double-play was recorded, Marberry hustling to first in time to take Cronin's return peg after the Nat captain had tossed to him for the first out at the middle cushion.

Rice's single and theft and Cronin's triple gave the Nats this marker back and there was no more scoring until the alien seventh, details of which already have been chronicled. Lou McEvoy faced the Nats in their fifth and lasted until a pinch-hitter relieved him two rounds later, Henry Johnson holding the Nats hitless the last two frames, although he walked a man in each.

All told, Cronin came through with a homer, triple and double, driving over three runs and scoring two himself to easily take stick honors for the day. Judge, with two singles, and Lazzeri and Dickey were the only others able to hit safely more than once, the Yankee catcher getting a single in addition to his round-tripper.

Ruth Misses Homer By a Foot.

Ruth and Gehrig, of whom the fans seem to expect homers every time they come to the plate, failed to do their stuff in this respect, although the Babe missed getting one by a matter of only a foot or so in the seventh which would have knotted the count, the drive going for a triple. Gehrig had to be satisfied with a single and a walk.

Several brilliant fielding efforts were shown. In addition to starting his timely double-play with a nifty one-hand grab in the seventh, Bluege made another fine play in the third, while Sam Rice raced almost to the fence in the eighth to take Lazzeri's opening drive with his gloved hand. Durst and Combs made sensational catches for the Yankees, the former robbing Marberry of an extra-baser in the fourth and Combs ruining the day for Rice in the seventh.

Manager Bob Shawkey used five pinch-hitters during the afternoon and two delivered, but the other three looked like just plain batters to Braxton.

357 GOLFERS OPEN PLAY TODAY

Record-Setting Feild in Washington Club Tournament.

WITH an entry list aggregating 327 names, the largest in the history of the club, the annual spring invitation tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club will begin this morning with the first pair of contestants, Major H. Robb, Manor, and C. E. Heath, Bannockburn, teeing off at 7 o'clock. At intervals of five minutes until 3:15 o'clock this afternoon there will be a steady procession of golfers starting from the first tee in an endeavor to qualify in a round of eighteen holes.

The remaining section of the field is scheduled to start at the same hour tomorrow morning and the last pair will tee off at 2:50 o'clock in the afternoon.

Nearly 200 golfers played practice rounds on the course yesterday, although many of the leading golfers who have entered were conspicuous by their absence. Frank K. Roesch, of the home club, who won the tournament last year; Maurice J. McCarthy, former intercollegiate champion and winner of the Washington tournament two years ago, and Miller B. Stevinson, present District amateur champion, were among those who did not play the course yesterday, but they are all thoroughly familiar with the layout.

Pitt Shoots Practice Round of 75.

The best medal score reported yesterday was turned in by Harry G. Pitt, of the Manor Club and former Middle Atlantic champion, who negotiated the eighteen holes with a card of 38—37—75. Page Hufty, former winner of the Pinehurst, North and South amateur championship and former champion of the Congressional Country Club, had a card of 39—40—79, while J. B. Murphy, of the Columbia Club, made the circuit in 77 strokes.

J. B. Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., a frequent participant in national amateur championships, also had a 77, but will not compete in the tournament. C. B. Murphy, the present champion of the Congressional Club, started well, but as he had two pick-ups in his round, did not keep his score.

Martin F. McCarthy, who was runner-up last year in the Beaver Dam Club championship, played in a foursome but did not keep his card.

Good Golfers Drawn for Play Tomorrow.

Today's field includes Albert R. Mackenzie, of the Columbia Club, former Middle Atlantic champion, while tomorrow there will be strong competition for the qualification medal between Stevinson, McCarthy, Maj. Naiden, former champion of the Army; Pitt, Commander Popham, U. S. N.; Ross Puett, Country Club of Virginia, and many others. All of the players yesterday were hoping that today would be free from rain and that a disturbing wind which yesterday interfered with low scoring would not be sweeping across the course today.

Schaaf Gets Decision Over Tommy Loughran

Philadelphia, April 28 (A.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, Boston sailor boy, won the judges' decision over Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, former light heavyweight champion, in a slashing 10-round bout at the arena tonight. Schaaf weighed 200 pounds, Lougtran 189.

Gillespie, V. P. I. Cub Hurler, in No-Hit Fray

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., April 28.—Perk Gillespie, V. P. I. freshman hurler, pitched a no-hit, no-run seven-inning game against Wytheville High School Nine to lead the way to a 7-to-0 win in Miles Stadium today. Mixing dazzling speed with a fast-breaking curve, the former Rocky Mount High School star fanned 11 straight and set 15 of the 22 men who faced him down on strikes. Two visitors reached first on errors and none was walked.

The freshmen scored one run in the first, second and third innings with timely hits. Penn drove the ball to the left field stands for a home run with two on in the sixth.

G. U. Golf Team Plays Two Matches Saturday

Georgetown University's Golf Team, headed by Maurice McCarthy, one of the Nation's leading amateurs, will commence its 1930 Eastern intercollegiate league campaign on Saturday, when it plays two matches. The first will be with Pennsylvania in Philadelphia in the morning and the second with Princeton at Princeton, N. J., in the afternoon.

Following is the schedule:

May 3—Penn at Philadelphia, a. m.
May 3—Princeton at Philadelphia, p. m.
May 9—Holy Cross at New Haven.
May 10—Harvard at New Haven.
May 15—Dartmouth at Rye, N. Y.
May 16—Brown at Rye, N. Y.
May 17—Williams at Rye, N. Y., a. m.
May 17—Yale at Rye, N. Y., p. m.

GEORGIAN WHIRLWINDS WIN.

The Georgian Whirlwinds defeated the Evergreen A. C., 11 to 10 yesterday, home runs by Jeweler and Ginberg featuring. The winners will play the Regis A. C. Senators on Sunday.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS PLAYS.

The Columbia Heights Business Men's Baseball Team will play the Walter Reed Hospital Nine this afternoon at 5 o'clock on the hospital diamond. All Columbia Heights players are to report promptly at 5 o'clock. The Heights Team is seeking a game for Sunday. Teams interested should call Manager Pratt at North 4400.

FIREMEN TO DRILL.

The Jefferson District Fire Department Baseball Players will drill tomorrow on the Virginia Highlands Diamond ta 5:30 o'clock. Players will report at the home of Manager A. G. Henry Sunday at 1 o'clock before the opening Capital City League game with the Ballston A. C.

IN NEED OF PLAYERS.

The Cherrydale Unlimited Nine is being reorganized for the Capital City League, Virginia section, championship series. A number of last year's players have been lost to the team, and Manaer Burch is seeking candidates to fill the vacant positions. Candates should communicate with him at Cherrydale.

SEEK SUNDAY GAME.

The Virginia White Sox are seeking an opponent for Sunday. Telephone Manager George Harrison at Clarendon 498.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 28.—Episcopal High School Baseball Team will meet another Washington high school nine tomorrow afternoon when they play the Central High School Nine on Hoxton field, beginning at 3:30 o'clock. Coach Callaway's boys, after dropping a close contest to Fishburne Military Academy last Saturday, will try to get back into the win column tomorrow afternoon.

The boys started off at a fast pace, but have not seemed to go so well against their State rivals, losing both games played in the State prep school circle. Either Tilton or Cleveland will take the mound tomorrow, while Carter will take care of the receiving end.

Manager Corbett has arranged to bring another one of Washington's leading sandlot teams to this city Sunday afternoon when they will cross bats with the Howard French A. C. on Baggetts field. The Celtics seem to be getting back into form after yesterday's game, which was the first game that the locals have won out of their first three starts.

Episcopal High School Relay Team, who was entered in the Penn relays last Saturday, made a very good showing against some of the country's best prep school teams. The local team finished in third place. The team was composed of M. Cary Mitchell, Dudley and Antrim. Coach Tompkins stated that he will enter his team in the University of Maryland and Virginia meets this season.

Along with turning out one of the best football teams that has ever represented Washington and Lee High School at Ballston, Va., Coach Carter Diffey has rounded together one of the

How to Keep Well

TAKING TONICS BY TUNS.

PLEASE write on tonics, writes W. Reply: Complying with your request is not a source of pleasure to the writer, or any one else. To write the truth necessitates saying things to which many will object. The taking of tonics is a source of great harm to society in the aggregate. We take ten times as much medicine as we need and tonics lead the list. We are harmed by these medicines to some extent. We are benefited less. On them we waste millions of dollars. We put our trust in what comes out of the bottle rather than in the faith in which we take it, or in the curative power of nature.

We take medicine and let it go at that, failing to go to the bottom, the cause, the wrong habit or custom, or the bad environment, which must be changed sooner or later. We enslave ourselves to drugs, not only morphine, cocaine, alcohol and aspirin, but purgatives, headache remedies, rheumatism remedies, and all such. And the worst offender of these, in that it is the frequently and flippantly used, is the tonic.

Webster defines a tonic as an agent which tends to restore normal tone. Stedman says: "Restores enfeebled function and promotes vigor and a sense of well being," adding that we qualify tonics by the organs that are supposed to tone, such as liver tonics, digestive tonics. The Stedman definition is broad enough to cover the effects of a drink of whisky, and so many speak of it. Some day we may know what tone is, and then may come a later day when we will know how to retore it, but now, and through all the ages that man has been taking so-called tonics, he has been bowing down to a fetish.

As matters now stand, all we can say is that if the organs are normal and fed normal foods they will function normally. There may be, and probably is, such a thing as tone, but we do not know what it is nor how to promote it directly. We do build up the quality of the blood, let us say, a liver diet, and by straining the word somewhat, we may call that a tone treatment. At most, it is only indirect. We assume that the blood having been built up chemically it will work with the proper tone. The futility of taking 99 per cent of the so-called blood tonics will be discussed later.

The blood was purposely picked for this illustration because the case for so-called blood tonics is far better than that for stomach tonics, liver tonics, nerve tonics, and such.

It is safe to say that, except for the mental effects, the taking of tonics has no effect on tone.

MILK MIGHT BE CAUSE.

Mrs. S. E. writes: Will cream of very rich milk cause hives? I have been troubled with hives lately. At a former time citrus fruits were the cause, but I have omitted them from my diet for some months. Lately I went on a four-day milk diet, and on the fourth day I had a bad attack of hives, which have cleared up since not taking any milk.

REPLY.

Hives, nettlerash and cradle cap are caused by milk. Fat is sometimes the worst offending element in the compound. People taking an exclusive milk diet occasionally develop disorders which pass when the diet is changed. Some people do not tolerate butter or cream well. I expect you are right in your surmise.

STOCKS EXPERIENCE HEADLONG DECLINE

Index of 90 Issues Loses 5 Points in 4,852,190 Share Turnover.

RAIL LISTS QUITE HEAVY

New York, April 28 (A.P.)—The stock market began the new week with a headlong decline today, the most abrupt since late December.

The price index of 90 leading shares lost nearly 5 points, compared to a drop of 6½ on December 20. Selling was fairly orderly until the last hour, when more than 1,800,000 shares were traded. The day's total sales were comparatively moderate, however, aggregating 4,852,190 shares.

The fact that the end of April is now approaching, and business has failed to show the normal spring upswing, has caused considerable disappointment in speculative circles. While there is widespread conviction that fundamentals remain sound, and that normal conditions will be experienced before the end of the year, the opinion appears to be growing in speculative circles that the stock advance of March and early April was unjustifiably rapid.

Earnings Statements Unfavorable.

An accumulation of unfavorable first quarter earnings statements and the failure of week-end business reviews to display optimism over prospects for the near future finally tipped the scales decisively toward reaction, after the confusing backing and filling of prices during the major part of last week.

Publication of the survey of conditions by Chairman Barnes, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, while strengthening Wall street's confidence in gradual business improvement, failed to rekindle speculative enthusiasm. Extra dividends by Ingersoll Rand and General Refractories, report of record sales during Easter week by Woolworth, and rumors of a 5-for-1 splitup of Eastman Kodak, likewise fell flat as market influences.

Liquidation embraced practically all groups. A few of the oils and utilities were in demand for a time, such issues as Standards of New York and New Jersey and United Corporation selling up slightly to new 1930 peaks, but these shares turned downward before the close. Rails were particularly heavy, reflecting unfavorable March reports, the first 46 roads to publish net operating income reports for the month showing an aggregate decline of 39½ per cent from the like month of last year. Steels were depressed by rumors of reductions in steel prices.

J. I. Case Drops 18 Points.

Shares declining 5 to 10 points included Allied Chemical, American & Foreign Power, American Tobacco B, Atchison, Auburn, Consolidated Gas, Eastman Kodak, Houston Oil, Johns-Manville, Public Service of New Jersey, Union Pacific, Westinghouse Electric and Vanadium. J. I. Case dropped 18 points and Ingersoll Rand 12. U. S. Steel and General Electric lost 3 points, and Radio and American Telephone more than 4. Several of the copper, railroad, railroad equipment, motor and motor accessory shares reached new lows for the year.

Call money was a little firmer, holding at 4 per cent as banks called loans in preparation for the semiweekly Federal Reserve settlements and the month-end requirements. Bankers' acceptances, however, showed a little easier tone. Foreign exchanges were fairly steady, although sterling cables ruled 1-32 lower at $4.86¼.

In the commodities, grains rallied smartly, both corn and wheat futures closing about 1½ to 2 cents higher, reflecting a decrease in the visible supply of wheat and unfavorable weather.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 28 (A.P.).—Despite sharp setbacks at times on account of persistent liquidating sales of the May delivery, wheat prices today finished at decided gains. The liquidation of May contracts was much more general than has been the rule of late, but quick rallies were witnessed in the final transactions. Among the chief bullish factors was a 3,404,000 bushels decrease of the United States wheat visible supply, together with export purchasing of 1,000,000 bushels of North American wheat reported in addition to 3,000,000 bushels on Saturday.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at 1½ to 2½c a bushel net advance as compared with Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1½ to 2¼c oats ¾ to 1c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7c.

Helping to bring about last minute rallies in the wheat market today were late cable dispatches predicting more active foreign buying from this time on. Hurried Eastern orders to purchase accompanied these predictions. Earlier in the late trading, the market had fluctuated uncertainly, with setbacks outnumbering advances and with May liquidation an outstanding feature. Similar temporary weakness was witnessed at the start, but friends of higher prices had the upper hand most of the time afterward until the transient sinking spell which preceded the bulges at the finish.

Taking over of a substantial quantity of Omaha cash wheat by Government-sponsored agencies was of considerable assistance today in strengthening the wheat market taken as a whole except for initial declines that were associated with further rains over domestic wheat territory. It was also pointed out that North American exporters had disposed of 4,000,000 bushels of wheat last week, and that absorption of cash wheat by farm board allies in exchange for May contracts suggested that May delivery could now be taken care of without much difficulty. On this basis, some leading authorities contended that all bearish factors had virtually been discounted and any possible accidents must favor the bulls. It was also held to be significant that world shipments of wheat for the last week, 6,440,000 bushels were the smallest seen for years and that the amount of wheat on ocean passage is now only 35,104,000 bushels, compared with 58,696,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn after being sluggish all day advanced rapidly at the last with wheat. Sudden broadening out of commission house buying disclosed that the corn market as well as the wheat pit had become oversold. Oats changes in price were narrow throughout the day.

Provisions declined owing to scattered selling notwithstanding firmness of hog values.

LOW STOCK PRICES SEND BONDS DOWN

Telephone 4½s Slump 3 Points; Rail Inquiry Remains Steady.

INDUSTRIALS ARE MIXED

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—The bond market was soggy today. Heaviness of the convertibles in sympathy with declining stock prices and the absence of any appreciable demand for investment securities of more conservative types combined to give the list an easier tone.

Money was plentiful, but with the month end so near at hand rates held firm. A few dealers reduced buying rates on bankers' acceptances.

The largest decline among the stock privilege bonds was in the American Telephone 4½s, off 3 points to 107½. Parmelee Transportation 6s and Pathe 7s, with warrants, lost points each; International Telephone 4½s sagged ¾ and Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s yielded half a point. General Theaters Equipment 6s were exceptions to the trend of this group, rising a point net. Lautaro Nitrate 6s and Reading Coal & Iron 6s dropped ¼ point.

Institutional inquiry for a few rails helped keep prices at the higher levels that developed late last week. Union Pacific Refunding 4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, New Haven 4½s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, Rock Island 4½s and Nickel Plate 4½s were the most popular carrier lines. Illinois Central 4s, New Haven debenture 4s of 1957, Southren Railway General 4s, St. Louis San Francisco 4½s, New York Central 5s and Chesapeake & Ohio general 4½s turned soft.

Utilities and industrials were mixed and generally lower. American Telephone collateral 5s dropped a point. Pressed Steel Car 5s went to a new low on a decline of nearly 4 points. American Smelting 5s sagged ⅞.

Changes in the United States Governments were mostly on the down side, but the group was very dull and the declines were minute. Foreign bonds tended to be irregularly lower, with considerable softness appearing in the German Republic 7s, which dipped below 108. French 7s also eased.

The American market's share of the San Paulo 20,000,000 pound international coffee loan is being offered tomorrow. The bonds, maturing in ten years, bear 7 per cent coupons, and are priced at 96. The total for this country is $5,000,000. Proceeds are to be used in gradually liquidating the accumulation of coffee in San Paulo and in marketing future crops.

DEPARTMENT STORE BUSINESS DECLINES

Sales for Fifth Reserve Concerns Show 15 Per Cent Drop.

NEW ISSUES OFFERED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Department store sales in the Fifth or local Federal Reserve District in March were 15 per cent behind those of March, 1929, the Federal Reserve Board announced, and sales in this district for the first quarter were 5 per cent under those of the corresponding period of last year.

Sales for the entire country were 13 per cent under those of March a year ago, and for the year to date were 8 per cent lower than for the comparative period of 1929. Reports were made by 652 stores in 273 cities.

Insurance companies and banks probably have the longest life and best sustained earning power of any American business, the statistical department of Insuranshares Corporation of Delaware points out in an analysis of 45 representative insurance companies and banks, made public yesterday.

In the 27 years to the end of 1929, these companies increased their capital at the annual rate of more than 22 per cent and their surplus, including contingent reserves, at the annual rate of more than 37 per cent. The oldest company on the list, Insurance Co. of North America, has been in operation 138 years and the whole 45 companies average 68 years in operation.

Branch Bank Is Opened.

Hundreds of visitors inspected the new Southwest branch of the McLachlen Banking Corporation at 310 Fourteenth street southwest, formally opened to the public yesterday. The interior was filled with floral gifts from other institutions, and President Lanier P. McLachlen and other officials of the corporation were present to receive the congratulations of patrons, fellow bankers and visitors.

Net railway operating income of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. for March was $2,764,755, a decrease of $1,418,229 from the month a year ago when it was $4,182,984. Net railway operating income for the first three months of the present year was $6,805,218, as compared with $9,221,571 for the corresponding period last year.

President Robert V. Fleming and Vice President A. M. Nevius, of Riggs National Bank; Vice President Wilmer J. Waller, of the Federal-American National Bank, and Deputy Comptroller of the Currency F. G. Awalt have left to attend the annual meeting of the Reserve City Bankers Association at Memphis, Tenn.

Lane Bryant Flotation.

A syndicate headed by Merrill, Lynch & Co., Kelley, Converse & Co., Inc., and E. A. Pierce & Co. will offer today a new issue of $2,000,000 Lane Bryant, Inc., ten-year 6 per cent sinking fund gold debentures, with common stock purchase warrants. Offering price is 100 and accrued interest, yielding 6 per cent. Each debenture will be accompanied by a detached second series warrant, representing the right to purchase on or before May 1, 1935, at $40 per share, ten shares of common stock for each $1,000 debenture and five shares for each $500 debenture.

The new plan for gradual liquidation of the large amount of accumulated coffee in the state of San Paulo, Brazil, and for currently marketing of future crops, is being financed today through the offering of $35,000,000 7 per cent secured sinking fund gold bonds by Speyer & Co., J. Henry Schroder Banking Corporation, the National City Co., Bancamerica-Blair Corporation, Dillon, Read & Co., Ludenburg, Thalmann & Co., Continental Illinois Co., Inc., E. H. Rollins & Sons, Blyth & Co., Inc., G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc.; Otis & Co. and Dominion Securities Corporation.

The bonds are the direct obligation of the State of San Paulo and the loan is known as the "Coffee Realization Loan of 1930." The bonds are offered at 96 and accrued interest, to yield 7.56 per cent per annum to final maturity on October 1, 1940.

Leviathan Life

Whenever I see a price list of passenger accommodations on the Leviathan I have a good laugh, remembering the free trip to Europe Uncle Sam gave me on that vessel back in 1918.

To be sure it was camouflaged or dazzle painted then; we weren't quartered in the room with doorknobs of solid gold which had been fitted up for the use of the kaiser if he should want to take a trip, and the "service" was hardly up to the present standard, but we didn't have it so bad, and only the chronic kickers lifted their voices.

Besides the crew of 2,000, the ship carried several thousand soldiers and 500 Navy men—of whom I was one—getting passage across on their way to their final destinations; some were scheduled for Queenstown, others for Brest, and a few each for Admiral Sims' headquarters in London, the North Bombing Squadron and the naval attache's office in Rome. Twenty-six of us were quartered in the crew's lounging room on B deck and we had it pretty nice. There was a victrola with a lot of late records, a player piano and card tables with free cards—furnished by the chaplain.

We had plenty of good, wholesome food, but when the lights went out in our quarters, which they did at dusk, as we were above the water line, we sometimes went down below to the galley, where hot coffee was always on tap and other things could be obtained if you used tact. One night I got a whole mince pie. It wasn't so much fun coming back through the intricate passageways and up deck after deck in the pitch blackness, and finding your bunk after putting your hands in half a dozen protesting faces.

It was a lively bunch, a good many of them previous service men and "hardboiled," who spent part of their time telling tales of the sea and the old Navy as it was before becoming contaminated by the presence of greenhorn reservists in for the war only. Sometimes we would go to bed as soon as the lights went out; sometimes it was down below to the galley or to the movies (they had Navy nights and troop nights alternately, except when we got into the actual war zone); sometimes there were fights with life preservers (which we used as pillows) in that crowded room, in the dark! Usually it would start between a couple of men; then a third party would get hit accidentally and start throwing, and before long everybody would be in it. Frequently early in the morning somebody would start the victrola or the player, and the sleepyheads would yell "pipe down"—without effect, of course.

Our deck was so high up that we had plenty of fresh air and none of us was seasick, but some of the soldiers quartered below the water line were pretty miserable for a while. Among them were some colored troops, and they say—I can't vouch for it—that one of them said, "Dey sho' is goin' to make a Frenchman out o' dis chile;" he wasn't going back on the water "no mo'" but would stay in France until they built a subway under the ocean. Another prayed to the Lord to send him just one little feather and he'd try to fly back to New York. We would have some of them come up and sing and dance for us occasionally in the mess hall, and throw coins to them like you throw dimes and pennies to the diving kanakas at Honolulu.

Those of us who played poker did not much else except eat and sleep, but we had abandon ship drill every day, and that wasn't so good when the weather was bad. When general quarters was sounded on the bugle everyone was supposed to go on the double-quick to his quarters and from there to his mustering station by a prescribed route, ready to proceed to a boats and rafts station if abandon ship was sounded. At first our mustering station was down on G deck forward, the same as the rest of the naval passengers or "supernumeraries," but the 26 of us who were quartered on B deck aft found it impossible to get through the troops on the intermediate decks, so they reassigned us to A deck aft, the top of the vessel, which was just up a hatchway, but a long way down to the water if we ever had to jump. Once I was caught below decks at "Quarters," without my lifebelt, too, contrary to regulations (they were dirty and cumbersome; couldn't be washed without losing their buoyancy), and was cut off from my station by the thousands of troops going upstairs on the double-quick. I just leaned against the rail and tried to look wise, as if I were one of the crew.

The drills usually were held about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and while we were never told whether it was a drill or not, we got to expecting it about that time. One rainy day two or three of us were hanging back on B deck, so as to be out the wet as long as possible, letting others go up first, when bang! went one of the ship's big guns, and then another. By that time we were scampering up the hatchway to see what was coming off. About ten shots were fired in all. We weren't advised whether they had sighted a periscope, were firing at a porpoise—many a poor fish was killed in the war because its head was mistaken for a periscope, and they had orders to fire at anything—or were just practicing. At any rate, nothing came of it; but it was a long time that day before they sounded "secure" on the bugle, and until they did we had to stand up there in the rain.

The Leviathan was one of the few transports that went over without convoy. They counted on her speed to get her through, and a convoy would only have slowed her up. A balloon went with us the first day out of New York, and we were supposed to pick up some British destroyers in the Irish Sea. We missed them on the next to the last day—were making 21 knots then—but the next morning when we got up there they were on each side of us, and by noon we were in the harbor at Liverpool, seven days almost to the minute out of Hoboken.

And then came the question, "Where do we go from here?"

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for reply.

Jenkins Television Corporation.

Mrs. B. C. H.—Please write me what you think of Jenkins Television Corporation.

Answer—Considering seemingly bright outlook for television, stock of the Jenkins Television Co. appears to possess a good deal of long-pull speculative attractiveness. However, it is not to be regarded as an investment in its present status, as it is not on a dividend paying basis.

Submarine Boat and Others.

E. R. G.—I am considering the purchase of Submarne Boat, Alaska Juneau and Kane Stores of New England. Before doing so, I would appreciate your information in regard to these three stocks.

Answer—If you buy any of these stocks, it will not be on the advice or or recommendation of the writer of this column. Kane Stores of New England paid a 10 per cent stock dividend, payable in common stock, in 1929. However, neither that company nor either of the others is at present paying any cash dividends. They are, therefore, not to be regarded in the light of investments. They are pure speculations, and if you purchase them, you will be merely taking a gambling chance.

International T. & T. Co.

A. G.—I bought 200 rights of International Telephone & Telegraph at $2 per right. I have the right to subscribe to $25 shares at $50 a share before May 1. Do you advise me to subscribe or to sell my rights and take my profit?

Answer—This column never gives advice along such lines. It is purely a matter for you alone to determine. If you exercise your rights and purchase International Telephone & Telegraph new shares, you will be making an investment that is considered most advantageous.

Savage Arms, Congoleum Nairn.

C. B.—I am interested in two stocks, namely, Savage Arms and Congoleum Nairn. Any information regarding these as to future prospects for long-term holding will be appreciated. Is it true that Savage Arms is coming out with a new gun and that ammunition prices will be materially higher this fall than last year?

Answer—Earnings of Congoleum Nairn have not been satisfactory, and the common stock that issue lacks attraction from an investment viewpoint. It is purely speculative. Savage Arms, paying $2 annually, can now be bought at a price to yield to the investor approximately 6.7 per cent, a very substantial return. Have no knowledge as to ammunition prices in future. On March 29, 1930, reported company would introduce a new automatic shotgun similar in design to the Browning gun.

Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., has been elected to the directorate of the Manufacturers Trust Co.

W. D. Baldwin, chairman of the Otis Elevator Co., speaking at the annual meeting today, said that first quarter sales were somewhat higher than during the same quarter of 1929, but that it was still too early to predict how the year will turn out. Uncompleted business, totaling $50,000,000, was carried over from 1929. Stockholders approved the plan of the directors, making the noncumulative preferred stock cumulative.

The first 46 railroads to report March earnings had an aggregate net operating income of $43,518,000, compared with $72,021,000 in March, 1929, a decrease of 39.5 per cent. The February total of the same roads was $43,888,000.

The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad reported net operating income for March, 1930, was $1,845,596, compared to $1,749,036 in March, 1929. Total operating revenue for the month was $10,711,230, compared to $12,016,903 a year ago.

BANDITS THWARTED BY GAS STATION AID

Alexandrian Keeps Three Capital Youths From Stealing $100.

T. P. DOWNEY DIES AT 73

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The superior quality of nerve displayed by W. L. Ayers, attendant of the filling station operated by one of the big refining companies at Franklin and Patrick streets, late Sunday night prevented the holdup of the station by a trio of youthful bandits, described by Ayres as being between 18 and 20 years old. The youths would have secured approximately $100 if they had been successful.

Ayers was alone at the station when a small coupe bearing District of Columbia license tags drew up and the driver asked that a quart of oil be put in his motor. While Ayers was complying, with his back turned to the car, he was startled by the command, "Stand where you are, Buddy." Turning quickly, he looked into the muzzle of a small revolver, held by one of the boys. Ayers made a movement as if to draw a pistol from his hip pocket, and the would-be bandit lost his nerve and fled to the car. Another of the party, with his face covered by a handkerchief, had started toward the office, but he, seeing his companion in flight, also ran for the car. The revolver, a .22-caliber weapon, was dropped by the bandit in his haste.

Ayers reported the occurrence to the police, and Privates Curtis and Bayliss responded and began a search of the roads leading into Fairfax County, while Sergt. Lawrence Padgett and Private Mullen took the Fort Humphreys road. No trace of the bandits was found, however.

Although filling-station holdups have been frequent in Washington and vicinity recently, this is the first in Alexandria in several years, the last being when Frederick Kaus, night manager of a North Washington street station, was held up and robbed of a considerable sum of money and a revolver.

The vigilance of W. L. Craven, watchman at the City Hall Building, prevented what would probably have been a disastrous fire early yesterday morning. Craver was making his rounds when he smelled smoke, and, on investigating, discovered that the wiring of several motors located under the Royal street entrance to the City Hall had become short-circuited and was burning. He rushed to police headquarters and turned in an alarm, and Engine Company, No. 1, responded and extinguished the fire with chemicals before any material damage had been done. Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., recommended to the city manager that the space occupied by these motors be fireproofed, which it is understood will be done at once.

This alarm of fire recalls the disastrous conflagration of the early '70's, which destroyed the City Hall, with many valuable records, and also the lodgeroom of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons, located on the second floor, together with many priceless relics of Washington, the first master of the lodge. Some of the paintings and other articles now in the lodge still show signs of the fire.

A mobilization meeting of the sales organization of the Chamber of Commerce forward movement campaign to raise $25,000 annually for three years will be held in the Young Peoples Building of the Southern Methodist Church on South Washington street at 7:30 o'clock tonight, when prospect cards will be distributed and final instructions given to workers. The campaign will start on Wednesday morning and will be concluded Thursday night.

A brief was filed yesterday with the State Corporation Commission in Richmond by Attorney Harry F. Kennedy, in behalf of the Alexander Commuters Association, protesting against the proposed increase in passenger fares between Alexandria, Washington and intermediate points by Robert L. May, owner of the A. B. & A. bus line and the Washington-Virginia Railway. The commuters were heard in Richmond by the corporation commission last Tuesday and were given until yesterday to file a brief. Briefs were also filed by Gardner L. Boothe, attorney for the May interests, and Carl Budwesky, city attorney for Alexandria, the latter protesting against the raise proposed.

Thomas P. Downey, 73 years old, a widely known resident and retired Government employe, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert G. Schlag, 223 South Pitt street, with whom he resided. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of his death.

Mr. Downey was serving his twenty-eighth consecutive term as tiler of Alexandria Lodge, No. 758, P. B. O. Elks, having been elected to that office when the lodge was organized, which lodge held a lodge of sorrow in his honor last night.

For more than 25 years Mr. Downey was employed in a civilian capacity in the quartermaster's department, first at the old St. Asaph depot, being transferred to Fort Myer when the St. Asaph depot was abolished, and placed in charge of supplies at that post. In addition to his daughter, Mrs. Schlag, he is survived by a son, Charles F. Downey; three brothers and two sisters, Lawrence A. Downey and William A. Downey, of Washington; Edward A. Downey, of Alexandria; Mrs. Mary A. Sweeney and Mrs. Susan L. Pullman, of Alexandria. Besides being a member of the Elks, he also belonged to the Knights of Columbus, the Holy Name Society and the Eagles. He attended a meeting of the Holy Name Society Sunday afternoon, but was obliged to leave before the close of the meeting, owing to his physical condition.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Mary L. Parrish, 80 years old, widow of James Parrish, died on Sunday in the Alexandria Hospital, and the body was taken to her late home at 1906 Russell road. She is survived by two children, Miss Jeanette I. Parrish and Henry N. Parrish.

Miss Mary Alice Smith, aged 65 years, daughter of the late Thomas William and Ellen Wattles Smith, of this city, died on Sunday at her home in Baltimore, and the burial will be at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Mount Vernon Council, No. 1, Daughters of America, will entertain the district councils of northern Virginia this evening at Eagles Hall, 413 King street, when visitors will be present from Clarendon, Vienna, Ballston, Cherrydale, McLean and other sections of Fairfax and Arlington Counties.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was bustling around the living room, mumbling under her breath, deploring the loss of Alonia Alice Roosevelt Jones, her departed maid—gone but not forgotten.

"If it isn't one thing it's another," mused Luella, flourishing a feather duster.

How quaint—and if it isn't another thing it'll be something else again. Life is like that.

"You'll have to be careful about throwing the papers around," she warned me, smothered in dust.

"What papers?"

"The newspapers."

"Where do I usually throw 'em?"

* * * *

"ON the floor," she snapped. "but those days are over! From now on, if I've got to take care of this place you've got to cut out all these little luxuries——"

"Luxuries? Such as——?"

"Throwing papers on the floor, dropping ashes on the rugs, leaving your topcoat on the davenport, your hat on the radiator and——"

"And what else?"

"And coming down late to breakfast. In the future you'll have to get up and help me——"

It struck me this was carrying reform too far—and I told her so. She launched into a long tirade against maids and men—the deserters, as she called 'em.

"But, Luella, have a heart. The world hasn't come to an end just because you lost a maid——"

"The world hasn't come to an end, but your days of indolence have," she snapped. "From now on you'll help do some of the work around here—some of the maid's work!"

* * * *

"REALLY, this is carrying a joke too far," I remarked.

"It isn't a joke, losing a maid. If you had to be around here all day, instead of down in your office, fally-gagging, attending fake conferences, you'd know what I mean."

I sought to pacify her. "I know what you mean, Luella. They say 'a woman's work is never done,' that 'a man's work is from sun to sun'——"

"A man's work?" she sneered.

"Yes, a man's work!"

"You call sitting in an office a man's work?"

"Well, it isn't all sitting in an office."

"Oh, no! There are the luncheons."

"The luncheons?"

"Those three-hour luncheon clubs you belong to—the Billy Goats and the Kangaroos, and the Rhinos. That must be hard work!"

"It is rather hard, on the digestion," I agreed, "but, then, business is business."

"And so is this business," she cried, "the business of homemaking. In carrying on the business, I've got to have help—and competent help."

"Then that let's me out," I argued. "From what you've just said I'm incompetent."

She handed me a broom.

"You may be incompetent," she smiled, "but you're strong—and I've trained dumber help than you."

What a woman.

FIREMEN TO DIRECT SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Fairfax Association Plans Drive Against Likely Fire Hazards.

SCHOOL DRILLS SOUGHT

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 919-J-1.

The Fairfax County Firemens Association is planning to make a drive against fire traps and fire hazards existing in buildings in the county.

It will start on those that are used as public meeting houses, lodge halls and school houses especially. The chiefs will be instructed to make regular inspection of all such places and notify the owners of existing fire hazards and assist them, if possible, by suggesting means of eliminating the danger.

The owners of the larger buildings will be urged to have fire escapes installed and kept in good repair. The chiefs of the volunteer companies in the county met recently at McLean and stated that they were more anxious to stop fires before they started than to fight them afterwards. The departments are offering this inspection service free to the county and are asking the citizens' cooperation in the work. They state that if persons do not cooperate they plan to see if legal action can be had against those who wilfully endanger their own and others' property by maintaining a dangerous fire hazard.

To Fight School Hazards.

They also plan a vigorous campaign against the fire hazards in the public and private schools in the county. Chief E. N. Ward, of the Falls Church department, states that the schools in Fairfax County are in a deplorable condition as to fire protection and risks. Most of them are not safe for children to attend, he said, declaring these conditions have been brought to the attention of the school authorities on several occasions before and still nothing has been done to remedy them. It has been suggested that all school buildings be equipped with approved fire extinguishers, but the county officials have not attempted to do this as yet.

"We have even volunteered to keep them filled and ready for instant use and to make a regular inspection," Chief Ward said, "but still they will not install them. The only schools that have extinguishers are the ones that the McLean department placed in them and keep in condition.

Chief Ward named several of the schools where oil mops and rags are thrown into out-of-the-way corners and left, paper, wood and old broken furniture are piled near the furnaces in the basements, exposed pipes to the chimney running near the wooden floors, partitions and wooden stairways. The small schools are heated by large stoves near the center of the rooms with stovepipes swinging across the room to a chimney that no person would have in their own home, he said, because their insurance policies would be canceled at once. Many of these stoves are held together with baling wire.

Chief Beattie's Stand.

Chief J. H. Beattie of the McLean department, stated that, "I can not understand why persons will send their children into such buildings without kicking against the unsafe conditions, and I further believe that if the insurance companies who have policies on these school buildings knew the true conditions as we do, 90 per cent of the policies would be canceled immediately."

Fire drills in the schools are another thing the association will insist upon, it is stated.

Allan H. Williams, chief of the Fairfax department and the fire marshal of the county association, stated that in the near future he plans to visit the various schools from time to time for an inspection and at the same time he will request the teachers to hold a fire drill while he is there.

Chief Beattie, who is also the president of the County Firemen's Association, stated, "When the last legislature passed the compulsory fire drill law for the schools in this State, we hoped that the county school board would order the teachers to start them immediately, but we were informed that Superintendent of Schools W. T. Woodson said that the schools would not be affected this year as the law would not be effective until after 90 days after it was approved, so they would not start this term. If this statement is true, we are sadly disappointed that the school board does not take more interest in the safety of the school children than that as the children are the county's most sacred wards and we can not tell what would happen if a serious fire broke out in one of the schools of the county today; no one really knows when it might happen so we ought to be prepared."

The Fairfax Loudoun Epworth League Union at its annual meeting at Andrew Chapel elected Miss Virginia Lang, president; William Myers, of Ryon, vice president; Virginia Presgraves, of Pleasant Valley, secretary, and Clyde Keyes, of Sterling, treasurer. These officers will be installed at the meeting at Pleasant Valley on June 20 when the new president will name the superintendents of the departments.

The drill team of the Vienna Council, Order of Fraternal Americans, will visit the council at Quicksburg, Va., tonight to assist them in the initiation of candidates.

The annual election of the Ladies' Guild of St. John's Church at McLean will be held today. A committee composed of Mrs. T. N. Corner, Mrs. C. C. Grimes, Mrs. Alfred Rawlings and Miss May Walters has been appointed as nominating committee to suggest the officers.

A mass meeting of the citizens of the vicinity of Merrifield has been called for tonight by the Merrifield Improvement Association. The meeting will be held in the community house at Merrifield to discuss the formation of a volunteer fire department and the best methods for securing fire protection. The association's special fire prevention committee, composed of Isaac Vincent, chairman; George Kayser, Robert Larrick and J. A. Boyce will be in charge of the meeting. This committee will recommend the purchase of a chemical outfit on an automobile chassis and the installation of a fire siren near the center of the village. J. H. Beattie, chief of the McLean Department, and R. E. Kendrick, president of the Falls Church Department, also president and secretary, respectively, of the Fairfax County Firemen's Association, have been invited to attend and explain the methods of organization and means of financing such a project to the meeting.

The degree team of the Pioneer Grange at Masonville will meet tonight to practice for the degree work they will put on May 6. They will also decide whether they will accept the invitation to join with the Floris and Centerville Granges in a class initiation at Floris, to be in charge of the Brandywine Grange degree team.

The sheriff's office and the traffic policemen of Fairfax County were kept busy answering calls and directing traffic over the week-end. Several persons were arrested and several accidents were reported.

Ottis Schaeffer, of the 800 block of G street northwest, Washington, was arrested at Gillespies corner in the town of Fairfax for driving while drunk. The arrest was a result of a collision between the Schaeffer car and one driven by Mathew Myer, also of Washington. Schaeffer was taken before Justice of the Peace Thomas P. Chapman at Fairfax by Traffic Policemen C. R. McIntosh and L. L. Finks, where he was held for action of the grand jury at the May term of court.

Gregg Taylor, 20, and Leon Jackson, 30, both colored, of Vienna, were arrested by Town Sergt. W. E. Thompson, of Vienna, on a charge of stealing chickens. They were held for the action of the grand jury by Justice of the Peace John T. Moling, at Falls Church. Roy Harris, 21, of Bull Run, was arrested at Legato for driving while drunk. He was also held for the grand jury.

Leon Boone, colored, of Harrisonburg, was arrested by Sheriff E. P. Kirby on a charge of discharging a revolver in a public place. It was stated by the sheriff that Boone had shot through the window lights and shot several holes in the floor and ceiling of the Cub Run School during a dance there Saturday night. He was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to serve 75 days in jail on the charge following a hearing before Justice of the Peace R. D. Wharton, of Centerville.

Persons arrested by Traffic Policeman A. W. Mills and taken before Justice of the Peace Harry Shephard at Accotink for reckless driving were B. E. Williams, of Baltimore, fined $5 and costs; Hugh Mullen, of Clarendon, Va., and W. J. Finnigan, of California, both fined $10 and costs. C. B. Strathy, Mrs. Strathy and Gladys Atkins, of Richmond, were injured in an automobile accident on the Washington-Richmond highway at Ingleside, when the Strathy car turned over after a collision with a car of George Jacobs. It was stated that Jacobs attempted to turn from the highway into his driveway when the Strathy car struck his car on the side. Jacobs escaped injury. The occupants of the Strathy car were taken to the Alexandria Hospital and treated for their injuries.

William Holmes Teas Dies in Anne Arundel

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 28.—After a week's illness from pneumonia, William Holmes Teas, prominent tanning extract and paper board expert, with various plants in the South, died today at his home, Sharpspoint, on the White Hall River. He was 54 years old.

Funeral services will be held here on Wednesday after which the body will be removed to Philadelphia for burial in the West Laurel Hill Cemetery, where the family lot is located. Surviving are his widow, Martha H. and three sons, John H. and William T., of Nashville, Tenn., and Holmes, at home. Two brothers, R. T. Teas, of Chicago, and L. T. Teas, of Houston, Tex., also survive.

$772,187 PROPOSED AS TOTAL OF BUDGET

Arlington County Chiefs to Consider Schedules for Fiscal Year Today.

NEW JUDGE TO QUALIFY

ARLINGTON COUNTY,
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Operations of Arlington County during the fiscal year beginning July 1, with no increase in the tax rate over last year, will require expenditures of $772,187.43, according to the budget which has been prepared and will be submitted to the county board of supervisors, for adoption today.

Principal expenditures will be for schools and roads. The former will need $311,000, according to the estimates, and $252,000 of this sum is figured as the county's share. Roads will require $223,687, of which the budget estimates the county's share to be $153,687.43.

The budget carries the following items: Total estimated compensation paid from county's funds to board of supervisors, county clerk, sheriff, Commonwealth's attorney, treasurer, commissioner of revenue, including deputies of such officers, and all other expenses of administration, $57,000; judiciary, including salaries, circuit judge, judge juvenile and domestic relations court, trial judge, jury commissioners, jurors and coroner, $4,500; public buildings, including janitors, salary, repairs, lights, insurance and incidental expenses, $8,500; elections, $1,500; support of the poor, $6,500; health department, $12,400; scavenger department, $25,000; education, including salary of county superintendent, teachers, interest on school debt curtailment of debt and other administrative expenses, from county levies, $252,000; from State, $50,000; from capitation tax, $5,400; from dog tax, $3,000; making a total of $311,000 for schools; roads, including salary of directing engineer, county superintendent of roads, road foreman, field force, clerical and office supplies, road lights and all other incidental and administrative expenses from local levies, $153,687.43; from gasoline and bus taxes, $70,000, making a total of $223,687.43.

Other expenses: Fire protection, $24,000; sidewalks, $12,000; contingent fund, including all other expenses not set out including appropriations to be hereafter made by the board, totals $86,100.

The estimated revenue is: From local levies, $607,687.43; returns from State in gasoline and bus taxes, $70,000; return from State for capitation taxes, $5,400; dog taxes returned from the State $3,600; returns from excess fees, $8,000; returns from the scavenger service, $23,000; from the State for schools, $50,000; from local fines, $2,500; from miscellaneous sources, $2,000; making a grand total of $772,187.43.

The levies in the three districts will be the same with the exception of Washington district, the rate being $2.65, which provides 15 cents for the district road bond issue. In Jefferson and Arlington districts the rate will be the same as last year, $2.50 on the $100 assessed valuation.

Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the board, holding its regular monthly meeting, will consider data from the county engineer's office pertaining to the proposed bond issue for the installation of a county-wide trunk line system.

According to County Engineer C. L. Kinnier it is expected that the board will at this meeting adopt a resolution asking the judge of the circuit court to set a date for the holding of a special election.

The tentative figures which have been given out for the bond issue are $2,000,000.

It is learned that the court will be asked to designate the same day for election on the $640,000 school bond issue or on the sewer bonds.

The voters of the county will probably vote on each issue separately.

Walter T. McCarthy, 32 years old, of Cherrydale, who last week was appointed judge of the circuit court of the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit of Virginia, which comprises the counties of Arlington, Fairfax and Prince William and the City of Alexandria, will qualify today at 9 o'clock before County Clerk William H. Duncan.

At 10 o'clock Judge McCarthy will preside in the circuit court of Arlington County.

It is understood that State Senator Frank L. Ball will be the first local attorney to appear in court before Judge McCarthy.

Carmen Billington was judged the winner in the sixth silver medal oratorical contest held last night in the Clarendon Methodist Church under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Clarendon. Her subject was "One Standard for Both Sexes." Lorraine Jile won second prize, her subject being "The American Flag."

The judges were Mrs. M. A. Cardwell, Mrs. Meryon McKnight, and Mrs. J. C. Boss.

The monthly meeting of the union will be held tonight in the Clarendon Baptist Church. Child welfare and health will be the principal topics of discussion. Mrs. Lotta Roche, of Washington, is announced as the principal speaker.

Mrs. Ida Fiske will read a paper entitled "The Unanswerable Question," and Mrs. T. C. Manning will read a paper entitled "The Opportunities of the Child."

Among the invited guests will be Mrs. Mae Jacobs, superintendent of Public Welfare in Arlington County; Mrs. Ruth Brown, Mrs. R. N. Davies and Mrs. M. A. Rudisall, county nurses.

There will be a special meeting of the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association of the James Monroe School in the school auditorium Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The meeting has been called, according to the announcement by Mrs. John W. Walcott, president, for the purpose of studying ways and means for the establishing and equipping a playground on the school grounds.

Friday afternoon there will be a benefit bake sale at the schoolhouse.

Fire of unknown origin threatened the store of J. F. Gentry, located adjacent to the Washington-Lee High School, yesterday morning.

Smoke was seen coming from the front of the store. The stock in the store was removed and with the arrival of firemen from Ballston, Clarendon and Cherrydale, the fire was soon under control, with only slight damage.

Charged with violation of the county parking ordinance, P. Dixon forfeited $15 in Police Court yesterday.

The executive committee of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will meet in the board rooms in the Rees Building at Clarendon Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

The meeting has been called for the purpose of completing plans for the quarterly meeting, which is to be held Thursday night, May 15, at 8 o'clock.

The Margaret King Circle of St. George's Episcopal Church will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. S. T. Ashton.

Academy Greets Board of Visitors

Midshipmen Stage Parade Honoring Officials There for Inspection.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 28.—The entire regiment of midshipmen marched in full dress parade this afternoon in honor of the board of visitors of the Academy, which convened here today for annual inspection.

At 11 o'clock this morning the members were met at the Officers Club by Admiral Samuel S. Robison, who gave a talk on the needs of the Naval Academy. They were then escorted on an inspection of Bancroft Hall, the middies domitory. At 5:30 an official reception was held at the superintendent's quarters when the board was introduced to the station personnel.

Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo (retired) was named president of the board. He was one of the presidential appointees while commander. William N. Richardson was previously assigned as secretary of the board.

HAGERSTOWN HOST TO ROTARY SESSION

Governor of Thirty-Fourth District Will Be Elected Today.

1,000 ATTEND MEETING

Hagerstown, Md., April 28.—The Thirty-fourth District, Rotary International, opened its annual convention here today, with about 1,000 Rotarians and their wives from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia in attendance.

Two names were placed in nomination for district governor, the election of whom will be held tomorrow. They were Arthur Winters, Altoona, Pa., and Wellington Todd, Crisfield, Md. Whoever is elected will succeed Ignatius Jorlee, Frederick, Md., present district governor, and will take office July 1 with the approval of the election by the International Rotary at its Chicago convention. No city as yet has extended an invitation for next year's convention.

This morning's session was presided over by Thomas L. Smith, president of the Post Club, and besides the address of District Gov. B. Jorlee, the principal speaker was Dan O'Hern, director of Rotary International, whose subject was "Twenty-five Years of Rotary." He told of the first group of men in Chicago in 1905 and of the present membership of 143,000 in 62 countries.

International Rotary, he explained, is at present concerned with keeping the Rotary clubs in the other countries from dabbling into politics, many of them having taken a stand against the present United States tariff, which the American Rotary clubs are ignoring.

ALLEGED RUM AUTO RUNS DOWN WOMAN

Maryland Policeman Jails Virginian Following Spirited Pursuit.

VICTIM SERIOUSLY HURT

When State Policeman C. W. Cubbage took Joe S. Moss, Glenallen, Va., to the Bladensburg Jail after arresting him on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and reckless driving, he found the whole Prince Georges County police force looking for the man.

A short time before his arrest, Moss is alleged to have been the driver of the car which struck and seriously injured Mrs. Julia Schultz, 35 years old, of Colmar Manor, on the Baltimore pike near her home. Moss is alleged to have stopped and given his name and then to have sped off in his car toward Baltimore. Mrs. Schultz was taken to Casualty Hospital by the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad and is believed to have a fractured pelvis and internal injuries.

Officer Cubbage was riding along the pike near Riverdale when he saw an auto weaving in and out of traffic and which forced several cars from the road. He gave chase and after an exciting run through the College Park airport and the town of College Park, the car was halted by a truck which drove in front of it. The two men in the car jumped
